U.S. Fights U.N. Bids Of Albania And Mongolia

COUNCIL ADJOURNS WITHOUT DECISION

Soviet Forces U. S. To Withdraw Plan For Blanket Approval

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The United States stood firm tonight in the United Nations Security Council against admitting Russian-sponsored Albania and Outer Mongolia to the United Nations and the council adjourned until tomorrow without reaching a decision on any of the eight applications before it.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate and council president, warned the delegates to be prepared for three sessions tomorrow, for the council must conclude its consideration of the applications by tomorrow night in order to submit them to all the United Nations before the General Assembly meets next month. The first session will begin at 10:30 a. m. EDT.

The United States virtually vetoed the admission of Albania and Outer Mongolia after strong Russian opposition forced withdrawal of a United States plan proposing acceptance of all eight applications.

No Vote On Johnson's Motion

Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, proposed that the council postpone consideration of the applications of Outer Mongolia and Albania until a later date. Johnson said that if a vote was insisted upon at this time, he would be forced to oppose their applications, since the United States is one of the five powers holding the veto right.

The council did not vote on Johnson's motion but instead began consideration of Albania. Representatives of Greece, against Albania, and Yugoslavia, favoring Albania, were invited to the table.

Vassili Dendramis, speaking for Greece, delivered a long and detailed indictment of Albania to the council, asking it to postpone a decision on that application.

After his talk, Lange adjourned the session, with the Yugoslav representative scheduled to speak first tomorrow.

Johnson proposed this morning before a chamber packed with Long Island socialites and United Nations followers that the council recommend to the General Assembly next month the approval of applications from Albania, the Mongolian People's Republic, Afghanistan, Transjordan, Ireland, Portugal, Iceland and Sweden.

He was seconded by Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, opened the afternoon session of the council in its new interim headquarters in a former war factory with the statement that "I cannot agree on the United States proposal for the wholesale acceptance of the applications."

Johnson Withdraws Proposal

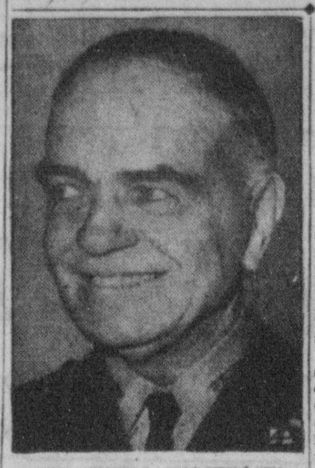

Gromyko said Russia preferred to deal individually with the would-be United Nations members, some of which the Soviet opposes.

Australia also opposed the United States plan, but on the question of procedure. Australia's Paul Hasluck has contended throughout discussions of the applications by a membership committee of the council that the proper course was for the General Assembly to consider the applications first and ask the council for recommendations.

Halsey Answers Russian Criticism With "We Will Go Anywhere We Please"

ADM. "BULL" HALSEY—"It's nobody's damn business where we go."

"Elder Statesman" Rejects Soviet Blast At Fleet Display

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—(AP)—Adm. William F. "Bull" Halsey, one of the top wartime commanders tabbed by President Truman for an "elder statesman's" role, delivered a blunt rejection today of Communist criticism of American naval dispositions in the Eastern Mediterranean.

"It's nobody's damn business where we go," he said. "We will go anywhere we please."

This terse restatement of America's traditional stand for freedom of the seas came at a news conference held by the five-star wartime commander of the Third Fleet, who returned recently from a good-will visit to South America.

A reporter referred to yesterday's announcement that the crack United States aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and escorting warships will visit Greek ports next week. He asked whether Halsey believes the United States should withdraw the warships from the Mediterranean in the face of charges that their presence constitutes a threat to other nations.

"No, I do not," asserted Halsey.

Full Pay In Retirement

Halsey and the other admirals and generals who held five-star rank during the war have been voted their full pay and allowances in retirement. Mr. Truman, commenting on the bill for this purpose, told a news conference that it would make them available to serve the nation in an advisory capacity as elder statesmen.

Halsey emphasized that he does not mean American ships should go uninvited into any country's territorial waters. He does mean, he said, that they should sail "in any free water anywhere in the world." He added that "sensible people" would not interpret a good-will cruise as anything else.

The announcement that the carrier and its escorts will call at Greek ports has been widely interpreted as a move in line with this country's stiffened attitude toward what it regards as Russian ambitions in that part of the world.

The reaction of the Moscow radio was that the presence of the warships in the Eastern Mediterranean is connected with this country's dispute with Yugoslavia.

The Communist newspaper in London, the Daily Worker, called it a "blatant example of gangster diplomacy" designed to influence the Paris peace conference.

The Yugoslavian incident appeared to be well on the way to its close, meanwhile, but the United States became involved in new difficulties with another Russian neighbor, Poland.

Poland Protests U. S. Note

The Polish Embassy and the State Department exchanged angry words in statements relating to the American note about Polish politics and elections delivered in Warsaw August 19.

The embassy protested the note—which listed what this country regards as essential to a free, Polish national election—as "infringement into Poland's sovereign rights and interference with her internal affairs."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, replied today that the United States had acknowledged that the note constitutes a departure from this country's traditional policy of non-intervention in another country's internal affairs. This was contained in the note itself.

However, White told reporters the United States was only fulfilling the responsibility which it assumed, along with Britain and Russia, under the provisions of the Yalta and Potsdam conferences, which under-

Squeeze Is Put On Army, Navy Use Of Lumber

Dealers Ordered To Hold 80 Per Cent Of Supplies For Vets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt tonight put the squeeze on Army and Navy use of lumber, and ordered lumber dealers to hold 80 per cent of their supplies for veterans' housing.

To boost lumber yard supplies, Wyatt directed that sawmills supply each dealer with at least one-third more housing lumber than he has previously been able to claim in competition with other customers of the mills.

"Drastic" Controls

To cap a series of new controls over building materials which he called "drastic," Wyatt directed that 100 per cent of all residential hardwood flooring and 85 per cent of all mill work—doors, window frames and the line—be reserved for builders holding the "HH" housing priority.

Civilian Production Administration John D. Small joined Wyatt in announcing the lumber actions.

The decision to crack down on the military use of lumber came out of an inter-agency conference today. The decisions were two-fold:

Will Review Military Priorities

First, effective at once, the military "MM" priorities used by the Army and Navy for construction of bases and barracks overseas will be "reviewed most carefully" by CPA to determine whether they can be postponed or the material procurement spread among several cities so as not to pre-empty the whole supply of any community.

Second, all military housing in this country will be similarly scrutinized and a rating no higher than the ordinary "HH" housing priority may be used. Heretofore, military housing in this country as well as abroad has carried the more potent "MM" priority.

Ship Driven Aground

LONDON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The 7,198-ton American freighter James H. Price was driven aground in Dover Strait tonight by a 66-mile an hour gale which lashed coastal shipping on all sides of Britain and sent all but the largest vessels into port. No casualties were reported aboard the vessel, which was refloated four hours later.

Plan To Limit Reparations Is Defeated, 15-2

Australian Proposal Voted Down; Big Four Ministers Meet Today

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — Australia's proposal to limit reparations levied on former enemy countries to their "reasonable capacity to pay" and delay action until a special commission made studies was voted down tonight in a peace conference commission after three days of arguments.

The United States, Britain and France lined up with Russia against the measure—beaten by a vote of 15 to 2, with three absentions—which climaxed long, angry debates climaxed by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's charge that Australia was acting "against the interests of the Soviet peoples."

Today a Soviet delegate asserted reparations were a "cornerstone" of peace treaties and that delays on this would mean "postponing the peace conference."

Ministers To Meet

Meanwhile, delegation spokesmen disclosed that the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers—summoned into session by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in an attempt to dig the conference out of dispute—would meet tomorrow afternoon.

Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault accepted Bevin's suggestion without condition, but Secretary of State Byrnes said he would attend only if procedural matters were not discussed because he would not consent to the council's limiting the freedom of action and sovereignty of the conference.

A Foreign Office spokesman in London said the four-power council "might deal with matters outside its primary purpose of facilitating the work of the peace conference," and diplomatic sources in the British capital said the Dardanelles question was "almost certainly" on the agenda.

The Australian defeat came when a vote was taken in the Italian Economic Commission on a move to insert her proposal for a reparations commission in the Italian treaty. Earlier in the day, Australia withdrew an identical amendment offered for inclusion in the Romania treaty.

"Tribute" To Russia

Andrei I. Vichinsky, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, said he would "admit Italy has changed camps" but "we can't forget that 300,000 Italian soldiers once occupied parts of our country and countless villages were razed."

"You shouldn't even question our reparations demands," he declared, addressing the Australian delegation. You should adopt them as a tribute" to the Soviet Union.

Vishinsky said the $100,000,000 Russia was asking from Italy was "only one-one hundredth of the damage inflicted on the Soviet by Fascism."

The United States paved the way for the break that ended the three-day dispute when it announced earlier in the day that it supported Russia's opposition to reopening the reparations agreements already reached by the Big Four.

Boy, 10, Missing 11 Days, Is Located

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. (AP)—Missing from home for 11 days, 10-year-old Brenton Marshall, Jr., was found by a policeman today, his nose pressed against a window pane, watching milk being pasteurized in a West 40th street dairy.

The boy, described as a "habitual runaway" by police, said he left home because his younger brother called him "dirty, mean names."

While away from home he slept on a porch of a house on University Parkway, lived on ice-cream sodas until his money ran out, then on bottles of milk he obtained from the dairy, and on cakes and soda pop. The dairy foreman, his suspicions aroused at seeing the boy around so often, telephoned police.

Youth, 13, Jailed In Friend's Death

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP) — Charles Hazlett, 13-year-old Pittsburgh boy charged with first degree murder in the New Year's Eve slaying of a playmate, was in jail today awaiting extradition.

The skeleton of his friend, Michael Gerrich, 12, was found yesterday in the cellar of a Pittsburgh house the Hazlett family formerly inhabited.

County Judge Hamilton Ward, Jr., refused to accept a waiver of extradition from the Hazlett boy, announcing at a hearing that he felt the defendant was "too young" to understand his legal rights.

Samuel Fleischman was assigned by the court to represent the boy's interests after the question had developed.

Assistant Detective Chief Frank Nowakowski quoted Hazlett as relating that he and "Mike" were playing "holdup man" in the kitchen when a .22 calibre rifle belonging to Hazlett's father went off "some way or another" and a bullet struck young Gerrich.

Nowakowski said the boy had told him that after Gerrich fell to the floor mumbling "something like I'm dying." Hazlett became "scared to death" and tried to hide the body by dragging it into the cellar and putting it under some crates and baskets.

Nowakowski quoted the boy as saying the incident "bothered me a lot when I went to bed at night, but I was scared and didn't know what to do about it."

Mystery Deepens

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. (AP)—Another parachute flare, apparently of the same type that has fallen at various intervals here during the last 18 months, dropped on the roof of a southeast Baltimore lumber concern today. Police said the flare burned itself out on the mill's roof without causing damage.

AFTER 25-CAR CRASH—Tow cars work to remove 25 autos involved in a mammoth crash at Berkeley, Calif., yesterday when smoke from a city dump suddenly obscured the six-lane high-speed East Shore highway. Seven persons were taken to hospitals for treatment. Four trucks and 12 automobiles were wrecked so badly they had to be towed away. Three new cars being delivered on a trailer were demolished. A taxicab was crushed under a truck.

U. S. Authorities Receive Bodies Of Five Airmen

Tito Assures Patterson No More Planes Will Be Shot Down

AIDUSSINA, ON THE MORGAN LINE, Aug. 28, (AP)—The flag-draped coffins of five American fliers shot down in Yugoslavia were delivered today by motor convoy, and then by stretcher bearers marching across the Morgan Line, to American authorities for the long journey home.

United States Ambassador Richard C. Patterson, who accompanied the bodies from Ljubljana, told newsmen that "Marshal Tito assured me personally and officially that there will not be any repetition of this event," and declared that despite the Yugoslav premier's explanations, "there can be no adequate satisfaction for the death of five Americans."

The men were killed when their C-47 transport was shot down in flames by Yugoslav fighters on August 19.

It was 2:30 p. m. when the motor convoy bearing the fliers' bodies pulled up to the Morgan Line—the boundary separating the Yugoslav-occupied and American-British-occupied areas of disputed Venezia Giulia Province.

Maj. Gen. Bryant W. Moore, commander of the United States 88th Division, met the cortege and thanked Capt. Ilya Mirkovic, liaison officer with the Yugoslav Fourth Army, for his part in the prompt return of the bodies.

Then another Yugoslav officer, Maj. Ilya Tojic, stepped forward and assured the American commander that such an incident would never happen again.

With these words said, the two Yugoslav officers and a small group of Yugoslav soldiers snapped to attention.

And then the five coffins, draped with American flags and covered with flowers, were transferred from a Yugoslav ambulance and carried by American stretcher bearers across the hundred yards separating the Yugoslav and American Morgan Line outposts.

Troops Present Arms

The five coffins were placed in five ambulances.

As the ambulances moved off toward Udine, Italy, under a military police escort, two platoons of United States 88th Division troops presented arms.

The bodies were carried to a Udine mortuary, and from there they will be flown to Rome. They will be taken to the United States for burial, but whether by ship or plane was not disclosed.

The bodies still were not all completely identified, but it was announced that one — that of Capt.

Youth, 16, Chokes Mad Dog To Death With Bare Hands

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 28. (AP)—The heroism of a 16-year-old boy who choked a mad dog to death with his bare hands came to light today with the completion of anti-hydrophobia treatments given several persons who had been in contact with the animal. The treatments were reported to be a success and all were out of danger of rabies infection.

James E. Briggs saw the dog, owned by his mother, throw a running fit, froth at the mouth and run under the Briggs house.

Deputy Game Warden Davis A. Robertson, Jr., was summoned but before he arrived young Briggs crawled under the house, dragged the dog into the yard and choked it to death.

Police Deny Plot To Kill Bevin Found

London Papers, In Paris Dispatches, Report 14 Jews Involved

PARIS, Thursday, Aug. 29, (AP) — French police and Scotland Yard security officers denied today that special measures were being taken to guard Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary.

They labelled as "a silly rumor" reports published in London newspapers that a plot by 14 Jews to kill Bevin had been discovered.

The usual security detail of one British detective and two French police officers was posted outside Bevin's quarters at the George V Hotel here. A Scotland Yard operative said only "normal" security measures were being taken.

Another British security officer said a "silly rumor that some attempt might be made against Mr. Bevin was floating around last week but was not taken seriously." He said he understood that French police had investigated the rumor but had heard of no further developments.

Both the Paris Prefecture of Police and the Surete Nationale (French Secret Police) also denied that there was any basis to the story of a plot against Bevin.

At the British Embassy the only employee on duty laughed off the report about Bevin and the stories printed in London that anonymous telephone callers had threatened to blow up the embassy.

London Reports

LONDON, Aug. 28, (AP) — London morning newspapers said tonight in Paris dispatches that French police were searching for 14 Jews who were "reported in Paris to have sworn 'to get' British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin."

The dispatches said the Jews were "thought to have been concerned in the King David Hotel bomb explosion" in Jerusalem July 22.

These accounts also said that the British embassy in Paris had received two anonymous telephone calls saying the building would be blown up. The persons who made the calls, the dispatches said, gave the messages in French.

Price-Hiking Order Catches OPA Unaware

Effective Date Of New Ceilings Is Postponed Until Sept. 1

ANDERSON EXERCISES HIS NEW AUTHORITY

Decontrol Board Says It Has Final Say-So On Dairy Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The OPA today got a mandate from the Agriculture Department for meat price ceilings above those of June 30, although below present prices, and a bald reminder from the Decontrol Board that no controls will be restored to dairy products unless the board says so.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson exercised the new powers which Congress gave him to order the meat ceilings set at a level which he said will prevent conditions threatening a shortage.

Agriculture Department and OPA experts estimated the retail prices in the butcher shops will be higher than the June 30 ceilings by five and one-half cents a pound on beef and two and one-half to three cents on pork, on the average.

As a result, the OPA postponed the effective date of the new livestock ceilings from midnight tonight until September 1. The dates previously announced for the ceilings at other levels, however, remain unchanged—September 5 for wholesalers and September 9 for retailers.

The Decontrol Board's statement on dairy prices follows a speech by Price Administrator Paul Porter in New York yesterday in which he said he "will insist" that milk and dairy products be restored to ceilings.

Thompson's Statement

Roy L. Thompson, chairman of the board, telephoned the statement from his home in New Orleans. It declared:

The statement said that "unless the board is fully satisfied that prices have risen unreasonably and that it will be in the public interest to do so, no price controls will be re-established on dairy products."

After Anderson's word on meat prices was handed down, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced that the livestock subsidies will be reinstated on cattle, calves and hogs slaughtered on and after September 1 on the same terms as those which lapsed June 30. The Decontrol Board had ordered these payments resumed on the same scale as the former subsidies, and Stabilization Director John R. Steelman had set September 1 as the date.

Directives from the Agriculture Department on farm commodity prices are binding upon the OPA, under the new law. The price administrator has ten days, however, to comply.

Differences between Anderson and Porter over the level for the meat ceilings previously had been reported the subject of negotiations by Stabilization Director John R. Steelman as mediator.

OPA Caught Unaware

Anderson's surprise announcement today caught the OPA unaware to such an extent that it had to push a messenger across town to the Agriculture Department to obtain copies of the order.

In addition to prescribing the cattle and hog ceilings, Anderson directed that ceilings on dressed lamb shall be high enough to allow a price of $19 on the live animal.

Accepting another Agriculture Department recommendation without question, the OPA announced a

Sen. LaFollette May Be Offered Government Job

Associates Reportedly Have Made Suggestion To Truman

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, Aug. 28 (AP)—President Truman, nearing the end of his vacation, is understood to have received suggestions that an important government role be found for Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Wisconsin.

Shifting from pleasure to business, Mr. Truman worked today on official papers flown from Washington and discussed budget problems in his cabin aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburt with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

Defeated As Republican

(The suggestion that LaFollette be brought into a high administrative position in the government apparently comes from congressmen and associates of the President who are aware of the high regard Mr. Truman holds for the Senator.)

A progressive for 12 of his 21 years in the Senate, LaFollette was defeated when he sought nomination for another term as a Republican. His present term ends in January.

Mr. Truman, who served in Congress with LaFollette, is represented as convinced the senator would not accept any post other than one for which he is especially suited.

Vacancies Exist

(Vacancies into which his talents might fit include those of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and Federal Loan Administrator—the latter empty since Snyder moved into the Cabinet.

(LaFollette is a member of the Senate Finance Committee and considered something of an authority on tax matters.

(Two assistant secretaryships are open in the State Department and one in the Navy. While LaFollette also is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, he would be an unlikely choice for any of these. Opponents have criticized his record as that of an "isolationist.")

Soothsayer Wanted

New Reorganization Law Puts House Clerk And Senate Secretary On Spot

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—Anybody who can forecast a cat's path through a fish market or plot the position of every pea in tomorrow's soup will find a hearty welcome from two harassed officials at the capitol.

The new legislative reorganization law requires them to publish in each day's edition of the Congressional Record—compiled the night before—the legislative program for the day's session.

As any congressman knows, this is like trying to issue a guaranteed analysis of when the three cherries are going to come up on a tilted slot machine.

The Joint Committee on Printing, which was given charge of the project craftily insisted that the actual forecasts be prepared by South Trimble, clerk of the House, and Leslie L. Biffle, secretary of the state.

Trimble trembled.

Biffle was baffled.

The latter immediately departed for Europe, ostensibly on a Mission for the American Battle Monuments Commission.

His chore perhaps is the more difficult of the two. House leaders sometimes have a reasonably clear idea of what the tomorrow will bring, but in the Senate they just take pot luck.

It matters not that when the senators called it a day on Tuesday they were just getting into the swing of debate on a bill to abolish dandruff. Wednesday morning the pro-dandruff bloc may decide to open up a few days' discussion of Brazil nuts.

To a lesser degree Trimble faces a similar problem. The opening of each House session furnishes opportunity for a series of one-minute speeches.

On one morning in the recent session those addresses included a discussion of the size of the rolls in the House restaurant, a declaration that UNRRA delegates could be fed for $13.50 a head cheaper in Nebraska than at Atlantic City, and speech entitled "what Is Driving the American People Crazy?" (The OPA, Rep. Jessie Summer (R-Ill), declared.

Big Yacht Sinks In Lake Michigan; Fate Of Those Aboard Her In Doubt

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP) — A handsome big yacht plunged mysteriously to her doom beneath rough Lake Michigan today and the fate of the persons aboard her — the Coast Guard said there were "at least three" — was still in doubt tonight.

The black-hulled 92-foot Verano, owned by Maynard Dowell, Park Ridge, Ill., businessman and manufacturer, sank three quarters of a mile from shore before the eyes of Coast Guardsmen who had sped in a lifeboat to her side.

Guardsmen reported no signs of life aboard the vessel, a $100,000 creation, but said apparently two dingeys had been lowered from her by passengers who had sought safety in the choppy waters.

Beach patrols carrying lanterns searched the shore tonight. Coast Guard boats had put in shore after darkness fell. The search over the lake will be resumed tomorrow with boats and planes, guardsmen said.

Dowell, who expressed bewilderment over the cause of the sinking, said the boat had been taken from Chicago early today by three acquaintances for repairs at Holland, Mich.

One of those aboard Dowell identified as Chester Granath, Chicago, who went on as pilot. The other two he knew offhand only as "Ben" and "Fred" but he said they were acquaintances at his company. The two shipped as engineer and cook.

The Verano sank in 60 feet of water shortly after four guardsmen under Chief Bosun's Mate William Herbst drew close to her. She went down stern first. There was no sign of fire or an explosion.

"We don't have any idea what happened," Herbst said.

Dowell said the Verano had a leak along her keel but that she was fitted with both power and hand pumps. He said the leak appeared inconsequential and expressed disbelief it had been the cause.

Herbst said he talked with Dowell by telephone at Park Ridge, a Chicago suburb, and that the owner

The embassy protested the note—which listed what this country regards as essential to a free, Polish national election—as "infringement into Poland's sovereign rights and interference with her internal affairs."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, replied today that the United States had acknowledged that the note constitutes a departure from this country's traditional policy of non-intervention in another country's internal affairs. This was contained in the note itself.

However, White told reporters the United States was only fulfilling the responsibility which it assumed, along with Britain and Russia, under the provisions of the Yalta and Potsdam conferences, which under-

Squeeze Is Put On Army, Navy Use Of Lumber

Dealers Ordered To Hold 80 Per Cent Of Supplies For Vets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt tonight put the squeeze on Army and Navy use of lumber, and ordered lumber dealers to hold 80 per cent of their supplies for veterans' housing.

To boost lumber yard supplies, Wyatt directed that sawmills supply each dealer with at least one-third more housing lumber than he has previously been able to claim in competition with other customers of the mills.

"Drastic" Controls

To cap a series of new controls over building materials which he called "drastic," Wyatt directed that 100 per cent of all residential hardwood flooring and 85 per cent of all mill work—doors, window frames and the like—be reserved for builders holding the "HH" housing priority.

Civilian Production Administration John D. Small joined Wyatt in announcing the lumber actions.

The decision to crack down on the military use of lumber came out of an inter-agency conference today. The decisions were two-fold:

Will Review Military Priorities

First, effective at once, the military "MM" priorities used by the Army and Navy for construction of bases and barracks overseas will be "reviewed most carefully" by CPA to determine whether they can be postponed or the material procurement spread among several cities so as not to pre-empty the whole supply of any community.

Second, all military housing in this country will be similarly scrutinized and a rating no higher than the ordinary "HH" housing priority may be used. Heretofore, military housing in this country as well as abroad has carried the more potent "MM" priority.

Ship Driven Aground

LONDON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The 7,198-ton American freighter James H. Price was driven aground in Dover Strait tonight by a 66-mile an hour gale which lashed coastal shipping on all sides of Britain and sent all but the largest vessels into port. No casualties were reported aboard the vessel, which was refloated four hours later.

Plan To Limit Reparations Is Defeated, 15-2

Australian Proposal Voted Down; Big Four Ministers Meet Today

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — Australia's proposal to limit reparations levied on former enemy countries to their "reasonable capacity to pay" and delay action until a special commission made studies was voted down tonight in a peace conference commission after three days of arguments.

The United States, Britain and France lined up with Russia against the measure—beaten by a vote of 15 to 2, with three absentions—which climaxed long, angry debates climaxed by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's charge that Australia was acting "against the interests of the Soviet peoples."

Today a Soviet delegate asserted reparations were a "cornerstone" of peace treaties and that delays on this would mean "postponing the peace conference."

Ministers To Meet

Meanwhile, delegation spokesmen disclosed that the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers—summoned into session by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in an attempt to dig the conference out of dispute—would meet tomorrow afternoon.

Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault accepted Bevin's suggestion without condition, but Secretary of State Byrnes said he would attend only if procedural matters were not discussed because he would not consent to the council's limiting the freedom of action and sovereignty of the conference.

A Foreign Office spokesman in London said the four-power council "might deal with matters outside its primary purpose of facilitating the work of the peace conference," and diplomatic sources in the British capital said the Dardanelles question was "almost certainly" on the agenda.

The Australian defeat came when a vote was taken in the Italian Economic Commission on a move to insert her proposal for a reparations commission in the Italian treaty. Earlier in the day, Australia withdrew an identical amendment offered for inclusion in the Romania treaty.

"Tribute" To Russia

Andrei I. Vichinsky, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, said he would "admit Italy has changed camps" but "we can't forget that 300,000 Italian soldiers once occupied parts of our country and countless villages were razed."

"You shouldn't even question our reparations demands," he declared, addressing the Australian delegation. You should adopt them as a tribute" to the Soviet Union.

Vishinsky said the $100,000,000 Russia was asking from Italy was "only one-one hundredth of the damage inflicted on the Soviet by Fascism."

The United States paved the way for the break that ended the three-day dispute when it announced earlier in the day that it supported Russia's opposition to reopening the reparations agreements already reached by the Big Four.

Boy, 10, Missing 11 Days, Is Located

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. (AP)—Missing from home for 11 days, 10-year-old Brenton Marshall, Jr., was found by a policeman today, his nose pressed against a window pane, watching milk being pasteurized in a West 40th street dairy.

The boy, described as a "habitual runaway" by police, said he left home because his younger brother called him "dirty, mean names."

While away from home he slept on a porch of a house on University Parkway, lived on ice-cream sodas until his money ran out, then on bottles of milk he obtained from the dairy, and on cakes and soda pop. The dairy foreman, his suspicions aroused at seeing the boy around so often, telephoned police.

Mystery Deepens

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. (AP)—Another parachute flare, apparently of the same type that has fallen at various intervals here during the last 18 months, dropped on the roof of a southeast Baltimore lumber concern today. Police said the flare burned itself out on the mill's roof without causing damage.

AFTER 25-CAR CRASH—Tow cars work to remove 25 autos involved in a mammoth crash at Berkeley, Calif., yesterday when smoke from a city dump suddenly obscured the six-lane high-speed East Shore highway. Seven persons were taken to hospitals for treatment. Four trucks and 12 automobiles were wrecked so badly they had to be towed away. Three new cars being delivered on a trailer were demolished. A taxicab was crushed under a truck.

U. S. Authorities Receive Bodies Of Five Airmen

Tito Assures Patterson No More Planes Will Be Shot Down

AIDUSSINA, ON THE MORGAN LINE, Aug. 28, (AP)—The flag-draped coffins of five American fliers shot down in Yugoslavia were delivered today by motor convoy, and then by stretcher bearers marching across the Morgan Line, to American authorities for the long journey home.

United States Ambassador Richard C. Patterson, who accompanied the bodies from Ljubljana, told newsmen that "Marshal Tito assured me personally and officially that there will not be any repetition of this event," and declared that despite the Yugoslav premier's explanations, "there can be no adequate satisfaction for the death of five Americans."

The men were killed when their C-47 transport was shot down in flames by Yugoslav fighters on August 19.

It was 2:30 p. m. when the motor convoy bearing the fliers' bodies pulled up to the Morgan Line—the boundary separating the Yugoslav-occupied and American-British-occupied areas of disputed Venezia Giulia Province.

Maj. Gen. Bryant W. Moore, commander of the United States 88th Division, met the cortege and thanked Capt. Ilya Mirkovic, liaison officer with the Yugoslav Fourth Army, for his part in the prompt return of the bodies.

Then another Yugoslav officer, Maj. Ilya Tojic, stepped forward and assured the American commander that such an incident would never happen again.

With these words said, the two Yugoslav officers and a small group of Yugoslav soldiers snapped to attention.

And then the five coffins, draped with American flags and covered with flowers, were transferred from a Yugoslav ambulance and carried by American stretcher bearers across the hundred yards separating the Yugoslav and American Morgan Line outposts.

Troops Present Arms

The five coffins were placed in five ambulances.

As the ambulances moved off toward Udine, Italy, under a military police escort, two platoons of United States 88th Division troops presented arms.

The bodies were carried to a Udine mortuary, and from there they will be flown to Rome. They will be taken to the United States for burial, but whether by ship or plane was not disclosed.

The bodies still were not all completely identified, but it was announced that one — that of Capt.

Youth, 16, Chokes Mad Dog To Death With Bare Hands

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 28. (AP)—The heroism of a 16-year-old boy who choked a mad dog to death with his bare hands came to light today with the completion of anti-hydrophobia treatments given several persons who had been in contact with the animal. The treatments were reported to be a success and all were out of danger of rabies infection.

James E. Briggs saw the dog, owned by his mother, throw a running fit, froth at the mouth and run under the Briggs house.

Deputy Game Warden Davis A. Robertson, Jr., was summoned but before he arrived young Briggs crawled under the house, dragged the dog into the yard and choked it to death.

Police Deny Plot To Kill Bevin Found

London Papers, In Paris Dispatches, Report 14 Jews Involved

PARIS, Thursday, Aug. 29, (AP) — French police and Scotland Yard security officers denied today that special measures were being taken to guard Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary.

They labelled as "a silly rumor" reports published in London newspapers that a plot by 14 Jews to kill Bevin had been discovered.

The usual security detail of one British detective and two French police officers was posted outside Bevin's quarters at the George V Hotel here. A Scotland Yard operative said only "normal" security measures were being taken.

Another British security officer said a "silly rumor that some attempt might be made against Mr. Bevin was floating around last week but was not taken seriously." He said he understood that French police had investigated the rumor but had heard of no further developments.

Both the Paris Prefecture of Police and the Surete Nationale (French Secret Police) also denied that there was any basis to the story of a plot against Bevin.

At the British Embassy the only employee on duty laughed off the report about Bevin and the stories printed in London that anonymous telephone callers had threatened to blow up the embassy.

London Reports

LONDON, Aug. 28, (AP) — London morning newspapers said tonight in Paris' dispatches that French police were searching for 14 Jews who were "reported in Paris to have sworn 'to get' British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin."

The dispatches said the Jews were "thought to have been concerned in the King David Hotel bomb explosion" in Jerusalem July 22.

These accounts also said that the British embassy in Paris had received two anonymous telephone calls saying the building would be blown up. The persons who made the calls, the dispatches said, gave the messages in French.

Sen. LaFollette May Be Offered Government Job

Associates Reportedly Have Made Suggestion To Truman

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, Aug. 28 (AP)—President Truman, nearing the end of his vacation, is understood to have received suggestions that an important government role be found for Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Wisconsin.

Shifting from pleasure to business, Mr. Truman worked today on official papers flown from Washington and discussed budget problems in his cabin aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburt with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

Defeated As Republican

(The suggestion that LaFollette be brought into a high administrative position in the government apparently comes from congressmen and associates of the President who are aware of the high regard Mr. Truman holds for the Senator.)

A progressive for 12 of his 21 years in the Senate, LaFollette was defeated when he sought nomination for another term as a Republican. His present term ends in January.

Mr. Truman, who served in Congress with LaFollette, is represented as convinced the senator would not accept any post other than one for which he is especially suited.

Vacancies Exist

(Vacancies into which his talents might fit include those of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and Federal Loan Administrator—the latter empty since Snyder moved into the Cabinet.

(LaFollette is a member of the Senate Finance Committee and considered something of an authority on tax matters.

(Two assistant secretaryships are open in the State Department and one in the Navy. While LaFollette also is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, he would be an unlikely choice for any of these. Opponents have criticized his record as that of an "isolationist.")

Price-Hiking Order Catches OPA Unaware

Effective Date Of New Ceilings Is Postponed Until Sept. 1

ANDERSON EXERCISES HIS NEW AUTHORITY

Decontrol Board Says It Has Final Say-So On Dairy Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The OPA today got a mandate from the Agriculture Department for meat price ceilings above those of June 30, although below present prices, and a bald reminder from the Decontrol Board that no controls will be restored to dairy products unless the board says so.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson exercised the new powers which Congress gave him to order the meat ceilings set at a level which he said will prevent conditions threatening a shortage.

Agriculture Department and OPA experts estimated the retail prices in the butcher shops will be higher than the June 30 ceilings by five and one-half cents a pound on beef and two and one-half to three cents on pork, on the average.

As a result, the OPA postponed the effective date of the new livestock ceilings from midnight tonight until September 1. The dates previously announced for the ceilings at other levels, however, remain unchanged—September 5 for wholesalers and September 9 for retailers.

The Decontrol Board's statement on dairy prices follows a speech by Price Administrator Paul Porter in New York yesterday in which he said he "will insist" that milk and dairy products be restored to ceilings.

Thompson's Statement

Roy L. Thompson, chairman of the board, telephoned the statement from his home in New Orleans. It declared:

The statement said that "unless the board is fully satisfied that prices have risen unreasonably and that it will be in the public interest to do so, no price controls will be re-established on dairy products."

After Anderson's word on meat prices was handed down, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced that the livestock subsidies will be reinstated on cattle, calves and hogs slaughtered on and after September 1 on the same terms as those which lapsed June 30. The Decontrol Board had ordered these payments resumed on the same scale as the former subsidies, and Stabilization Director John R. Steelman had set September 1 as the date.

Directives from the Agriculture Department on farm commodity prices are binding upon the OPA, under the new law. The price administrator has ten days, however, to comply.

Differences between Anderson and Porter over the level for the meat ceilings previously had been reported the subject of negotiations by Stabilization Director John R. Steelman as mediator.

OPA Caught Unaware

Anderson's surprise announcement today caught the OPA unaware to such an extent that it had to push a messenger across town to the Agriculture Department to obtain copies of the order.

In addition to prescribing the cattle and hog ceilings, Anderson directed that ceilings on dressed lamb shall be high enough to allow a price of $19 on the live animal.

Accepting another Agriculture Department recommendation without question, the OPA announced a

Youth, 13, Jailed In Friend's Death

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP) — Charles Hazlett, 13-year-old Pittsburgh boy charged with first degree murder in the New Year's Eve slaying of a playmate, was in jail today awaiting extradition.

The skeleton of his friend, Michael Gerrich, 12, was found yesterday in the cellar of a Pittsburgh house the Hazlett family formerly inhabited.

County Judge Hamilton Ward, Jr., refused to accept a waiver of extradition from the Hazlett boy, announcing at a hearing that he felt the defendant was "too young" to understand his legal rights.

Samuel Fleischman was assigned by the court to represent the boy's interests after the question had developed.

Assistant Detective Chief Frank Nowakowski quoted Hazlett as relating that he and "Mike" were playing "holdup man" in the kitchen when a .22 calibre rifle belonging to Hazlett's father went off "some way or another" and a bullet struck young Gerrich.

Nowakowski said the boy had told him that after Gerrich fell to the floor mumbling "something like I'm dying," Hazlett became "scared to death" and tried to hide the body by dragging it into the cellar and putting it under some crates and baskets.

Nowakowski quoted the boy as saying the incident "bothered me a lot when I went to bed at night, but I was scared and didn't know what to do about it."

Soothsayer Wanted

New Reorganization Law Puts House Clerk And Senate Secretary On Spot

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—Anybody who can forecast a cat's path through a fish market or plot the position of every pea in tomorrow's soup will find a hearty welcome from two harassed officials at the capitol.

The new legislative reorganization law requires them to publish in each day's edition of the Congressional Record—compiled the night before—the legislative program for the day's session.

As any congressman knows, this is like trying to issue a guaranteed analysis of when the three cherries are going to come up on a tilted slot machine.

The Joint Committee on Printing, which was given charge of the project craftily insisted that the actual forecasts be prepared by South Trimble, clerk of the House, and Leslie L. Biffle, secretary of the state.

Trimble trembled.

Biffle was baffled.

The latter immediately departed for Europe, ostensibly on a Mission for the American Battle Monuments Commission.

His chore perhaps is the more difficult of the two. House leaders sometimes have a reasonably clear idea of what the tomorrow will bring, but in the Senate they just take pot luck.

It matters not that when the senators called it a day on Tuesday they were just getting into the swing of debate on a bill to abolish dandruff. Wednesday morning the pro-dandruff bloc may decide to open up a few days' discussion of Brazil nuts.

To a lesser degree Trimble faces a similar problem. The opening of each House session furnishes opportunity for a series of one-minute speeches.

On one morning in the recent session those addresses included a discussion of the size of the rolls in the House restaurant, a declaration that UNRRA delegates could be fed for $13.50 a head cheaper in Nebraska than at Atlantic City, and speech entitled "what Is Driving the American People Crazy?" (The OPA. Rep. Jessie Summer (R-Ill), declared.

Big Yacht Sinks In Lake Michigan; Fate Of Those Aboard Her In Doubt

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP) — A handsome big yacht plunged mysteriously to her doom beneath rough Lake Michigan today and the fate of the persons aboard her — the Coast Guard said there were "at least three" — was still in doubt tonight.

The black-hulled 92-foot Verano, owned by Maynard Dowell, Park Ridge, Ill., businessman and manufacturer, sank three quarters of a mile from shore before the eyes of Coast Guardsmen who had sped in a lifeboat to her side.

Guardsmen reported no signs of life aboard the vessel, a $100,000 creation, but said apparently two dingeys had been lowered from her by passengers who had sought safety in the choppy waters.

Beach patrols carrying lanterns searched the shore tonight. Coast Guard boats had put in shore after darkness fell. The search over the lake will be resumed tomorrow with boats and planes, guardsmen said.

Dowell, who expressed bewilderment over the cause of the sinking, said the boat had been taken from Chicago early today by three acquaintances for repairs at Holland, Mich.

One of those aboard Dowell identified as Chester Granath, Chicago, who went on as pilot. The other two he knew offhand only as "Ben" and "Fred" but he said they were acquaintances at his company. The two shipped as engineer and cook.

The Verano sank in 60 feet of water shortly after four guardsmen under Chief Bosun's Mate William Herbst drew close to her. She went down stern first. There was no sign of fire or an explosion.

"We don't have any idea what happened," Herbst said.

Dowell said the Verano had a leak along her keel but that she was fitted with both power and hand pumps. He said the leak appeared inconsequential and expressed disbelief it had been the cause.

Herbst said he talked with Dowell by telephone at Park Ridge, a Chicago suburb, and that the owner

Testimony Ends In Court-Martial Of Band Leader

Former Chief Steward Rollins Appears As Prosecution Witness

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Testimony in the trial of Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., suspended Naval Academy band leader, came to a close today with the dramatic appearance of former Chief Steward Walter W. Rollins as a prosecution witness.

Rollins, the negro steward in whose North Severn Officers' Club room the famed all night party of February 9 took place, was called to testify concerning gambling that night.

Rollins said that although he, Sima and Sima's son, Musician First Class William R. Sima, Jr., played cards with chips "valued at a penny," there was no payoff at the end of the game.

His testimony came in the 13th day of Sima's trial on charges including culpable inefficiency, neglect of duty, perjury, extortion, gambling and violating several Navy regulations.

Rollins was forced to testify at the prosecution's request after he refused to do so on the ground that his answers might incriminate him.

Under Navy court-martial procedure, if a witness is forced to testify after refusing, such testimony may not be used as evidence against him.

Shortly before Rollins' testimony, another rebuttal witness, Chief Pharmacist's Mate Gerald E. L. Bishop said Sima "in a casual way" asked him to see Agnes Ruth Thompson, Annapolis hairdresser, to try to "influence" her to stick to her testimony in the trial of Sima's son.

At this trial, she testified there was no drinking or gambling at Rollins' party. She later reversed her testimony in the Rollins trial.

Bishop said he had seen Miss Thompson twice on Sima's behalf, but couldn't remember exactly when except that it was before Rollins' trial.

Lt. Comdr. William L. P. Burke, Naval Academy legal officer, a rebuttal witness, testified Mrs. Margaret A. Sima, Jr., had volunteered the information that there was gambling and drinking in Rollins' room.

Lt. Sima, his wife and his son and wife all denied there was gambling and drinking at the party.

13½ per cent increase effective Friday on canners' ceiling prices for most varieties of canned salmon.

OPA said these increases will require consumers to pay six cents more for a one-pound can of Alaska red salmon and four cents more for a similar can of pink salmon.

The Agricultural Department recommended the higher ceilings to encourage production.

In another price increase OPA advised consumers that canned Hawaiian pineapple and pineapple juice will be increased shortly. The agency granted processors a flat increase of 13.5 per cent on the 1946 pack effective immediately. OPA said the retail price of a No. 2½ can of Hawaiian fancy sliced pineapple will rise four cents as soon as retailers receive shipments at the higher prices.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Feel Like Somebody

The first step in becoming important is to feel important to yourself. This suggestion is not meant to convey that you should be conceited or falsely set up, but to have a feeling that you are somebody.

Our greatest men and women are usually modest and unassuming, but they know their importance, because they know their responsibility. Responsibility makes important people, and people important, as well.

Importance carries with it an assuredness. Perhaps it can all be summed up in the one word—character. People with character stand out, separate and apart. They are the leaders, the creators, and the crusaders. They feel like somebodies, because they have to! They go ahead. They brush aside all obstacles. They are folks of vision and decision.

It is this thought of making oneself feel that one should be somebody—somebody useful and helpful in the world—that drives us all to work and strive toward some definite goal. Any worker, who has done his day's work faithfully and well, may honestly feel that he is somebody.

It isn't doing the spectacular things, but the essential things, connected with one's life that is so important. The things for which we seem best fitted to perform, the things that give us the most pleasure to do, and the things that benefit others as well as ourselves. No honest labor is menial. I watch a building about to be erected. I note men blasting for the foundation. I see others carrying away the rocks and dirt. Later I see masons at work, riveters, steel hoisters, and brick layers. All are important people because each is a builder! Each may well feel that he is a somebody.

Talk can't make you feel like somebody, but acts, deeds, and definite things achieved, can. And people will take note of you. You can't keep a torch from throwing out its beams—if it is lit! All good work, in time, is noticed, together with the one who performs it.

We are a somebody the moment we do something that is noteworthy and useful. We are a nobody until we do!

Lake Carriers Bid To Settle Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association proposed a reduced work week for striking CIO seamen on the Great Lakes tonight but the offer brought no immediate promise of a general settlement.

Spokesmen for the National Maritime Union (CIO), when told of the carriers' association announcement, said there could be no "adequate" understanding unless the proposal "spells out" a satisfactory answer to all union demands.

As the seamen's strike was concluding its 13th day, President A. T. Wood, of the carriers group, said at Cleveland the association had recommended to its members establishment of a minimum wage scale based on an "at sea" work week of 48 hours and 44 hours in port.

This was the strike settlement pattern to which one bulk freighter firm, Bethlehem Transportation of New York, and five tanker companies had subscribed earlier. Originally the union had demanded a 40-hour week. The work week has been 56 hours.

NLRB Rules "Anti-CIO" Speech Violated Act

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board held two to one today that a New York firm violated the Wagner Act by assembling its employes during working hours to listen to an "anti-CIO" speech.

Dissenting Board Member Gerard D. Reilly said the majority opinion is contrary to Supreme Court rulings that employers can outline their views to workers about unions as long as they steer clear of trying

Reds Report Gains For Chiang Troops

NANKING, Aug. 28 (AP)—China's undeclared civil war continued with renewed violence today in the north as government forces drove on Chengteh, capital of Jehol Province, and Communists struck at the Peiping-Mukden railroad.

Definite gains were made by the Nationalists (central government) in the thrust at Chengteh, the Communist radio at Yenan admitted.

This offensive followed the recent Nationalist threat to attack Communist strongholds in an effort to relieve the month-old Red siege of Tatung, important rail center west of Peiping.

The Nationalists were striking toward Chengteh from the east and north, and Yenan reported fierce fighting raging in the eastern and middle sections of Jehol Province.

To the east, one Nationalist division captured the county town of Ningcheng. This represented a 50-mile advance in the drive launched last week.

Five Youths Held Following Holdup

CONOWINGO, Md., Aug. 28. (AP)—Five youths were arrested today in connection with a filling station holdup at Avondale, Pa., after Maryland State Police stopped a stolen Washington, D. C., automobile at a highway blockade.

A loaded 38 caliber revolver was found on the car floor, but the quintet surrendered without resistance to Cpl. John Lambeck and Troopers Stanley Taplow and Paul Mahan.

The five awaited Avondale authorities in Elkton jail.

The suspects' car was halted less than three hours after Pennsylvania police broadcast the alarm. The filling station proprietor was held up at gun point and robbed of $9, a radio, and 30 packages of cigarettes.

Rites To Be Held Today For Former Jurist

ELKTON, Ky., Aug. 28—(AP)—James Clark McReynolds, who rose to a seat on the nation's highest tribunal, came back to his boyhood home in death today to be buried here Thursday.

The body of the 84-year-old former Supreme Court justice was brought from Washington to the old McReynolds home today, and at 10 a. m. Thursday it will be removed to the Christian Church, where the jurist worshipped when in Elkton, for last rites at 2 p. m.

Burial will be in Glenwood cemetery where McReynolds' parents, Dr. John Oliver and Ellen McReynolds, are buried.

Johnson said the membership committee which discussed the applications was a committee of the whole and that no new information had been submitted by Albania and Outer Mongolia to clear up United States "misgivings."

Gromyko countered with a remark that Johnson did not have the patience to wait until general discussion might be had for comment on each application.

Johnson replied to the charge of inconsistency by Gromyko with the statement that he had advocated the admission of the eight on the basis of universality, with the hope that the United States' doubts on Albania and Outer Mongolia would be dispelled once the nations were in the United Nations.

Anti-Trust Suits In Supply Sales Being Prepared

Conspiracy To Mulct Federal, Local Governments Is Charged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The Justice Department is readying anti-trust suits against a number of companies its charges have been conspiring to mulct the federal and local governments in the sale of supplies.

One suit will be filed next week, an official in close touch with the situation said today. Others are in the preparatory stage.

The suits are the result of an investigation designed to stamp out alleged identical bidding and monopoly practices in the sale of many products purchased by federal, state and local governments.

The official told a reporter that many of the products are essential to government operations and to public health and safety. He declined to name them.

The investigation has been under way for several months by the department's anti-trust division. It first received complaints from several states and cities of identical bidding. Justice Department agents who investigated found evidence of alleged conspiracies and monopolies in the sale of many items.

The official reported such practices as:

1. Lowering bids to squeeze out competition and then boosting bids back to high levels.
2. Rotating bids among the parties to an alleged conspiracy.
3. Allocating cities to one company or group of companies exclusively.
4. Identical bidding, or bids in which identical figures appeared so often that they suggested collusion.
5. Buying out small companies to eliminate competition.

Famous Reconteur

I have watched Senator Barkley's career with deep interest since as a young newspaper reporter I covered his first campaign for the Senate 20 years ago. I have known of his genius as a tireless campaigner. I have listened many times as he would draw upon his unlimited repertory of stories which have made him the Senate's most famous raconteur. I have known him as a friendly and tolerant man of great ability. But personal experience with Senator Barkley in the legislative crisis on price control this summer afforded me my first real opportunity to obtain a first-hand knowledge of his great capacity as a legislator, as a lawyer and as a leader.

I was called to the White House when Senator Barkley and his associates of the Democratic leadership urged President Truman to approve the first price control bill. In earnest tones, Senator Barkley insisted that the President sign the bill. The President was obviously reluctant not to follow the advice of his party leaders. Upon analysis of the first bill's provisions, however, the President concluded he could not approve it and with great courage he exercised his constitutional right of veto. Thus four and one-half months of a bitter legislative battle resulted in a stalemate and the responsibility was turned back to the Congress.

Barkley Backed OPA

Senator Barkley again shouldered the burden. A lesser man would have balked. With consummate patience and skill, he guided a new measure through committee, through the Senate and out of conference. During sweltering Washington weather, he worked with the Senate committee day and night and would take to his Washington home a full briefcase and work some more.

At one midnight session of the Senate, Senator Barkley arose to explain a highly complex pricing standard in the bill. His extemporaneous exposition read with such smoothness and precision in the Congressional Record that OPA lawyers expressed amazement as to how Senator Barkley had found the time to master an intricate subject in such technical detail.

Praises Kentuckians

This episode is but one of many in the experience of the majority leader of the Senate. But it illustrates a measure of the man's greatness. This amazing capacity for comprehension has been duplicated in Congressional decisions on the United Nations Organization, the British loan, atomic energy, veterans' housing and a host of other critical problems. And the results add up to the fact that Senator Barkley is one of the most effective liberals of our time.

Kentucky has provided the nation with its full quota of leadership in this administration. There is the distinguished Chief Justice, Fred M. Vinson; Wilson Wyatt, the veterans' housing expediter; Keene Johnson, Under Secretary of Labor; and others in positions of responsibility and trust. I know they as well as the people of Kentucky join me in the conclusion that, as Woodrow Wilson said of Henry Clay, there is no man of his generation who represents more of America than Alben W. Barkley.

Child Owes Life To Famed Surgeon, News Clipping And Insurance Plan

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—Seven-year-old Jean Michel Deville, of Souellac, France, owes his life to a famed surgeon, but in a sense also to a French newspaper clipping and a group insurance plan to which his mother belonged.

The clipping—a five-line "filler"—was handed to Jean's father, M. Claude Deville, last December. It said:

"Thanks to an operation being performed by the great Dr. Blalock at the Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, U.S.A., there is hope for blue babies. It is said that 80 per cent are recovering."

Jean is now among that happy 80 per cent.

While he was recovering rapidly under an oxygen tent at Johns Hopkins Hospital—Dr. Alfred Blalock operated on him last Friday—the boy's father reminisced on the circumstances that brought him and his desperately ill son to Baltimore.

In 1940, after Deville and his family had fled from Paris to Souellac in Central France, a local physician diagnosed Jean's malady from the characteristic blue tinge on his fingers—he was a blue baby, and, as far as the parents then knew, there was no hope.

But after a neighbor had shown Deville — who taught vocational school—the paragraph in La Republique De Sud-Oest, a Toulouse paper, he wrote to Dr. Blalock for information last winter.

The latter replied immediately. Then it became a question of $4,000.

It was solved when the boy's mother submitted the case to mutual assistance fund of the now nationalized Electric Company in Souellac. The board held a special meeting, voted a credit of 500,000 francs.

After a struggle for plane priorities, permits, and visa, father and son began the journey a week ago last Sunday. The boy stood the plane trip well, never needing the oxygen tent that was taken along as a precaution.

One of the ways to keep silver bright and shiny is to line the drawer in which it is kept with dark outing flannel.

"How's This for Size?"

You know it is a good shoe—it bears a familiar and respected brand name. But that alone is not enough. Will it fit you?

So, before you buy, you "try it for size"... you make sure it is exactly what you need.

This same common sense rule applies to investment in securities!

If you are an investor seeking productive employment of your savings, you must choose from many hundreds of security issues, of widely varying types, prices and quality. Nothing could be more certain than that some of these securities will fit your needs... and that others will not.

In making your decisions, you can apply the same simple test you use in buying anything else you need—the test of facts.

This Exchange, the nation's foremost market place for securities, urges you to get the facts before buying or selling any security—whether it is listed on an organized Exchange or not, whether it is newly issued or long "seasoned." Get the facts... and study them in the light of your own financial requirements.

The rule of "try it for size" makes good sense for all investments—in securities or in any other form of property.

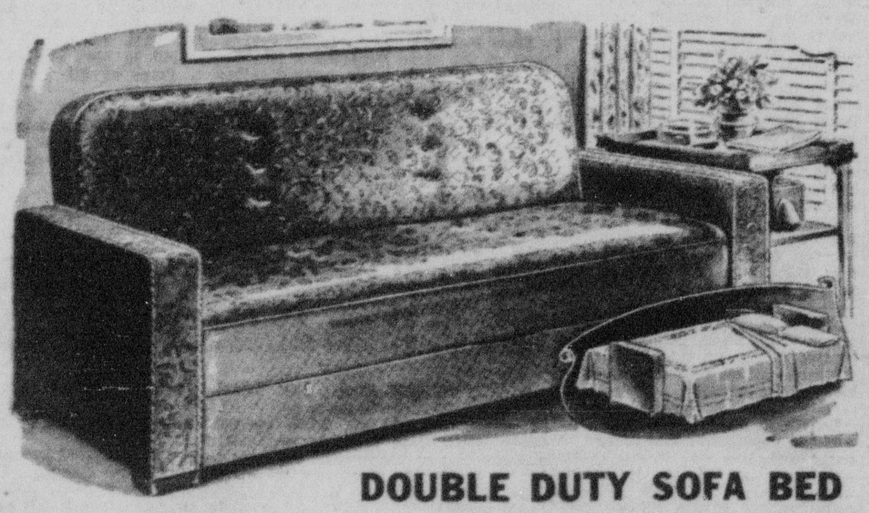

FACTS ARE AVAILABLE

Over the years, this Exchange has sought to increase the amount of information available to the investor. One example: when a company lists its securities here, it first agrees to report, regularly, the facts necessary to an informed investment decision. These facts can be had—it is unnecessary, as well as unwise, to rely on tips or rumors when buying and selling securities.

Testimony Ends In Court-Martial Of Band Leader

Former Chief Steward Rollins Appears As Prosecution Witness

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Testimony in the trial of Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., suspended Naval Academy band leader, came to a close today with the dramatic appearance of former Chief Steward Walter W. Rollins as a prosecution witness.

Rollins, the negro steward in whose North Severn Officers' Club room the famed all night party of February 9 took place, was called to testify concerning gambling that night.

Rollins said that although he, Sima and Sima's son, Musician First Class William R. Sima, Jr., played cards with chips "valued at a penny," there was no payoff at the end of the game.

His testimony came in the 13th day of Sima's trial on charges including culpable inefficiency, neglect of duty, perjury, extortion, gambling and violating several Navy regulations.

Rollins was forced to testify at the prosecution's request after he refused to do so on the ground that his answers might incriminate him.

Under Navy court-martial procedure, if a witness is forced to testify after refusing, such testimony may not be used as evidence against him.

Shortly before Rollins' testimony, another rebuttal witness, Chief Pharmacist's Mate Gerald E. L. Bishop said Sima "in a casual way" asked him to see Agnes Ruth Thompson, Annapolis hairdresser, to try to "influence" her to stick to her testimony in the trial of Sima's son.

At this trial, she testified there was no drinking or gambling at Rollins' party. She later reversed her testimony in the Rollins trial.

Bishop said he had seen Miss Thompson twice on Sima's behalf, but couldn't remember exactly when except that it was before Rollins' trial.

Lt. Comdr. William L. P. Burke, Naval Academy legal officer, a rebuttal witness, testified Mrs. Margaret A. Sima, Jr., had volunteered the information that there was gambling and drinking in Rollins' room.

Lt. Sima, his wife and his son and wife all denied there was gambling and drinking at the party.

13¼ per cent increase effective Friday on canners' ceiling prices for most varieties of canned salmon.

OPA said these increases will require consumers to pay six cents more for a one-pound can of Alaska red salmon and four cents more for a similar can of pink salmon.

The Agricultural Department recommended the higher ceilings to encourage production.

In another price increase OPA advised consumers that canned Hawaiian pineapple and pineapple juice will be increased shortly. The agency granted processors a flat increase of 13.5 per cent on the 1946 pack effective immediately. OPA said the retail price of a No. 2½ can of Hawaiian fancy sliced pineapple will rise four cents as soon as retailers receive shipments at the higher prices.

Today's Talk

Feel Like Somebody

The first step in becoming important is to feel important to yourself. This suggestion is not meant to convey that you should be conceited or falsely set up, but to have a feeling that you are somebody.

Our greatest men and women are usually modest and unassuming, but they know their importance, because they know their responsibility. Responsibility makes important people, and people important, as well.

Importance carries with it an assuredness. Perhaps it can all be summed up in the one word—character. People with character stand out, separate and apart. They are the leaders, the creators, and the crusaders. They feel like somebodies, because they have to! They go ahead. They brush aside all obstacles. They are folks of vision and decision.

It is this thought of making oneself feel that one should be somebody—somebody useful and helpful in the world—that drives us all to work and strive toward some definite goal. Any worker, who has done his day's work faithfully and well, may honestly feel that he is somebody.

It isn't doing the spectacular things, but the essential things, connected with one's life that is so important. The things for which we seem best fitted to perform, the things that give us the most pleasure to do, and the things that benefit others as well as ourselves. No honest labor is menial. I watch a building about to be erected. I note men blasting for the foundation. I see others carrying away the rocks and dirt. Later I see masons at work, riveters, steel hoisters, and brick layers. All are important people because each is a builder! Each may well feel that he is a somebody.

Talk can't make you feel like somebody, but acts, deeds, and definite things achieved, can. And people will take note of you. You can't keep a torch from throwing out its beams—if it is lit! All good work, in time, is noticed, together with the one who performs it.

We are a somebody the moment we do something that is noteworthy and useful. We are a nobody until we do!

Lake Carriers Bid To Settle Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association proposed a reduced work week for striking CIO seamen on the Great Lakes tonight but the offer brought no immediate promise of a general settlement.

Spokesmen for the National Maritime Union (CIO), when told of the carriers' association announcement, said there could be no "adequate" understanding unless the proposal "spells out" a satisfactory answer to all union demands.

As the seamen's strike was concluding its 13th day, President A. T. Wood, of the carriers group, said at Cleveland the association had recommended to its members establishment of a minimum wage scale based on an "at sea" work week of 48 hours and 44 hours in port.

This was the strike settlement pattern to which one bulk freighter firm, Bethlehem Transportation of New York, and five tanker companies had subscribed earlier. Originally the union had demanded a 40-hour week. The work week has been 56 hours.

NLRB Rules "Anti-CIO" Speech Violated Act

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board held two to one today that a New York firm violated the Wagner Act by assembling its employes during working hours to listen to an "anti-CIO" speech.

Reds Report Gains For Chiang Troops

NANKING, Aug. 28 (AP)—China's undeclared civil war continued with renewed violence today in the north as government forces drove on Chengteh, capital of Jehol Province, and Communists struck at the Peiping-Mukden railroad.

Definite gains were made by the Nationalists (central government) in the thrust at Chengteh, the Communist radio at Yenan admitted.

This offensive followed the recent Nationalist threat to attack Communist strongholds in an effort to relieve the month-old Red siege of Tatung, important rail center west of Peiping.

The Nationalists were striking toward Chengteh from the east and north, and Yenan reported fierce fighting raging in the eastern and middle sections of Jehol Province.

To the east, one Nationalist division captured the county town of Ningcheng. This represented a 50-mile advance in the drive launched last week.

Five Youths Held Following Holdup

CONOWINGO, Md., Aug. 28. (AP)—Five youths were arrested today in connection with a filling station holdup at Avondale, Pa., after Maryland State Police stopped a stolen Washington, D. C., automobile at a highway blockade.

A loaded 38 caliber revolver was found on the car floor, but the quintet surrendered without resistance to Cpl. John Lambeck and Troopers Stanley Taplow and Paul Mahan.

The five awaited Avondale authorities in Elkton jail.

The suspects' car was halted less than three hours after Pennsylvania police broadcast the alarm. The filling station proprietor was held up at gun point and robbed of $9, a radio, and 30 packages of cigarettes.

Rites To Be Held Today For Former Jurist

ELKTON, Ky., Aug. 28—(AP)—James Clark McReynolds, who rose to a seat on the nation's highest tribunal, came back to his boyhood home in death today to be buried here Thursday.

The body of the 84-year-old former Supreme Court justice was brought from Washington to the old McReynolds home today, and at 10 a. m. Thursday it will be removed to the Christian Church, where the jurist worshipped when in Elkton, or last rites at 2 p. m.

Burial will be in Glenwood cemetery where McReynolds' parents, Dr. John Oliver and Ellen McReynolds, are buried.

Johnson said the membership committee which discussed the applications was a committee of the whole and that no new information had been submitted by Albania and Outer Mongolia to clear up United States "misgivings."

Gromyko countered with a remark that Johnson did not have the patience to wait until general discussion might be had for comment on each application.

Johnson replied to the charge of inconsistency by Gromyko with the statement that he had advocated the admission of the eight on the basis of universality, with the hope that the United States' doubts on Albania and Outer Mongolia would be dispelled once the nations were in the United Nations.

Anti-Trust Suits In Supply Sales Being Prepared

Conspiracy To Mulct Federal, Local Governments Is Charged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The Justice Department is readying anti-trust suits against a number of companies its charges have been conspiring to mulct the federal and local governments in the sale of supplies.

One suit will be filed next week, an official in close touch with the situation said today. Others are in the preparatory stage.

The suits are the result of an investigation designed to stamp out alleged identical bidding and monopoly practices in the sale of many products purchased by federal, state and local governments.

The official told a reporter that many of the products are essential to government operations and to public health and safety. He declined to name them.

The investigation has been under way for several months by the department's anti-trust division. It first received complaints from several states and cities of identical bidding. Justice Department agents who investigated found evidence of alleged conspiracies and monoplies in the sale of many items.

The official reported such practices as:

1. Lowering bids to squeeze out competition and then boosting bids back to high levels.
2. Rotating bids among the parties to an alleged conspiracy.
3. Allocating cities to one company or group of companies exclusively.
4. Identical bidding, or bids in which identical figures appeared so often that they suggested collusion.
5. Buying out small companies to eliminate competition.

Fund Given To Man Who Rescued Cop

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP) — City police have donated more than $2,500 for the benefit of Simon Fried, 38-year-old tailor who was wounded last Thursday when he went to the aid of a policeman being attacked by an armed assailant.

Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson, in announcing the amount of the fund today, said "Fried's courageous act undoubtedly saved the policeman's life. x x x"

Patrolman Edwin J. Humphries of the Northeastern District was trying to halt an altercation between a negro and two women when the man turned on him.

The patrolman drew his gun and the negro, Willie James Hines, 25, knocked it from his hand, police reported. Fried, sitting on the steps of his home, picked up the gun and pointed it at Hines. Witnesses said Hines produced a gun and fired three shots, one of which struck the tailor in his side, lodging near his pelvis.

Fried, father of two young girls, is reported recovering. Three members of the Police Department have given blood transfusions.

Hines is in jail facing two charges of shooting with intent to kill.

National Memorial Will Honor Pharmacists

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28 (AP)—Pharmacists who gave their time, skill and even their lives in the service of their country will be honored in a national memorial to be erected by the American Pharmaceutical Association in Washington.

Announcement of plans for a memorial—a bronze flagstaff in a landscaped setting on the grounds of the association's national headquarters—was made yesterday at the group's 92nd annual convention by Dr. George A. Moulton, president of the organization.

He disclosed the memorial was made possible by a grant from Dr. H. A. B. Dunning of Baltimore, Spanish-American War veteran, last president and life member of the association.

Fund Given To Man Who Rescued Cop

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP) — City police have donated more than $2,500 for the benefit of Simon Fried, 38-year-old tailor who was wounded last Thursday when he went to the aid of a policeman being attacked by an armed assailant.

Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson, in announcing the amount of the fund today, said "Fried's courageous act undoubtedly saved the policeman's life. x x x"

Patrolman Edwin J. Humphries of the Northeastern District was trying to halt an altercation between a negro and two women when the man turned on him.

The patrolman drew his gun and the negro, Willie James Hines, 25, knocked it from his hand, police reported. Fried, sitting on the steps of his home, picked up the gun and pointed it at Hines. Witnesses said Hines produced a gun and fired three shots, one of which struck the tailor in his side, lodging near his pelvis.

Fried, father of two young girls, is reported recovering. Three members of the Police Department have given blood transfusions.

National Memorial Will Honor Pharmacists

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28 (AP)—Pharmacists who gave their time, skill and even their lives in the service of their country will be honored in a national memorial to be erected by the American Pharmaceutical Association in Washington.

Announcement of plans for a memorial—a bronze flagstaff in a landscaped setting on the grounds of the association's national headquarters—was made yesterday at the group's 92nd annual convention by Dr. George A. Moulton, president of the organization.

He disclosed the memorial was made possible by a grant from Dr. H. A. B. Dunning of Baltimore, Spanish-American War veteran, last president and life member of the association.

Ceilings Coming Back With Much Uncertainity

Price ceilings to the consumer will go back September 9, at or near the levels that existed on June 30. The steps of recontrol will be gradual and staggered, with ceilings being placed on livestock August 29, at the packing houses September 1, a wholesale levels September 5. At the same time price ceilings are to be kept off, for a while at least, on milk, butter, other dairy products and most grains.

These rulings by President Truman's Price Decontrol Board will displease many people—producers, processors and sellers of the first group of commodities, consumers of the second.

The board's function, it is fair to remember, is not to attempt the impossible job of pleasing everybody. Its function is to make decisions in accordance with the law by which Congress revived the OPA but laid down a policy of decontrolling prices "as rapidly as possible." And, in making these decisions, its discretion is limited.

In order to restore price controls on any of the products mentioned in the order last Tuesday night the board had to find that each and all of four conditions exist:

That the product's price has risen "unreasonably" above the June 30 OPA ceiling, plus any subsidy then being paid; that the product is in short supply; that renewed control is practicable and enforceable; that renewed control will serve the public interest. All of these conditions, of course, are to some extent matters of judgment. We believe the board's members—Roy L. Thompson, Daniel W. Bell and George H. Mead—are careful, conscientious men, and we see no reason to doubt the sincerity of their judgment.

They found that dairy products and most grains are not in short supply—they were impressed by Government forecasts of huge grain crops—and that their prices have not risen unreasonably, and for that reason refused to order recontrol. They found all four conditions to exist in the cases of livestocks and meats, soybeans and cottonseed products, and so ordered their re-control, along with resumption of the Government livestock subsidies through which part of everybody's meat bill will be passed on to the taxpayers.

We certainly hope the board is correct in its opinion that restored meat controls are practicable and can be enforced by the OPA. Administrator Paul Porter has promised to "throw the book" at black marketeers. But unless enforcement is very much more effective than it was before June 30, the meat that has been so plentiful in most butchers' show cases these past few weeks will go out of view again. And consumers will be back in the position of enjoying lower legal prices—but not very many steaks, roasts and chops unless they pay tribute to operators of the black market.

It still is questionable whether consumers would rather pay the prices now in existence, get what they desire in meats, or run the risk of having a choice at a premium. There are those who contend meat prices would have leveled off to those existing before OPA died, if given a reasonable time for supply to catch up with demand. But now, with price ceilings to be restored, it means that that period of readjustment is merely being delayed.

Now that a rose has been televised, odor and all, perhaps there is hope that some of the cheese broadcasts will soon be kaput.

Fumble In Cruelty Trials Is Retrieved

Army justice fumbled badly in the Lichfield cruelty trials when the court punished enlisted men far more severely than it did the officers under whom they were serving. The men who gave the orders, it would seem, ought to bear a far heavier burden of responsibility for the brutalities practiced at the detention camp than the soldiers who executed them.

But while GIs were heavily penalized by sentences carrying dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of pay and allowances, and long periods of confinement, the first officers to be tried and convicted got off far more lightly.

The War Department has now acted to remedy this error. The sentences given to the officers could not be made more severe. But the prison sentences of two former sergeants who were convicted have been suspended and the dishonorable discharge order for one has been rescinded to equalize their punishment with that handed the men higher up. Both have also been restored to duty.

It would have been an extremely bad thing for Army morale if these sentences had been allowed to stand. The contrast between the punishment ordered for officers and enlisted men was so great and so obviously and grossly unfair that GIs were understandably resentful.

It is too bad that the court could not have realized the danger and injustice of treating enlisted men so much more severely than their superior officers.

Government is disposing of large stocks of surplus aluminum, in case housewives want to get their discarded coffee pots back.

Wrong Way To Start To Learn How To Fly

A seventeen-year-old theatre usher in Washington stole a plane and took off after dark without having had a single lesson. Of course he cracked up in landing, but was fortunate enough to escape injury and was jailed.

Now Captain George H. Maines, Americanization director for the Army and Navy Union, proposes to seek a parole for the boy and send him to flying school at the organization's expense. He believes that a boy who wants to fly as badly as this boy did ought to have a chance. Which is all very good, so far as the motive of the Army and Navy Union is concerned.

But it occurs to us that the publicity attending the thing is just liable to put ideas into the heads of a lot of other youths who want to fly just as badly as did the usher.

Better that the Army and Navy Union had gone about the job it wanted to do without publicizing its plans and thus making a lot of other kids think about trying to get into the flying game via the same route.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

OVEREATING MEANS OVERWEIGHT

IN THE majority of cases of overweight the cause is easy to determine—too much food and too little exercise. Sometimes obesity "runs in families," which means that the eating habits of the entire household need reorganization.

Most authorities agree that excess poundage is a hazard to health. Altho many such individuals are active and show remarkable vigor, others complain of shortness of breath, palpitation, and difficulty in walking. Furthermore, should illness appear, the chances of survival are less than of their slimmer companions. In addition, there is more likelihood of their developing high blood pressure and diseases of the heart, blood vessels, and kidneys.

Numerous studies have been made to demonstrate the dangers. Recently a group of physicians reported statistical data obtained from the records of 22,741 army officers. Among the subjects were several men who had been given many physical examinations and, at one time or another, the blood pressure and pulse were elevated. But the rises were temporary for, on other occasions, normal readings were observed. Among these individuals were some who were too heavy—20 or more pounds beyond the standard outlined in army regulations.

As the years went by, it was found that the fatties were 12 times more prone to suffer permanent hypertension and heart defects than their normal or underweight colleagues who had shown the same manifestations years before. The probability of being retired from service because of cardiovascular trouble was four times greater among the portly.

Since glandular disorders are responsible in a few instances, checkups along this line are in order. Should the thyroid or pituitary be lazy, appropriate extracts will aid in taking off the blubber. When food is to blame, fewer calories must be consumed, which is not easy because eating has become a pleasant custom. The obese person, therefore, should make up his mind to cooperate, or not start the venture.

Many do well by eliminating a meal daily or cutting in half the intake of carbohydrates and fats. Sometimes avoiding desserts is all that is necessary. As a rule, however, a strict diet—between 600 to 1,200 calories—is preferred. Candy is forbidden and saccharin is substituted for sugar; care should be taken not to shirk on minerals or vitamins. Because considerable weight consists of water, the daily ration of liquids must be restricted to the equivalent of six glasses. Salt must be also curtailed to decrease the tendency to retain fluid.

It is always best to reduce gradually. One pound a week is 52 a year. Weakness may be relieved by taking four tiny meals a day rather than the customary two or three. Preparations such as benzedrine or dexedrine are of value in curbing appetite. The program of exercise must be built up gradually and the amount of walking increased. Good judgment must be used, keeping in mind the age and physical condition.

Once weight has been lost it will return quickly if the former eating patterns are resumed. This probably explains why the overall picture in obesity is not too favorable for, by the end of five years, a large number are back where they started.

[Send stamped, addressed envelope for low calory diets.]

NO SALT

A. W. writes: In what conditions is a salt free diet indicated?

REPLY

Sodium chloride is restricted when dropsy (edema) exists, as this element causes fluid to be held in the tissues. Hence the plan is recommended in certain types of circulatory disturbances such as heart or kidney trouble, as well as in conditions where dehydration is desirable such as epilepsy, Meniere's disease, and overweight due to excess water retention.

FEET TICKLE

H. G. writes: I am 15 years old and, upon retiring, I suffer with a tickling sensation in the arches of my feet. I do not have a rash of any kind and my feet are not cold. Will you please enlighten me?

REPLY

Itching of the skin is rather common when the clothes are first removed. This may be due to change of temperature, the release of pressure from the clothes, or perspiration.

LEG BLEMISH

M. J. writes: Three years ago I had an ulcer on my leg due to infection. The spot is still discolored. Is there anything I can use to bleach it?

REPLY

I doubt if the pigmented area can be bleached, but disguise is possible by various cosmetic preparations.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By PAUL A. PORTER

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today's by Paul A. Porter, administrator of the Office of Price Administration.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—I want to use this space to write about one of the greatest living Americans. He is not a candidate for office so what I say can do him no harm. I am the administrator of a temporary agency that has only one year to go, so I cannot justly be charged with attempting to curry his favor. And the further fact that no words of mine could add to his stature or diminish the luster of his distinguished career leaves me the justification that he is a fellow Kentuckian and my Senator and I want to say what I think about him.

It is my firm belief that when historians are able to appraise objectively the developments of this era, those with perception will conclude that Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as much or more than any single individual preserved the functions and integrity of representative government during a period of great change. As majority leader of the United States Senate, his has been one of the most difficult of all post-war assignments. Our system does not surround the office of majority leader with the apparatus of protection and staff work which properly serve the White House or Cabinet positions or even a lowly price administrator.

The majority leader is directly exposed to all the pressures of his own constituency, and in addition must bear the burdens that flow from the vast and complex welter of legislative problems that his responsibility requires he master. Moreover, he is on the firing line of legislative debate, day in and day out, and has the duty of guiding through the shoals and quicksands of controversy a program which is composed of many issues, great and small. This is a task that requires the ability to exercise promptly a thousand judgments. It calls for a sound concept of strategy and great personal leadership. These qualifications are possessed by my Senator to an unexcelled degree.

Barkley Pressed Congress

The 79th Congress did not accomplish all that everyone hoped or expected. Much of President Truman's program was not enacted into law. There were compromises and adjustments that, depending upon one's point of view, were unsatisfactory. Certainly I was not satisfied with the ultimate decision on price control. But most of these deficiencies relate to transitory issues which perhaps are not too important as measured by time.

On the basic challenge of the day, the 79th Congress, in my judgment, did measure up. I forever sealed, I hope, any doubts that the United States will not fully discharge its world obligations in this atomic age. Further, it gave to the world a ringing example of a representative government functioning for a free people while other systems were fumbling and struggling for stability. For these fundamental achievements Senator Barkley, in my view, had major responsibility.

It is well known that Senator Barkley's hero is Woodrow Wilson. These two figures have much in common in their philosophy of government and concept of public responsibility. The kind of enduring liberalism espoused by Wilson and championed and made effective by Barkley in this generation is the course where lies the greatest hope for America. Indeed the New Deal of Roosevelt of which Senator Barkley was one of the principal legislative architects was, I suspect, in the Senator's view merely a timely evolution of Wilsonian ideals.

Quotes Wilson

I came across a singular parallelism recently in rereading Wilson's "Calendar of Great Americans." In writing of an illustrious predecessor of Senator Barkley's, Wilson said:

"In Henry Clay we have an American of a most authentic pattern. There was no man of his generation who represented more of America than he did. The singular, almost irresistible attraction he had for men of every class and every temperament came, not from the arts of the politician, but from the instant sympathy established between him and every fellow-countryman of his."

Some future historian cannot but apply Wilson's description of Clay to Senator Barkley. The characterization is too strikingly similar to go unnoticed.

Wilson's influence on Senator Barkley obviously has been profound. Although I have no way of knowing, I suspect that when the majority leader is harassed and troubled, he turns to Wilson's writings for comfort and solace. Indeed Senator Barkley's public utterances are usually flavored with the dignity and sweep of a Wilsonian essay. And I have seen no better statement of what I know to be Senator Barkley's political philosophy than this excerpt of Wilson's great address at the dedication of Congress Hall in Philadelphia in 1913:

"Politics, ladies and gentlemen, is made up in just about equal parts of compensation and sympathy. No man ought to go into politics who does not comprehend the task that he is going to attack. He may comprehend it so completely that it daunts him, that he doubts whether his own spirit is stout enough and his own mind able enough to attempt its great undertakings, but unless he comprehend it he ought not to enter it. After he has comprehended it, there should come into his mind those profound impulses of sympathy

MAN SHORTAGE

Statistics show that the man shortage, from a matrimonial viewpoint, is critical and growing worse with a surplus of six million eligible women on the loose. . . . And to add to the confusion, Hollywood is reviving "Little Women." . . .

There's a bumper crop of "tomatoes" this year, so if you're happily married, keep an eye on the old man . . . it looks as if there'd be a battle of the sexes, with no holds barred. . . . Just today I saw an ad in the paper that read: "Attractive girl looking for a man with future, object — half Nelson."

We've got the old eternal triangle back with us, but this time "the other woman" is cutting corners. I won't say the girls are anxious but when you call on one now . . . she meets you at the window with a small trunk and a stepladder! No kidding, they have really become flirtatious. . . . In fact, they are now putting yo-yo strings on women's handkerchiefs. One girl I know was so intent upon getting her man, she joined the Northwest Mounted Police. And the boys are really getting independent. . . . In fact, if it weren't for this nose of mine, I never would've been hooked.

I'd like to give you girls a little advice, though. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach. . . . And I've got the heartburn to prove it. Give him a good homecooked meal and you can't miss. . . . Of course, a few knockout drops for dessert won't hurt.

But I think the girls are worrying needlessly. There's not really a man shortage . . . if you look behind Lana Turner, you'll find those missing guys.

Full Freedom Of Information Key To World Unity

By MARK SULLIVAN

From the United States Yugoslavia has received some 200 million dollars worth of food, clothing and farm implements. From us came 80 per cent of all the supplies Yugoslavia has received from all the countries contributing to UNRRA.

These facts, ex-President Hoover points out, are unknown to the Yugoslav people: "It is a Communist state, with a completely controlled press." The distribution of the food and other supplies we give the Yugoslav people is in the hands of Communist officials. By this control, the Communist regime increases its power over the people, who are not permitted to know the source of the supplies. Further Mr. Hoover points out: "Tito has an army of 750,000 men out of a population of 14 millions. These men should have been home farming and rehabilitating the nation. Instead, directly or indirectly, UNRRA was supporting Tito's army."

Two Conditions Involved

Here are involved two conditions basic in our relations with Communist governments, the satellite ones such as Yugoslavia and the head one in Russia. The first is, distinction between governments and peoples—between peoples with whom we would like to be friendly and could be, and governments which are not friendly themselves, and deny us the opportunity of friendliness with and from their peoples. The second condition is, freedom of information.

It can be taken for granted as most unlikely that the Yugoslav people, as people, would have shot down American airmen. It is more likely that the Yugoslav people would have felt friendliness toward the country that helped them in war and peace, and camaraderie toward its soldiers.

Denial of access by their peoples to information about help received from the United States is a cardinal policy of Communist governments. It is a main reason for the iron curtain which the Russian government maintains to separate the rest of the world from its people and the peoples of the neighboring countries upon which it has imposed its regime.

Followed in War and Peace

The practice is followed in war and in peace. During the war, the Russian people were not aware of the vast military supplies we were sending to that country—until a forthright American ambassador in Moscow, in what was presumably a calculated diplomatic indiscretion, publicly called attention to the condition, and the Russian government let information reach its people.

Part of the motive of the Russian heads may be relatively understandable, it may be they did not wish their people to know the country's military weakness. But that would be merely a part of a broader motive. They may have been reluctant to let their people know the industrial and economic weakness of Communism after twenty-five years of practice of it. During those years, the Russian government had been telling its people that the western countries, practicing private ownership of industry, were weak, that the capitalist system everywhere was at the point of collapse, and the government may have been reluctant to admit that those countries were strong. The government had been telling its people that the western countries practicing capitalism were their enemies and may have been reluctant to call attention to the friendship those countries were now practicing as allies.

Communist Defensive Strategy

Denial of information to their own peoples is a defensive strategy of Communist heads everywhere. What is at the bottom of the world's present turmoil is a conflict between the Communist ideology and system, and the one practiced by us. It is a contest for allegiance of the minds of men everywhere to one system or the other. Men can only take their stands intelligently and in accord with their own natures if they have access to information. Most obviously the Communist heads fear that if men have such access they will prefer our system. We ourselves have such confidence in our system that we permit completely free access to information about it, even to those who, in transmission through the iron curtain to their peoples practice suppression or distortion.

Of all the proposals for peace and friendship among nations, current in the organizing of the United Nations and elsewhere, the most unqualified promise of helpfulness lies in the proposal for world-wide freedom of information. It is delicate to propose, and if adopted would be difficult to impose. For it includes not merely freedom of one nation to get information about another, but freedom of the people within one nation to get information about all others. This brings it technically within the category of prescribing a domestic condition within a nation.

Truman-Congress Vacation May Prove Costly To U. S. Economy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—This may become known at some future time as "the lost summer." For this was the period when the presence of President Truman and Congress was most needed in Washington. Instead Congress and the administration decided on a holiday, and the nation's most important task—reconversion from war to a peacetime economy—has been neglected.

Nobody begrudges anybody who is tired or fatigued a chance for rest. But the Congress and the President didn't agree on the recess just to get a rest. Their reason was to get a chance to handle the political campaigns and preparations for elections.

Almost everybody in Washington has grown so accustomed to excusing politicians when they want to play politics that it is natural to speak of how tired and worn out our officials and elected officers happen to be. Actually men in business and men in the ranks of labor do not get such long vacations with pay. The business of the nation is no exception to the rule which requires fidelity to the job.

Long Recess Not Justified

If these were normal times, a long recess of Congress would be justified. But these are not normal times, and what was neglected this summer can show up in another twelve to eighteen months in a severe decline in business and employment.

The administration and congress have run away from their responsibilities, and the strangest part of it is that the country does not seem to have expressed any particular protest, possibly it is because the people as a whole are not aware of the economic dangers which face them in the next few years and of the imperative need of action in 1946 to prevent the damage which will have been done by 1947 and 1948.

The problems which are most acute relate to the distribution of materials and the fixing of wages and prices. The American economy is today rudderless. Even the so-called liberals who used to argue for economic planning have abandoned their fight, and now it is every group for itself and no consideration is given to the impact of any group's demands on the whole economic system.

Price Problem Unsolved.

The price problem was not solved by Congress or the administration. The labor problem was scuttled by the President. After declaring to the joint session of Congress last May that he wanted a study made to improve labor-management relations, Mr. Truman never made another public statement or pressed for the settlement of that question. Likewise, the president told the country that in vetoing the Case bill he knew the nation was not facing a choice between that bill or no legislation. Yet that is exactly what happened, and the president never made the slightest effort to get any other legislation passed.

As a consequence, collectivism is thriving inside the American labor movement and the laws of Congress which should be placed on the basis of a fair deal for both management and labor are helping the collectivists.

The immediate consequence of this failure to remedy the labor laws is to create more and more monopolies. The labor unions, with their closed shops, have a monopoly on manpower and are using it. The big industries have a virtually monopolistic position because they need have no fear of growing competitors. All the anti-trust laws in the world will not restore competition when small businesses are forced to liquidate because big unions impose nationwide or industrywide scales on companies which do not have enough volume of business to compete with the larger units and pay the high costs.

Free Competition Days Numbered

The days of free competition in America are numbered. An actual alliance between big unions and big business could not deal any more severely with the smaller businesses than the labor unions have with their misuse of the collective bargaining power. More than 500,000 businesses were forced to liquidate in the war years, but many of them cannot get back into production because they cannot operate at a profit with the present wage scales and in some instances with the present price ceilings.

This summer offorded an opportunity for Congress to restore competition in America by removing the barriers of monopoly which have been restraining the growth of small businesses. But Congress voted itself an increase in pay, adjourned and the President went fishing. Within the next two years the effects of this loss of time will become manifest in an economic crisis of major proportions.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I am married to a very pretty girl. I'm not saying this just to make a hit with the missus. Long before I met her, photographers popped thousands of flashbulbs in her face. Twenty million people saw her on the cover of "Life." Three generals and one stale ambassador had to wait in line because the editors of "Time" thought my wife in a bathing suit would sell more magazines. Nine million customers knocked down the doors of the Aquacade to see her in person. Eleanor Holm was born pretty—why, then, does it take her an hour to make up? Why does this have to happen every time we go to the theatre?:

Billy Rose

"I have a couple down front for the opening tonight, Baby. Let's be on time for a change."

"All right—what are you standing there for? You know I always have to wait for you."

I swan-dive into the tub, hack wildly at my beard, shift coins and keys from Pants A to Pants B, leap into my duds like a fireman, and in exactly twelve minutes present myself for inspection.

* * *

Eleanor has placidly planted herself before the triple mirror of her dressing table. Like a surgeon's forceps and sponges, she has neatly laid out her oils, unguents, creams, lotions, pigments, perfumes, pads and brushes. There are one or two gadgets which look like holdovers from the Inquisition.

"Darling," I say, "the sun comes up just for the privilege of seeing you. What's this drugstore for? You're not Gravel Gertie or Lena the Hyena. Why do you need all this camouflage?"

"Go away," she explains.

I stomp off and find the evening paper. After I have finished the editorials, the classified ads, and as much as I can do of the crossword puzzle, I begin to get a little impatient.

"Darling," I sing out, "it took Da Vinci four years to paint the Mona Lisa. Do you think you can shave a few seconds off his record?"

"Don't talk to me now," she commands. "I'm putting on my lips."

It's now eight-twenty. I think of the author of tonight's play, whose custom it is to stand in the lobby, and stab late-comers with contemptuous eyes. How can I explain to him that it's all Elizabeth Arden's fault.

What a sweet touch that cosmetic business is! Fifteen cents worth of stickum, a few drops of scent, a frou-frou package—twenty dollars, please! No blast furnaces, no assembly lines, no John L. Lewis—just a chemist in the cellar and sex-times-sex in the ads. You don't need Willow Run when you're peddling dreams.

It's eight-forty now. On West 45th St. there's an electric hush as the curtain goes up. The little woman is now coming out of the bedroom. She poses for an instant on the threshhold. She looks wonderful—BUT SHE LOOKED THAT WAY BEFORE SHE STARTED!

"You'll knock their eyes out, Baby," I croon. "The men will drool when they see you."

"I'm not worried about the men," she smiles. "It's the women—those Shubert Alley-cats."

* * *

And then I get it. I remember James Thurber's line about there being nothing so completely drained of human feeling as the look one woman gives another when they meet. All this cosmeticking is armor against the female glance which X-rays a woman and knows in a split-second the price tag on her girdle.

Our drive to the theatre is like a Mack Sennett chase. We stumble to our seats over umbrellas, coats and feet—two of which belong to a drama critic, who makes a note to write his next Sunday piece about the vile manners of first night audiences. As we settle down to enjoy the play, the lights come up and the first act is over.

"I'll see you in the lobby," says my frau. "I'm going down to the powder room to freshen up a bit."

Ceilings Coming Back With Much Uncertainity

Price ceilings to the consumer will go back September 9, at or near the levels that existed on June 30. The steps of recontrol will be gradual and staggered, with ceilings being placed on livestock August 29, at the packing houses September 1, a wholesale levels September 5. At the same time price ceilings are to be kept off, for a while at least, on milk, butter, other dairy products and most grains.

These rulings by President Truman's Price Decontrol Board will displease many people—producers, processors and sellers of the first group of commodities, consumers of the second.

The board's function, it is fair to remember, is not to attempt the impossible job of pleasing everybody. Its function is to make decisions in accordance with the law by which Congress revived the OPA but laid down a policy of decontrolling prices "as rapidly as possible." And, in making these decisions, its discretion is limited.

In order to restore price controls on any of the products mentioned in the order last Tuesday night the board had to find that each and all of four conditions exist:

That the product's price has risen "unreasonably" above the June 30 OPA ceiling, plus any subsidy then being paid; that the product is in short supply; that renewed control is practicable and enforceable; that renewed control will serve the public interest. All of these conditions, of course, are to some extent matters of judgment. We believe the board's members—Roy L. Thompson, Daniel W. Bell and George H. Mead—are careful, conscientious men, and we see no reason to doubt the sincerity of their judgment.

They found that dairy products and most grains are not in short supply—they were impressed by Government forecasts of huge grain crops—and that their prices have not risen unreasonably, and for that reason refused to order recontrol. They found all four conditions to exist in the cases of livestocks and meats, soybeans and cottonseed products, and so ordered their re-control, along with resumption of the Government livestock subsidies through which part of everybody's meat bill will be passed on to the taxpayers.

We certainly hope the board is correct in its opinion that restored meat controls are practicable and can be enforced by the OPA. Administrator Paul Porter has promised to "throw the book" at black marketeers. But unless enforcement is very much more effective than it was before June 30, the meat that has been so plentiful in most butchers' show cases these past few weeks will go out of view again. And consumers will be back in the position of enjoying lower legal prices—but not very many steaks, roasts and chops unless they pay tribute to operators of the black market.

It still is questionable whether consumers would rather pay the prices now in existence, get what they desire in meats, or run the risk of having a choice at a premium. There are those who contend meat prices would have leveled off to those existing before OPA died, if given a reasonable time for supply to catch up with demand. But now, with price ceilings to be restored, it means that that period of readjustment is merely being delayed.

Now that a rose has been televised, odor and all, perhaps there is hope that some of the cheese broadcasts will soon be kaput.

Fumble In Cruelty Trials Is Retrieved

Army justice fumbled badly in the Lichfield cruelty trials when the court punished enlisted men far more severely than it did the officers under whom they were serving. The men who gave the orders, it would seem, ought to bear a far heavier burden of responsibility for the brutalities practiced at the detention camp than the soldiers who executed them.

But while GIs were heavily penalized by sentences carrying dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of pay and allowances, and long periods of confinement, the first officers to be tried and convicted got off far more lightly.

The War Department has now acted to remedy this error. The sentences given to the officers could not be made more severe. But the prison sentences of two former sergeants who were convicted have been suspended and the dishonorable discharge order for one has been rescinded to equalize their punishment with that handed the men higher up. Both have also been restored to duty.

It would have been an extremely bad thing for Army morale if these sentences had been allowed to stand. The contrast between the punishment ordered for officers and enlisted men was so great and so obviously and grossly unfair that GIs were understandably resentful.

It is too bad that the court could not have realized the danger and injustice of treating enlisted men so much more severely than their superior officers.

Wrong Way To Start To Learn How To Fly

A seventeen-year-old theatre usher in Washington stole a plane and took off after dark without having had a single lesson. Of course he cracked up in landing, but was fortunate enough to escape injury and was jailed.

Now Captain George H. Maines, Americanization director for the Army and Navy Union, proposes to seek a parole for the boy and send him to flying school at the organization's expense. He believes that a boy who wants to fly as badly as this boy did ought to have a chance. Which is all very good, so far as the motive of the Army and Navy Union is concerned.

But it occurs to us that the publicity attending the thing is just liable to put ideas into the heads of a lot of other youths who want to fly just as badly as did the usher.

Better that the Army and Navy Union had gone about the job it wanted to do without publicizing its plans and thus making a lot of other kids think about trying to get into the flying game via the same route.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

OVEREATING MEANS OVERWEIGHT

IN THE majority of cases of overweight the cause is easy to determine—too much food and too little exercise. Sometimes obesity "runs in families," which means that the eating habits of the entire household need reorganization.

Most authorities agree that excess poundage is a hazard to health. Altho many such individuals are active and show remarkable vigor, others complain of shortness of breath, palpitation, and difficulty in walking. Furthermore, should illness appear, the chances of survival are less than of their slimmer companions. In addition, there is more likelihood of their developing high blood pressure and diseases of the heart, blood vessels, and kidneys.

Numerous studies have been made to demonstrate the dangers. Recently a group of physicians reported statistical data obtained from the records of 22,741 army officers. Among the subjects were several men who had been given many physical examinations and, at one time or another, the blood pressure and pulse were elevated. But the rises were temporary for, on other occasions, normal readings were observed. Among these individuals were some who were too heavy—20 or more pounds beyond the standard outlined in army regulations.

As the years went by, it was found that the fatties were 12 times more prone to suffer permanent hypertension and heart defects than their normal or underweight colleagues who had shown the same manifestations years before. The probability of being retired from service because of cardiovascular trouble was four times greater among the portly.

Since glandular disorders are responsible in a few instances, check-ups along this line are in order. Should the thyroid or pituitary be lazy, appropriate extracts will aid in taking off the blubber. When food is to blame, fewer calories must be consumed, which is not easy because eating has become a pleasant custom. The obese person, therefore, should make up his mind to cooperate, or not start the venture.

Many do well by eliminating a meal daily or cutting in half the intake of carbohydrates and fats. Sometimes avoiding desserts is all that is necessary. As a rule, however, a strict diet—between 600 to 1,200 calories—is preferred. Candy is forbidden and saccharin is substituted for sugar; care should be taken not to shirk on minerals or vitamins. Because considerable weight consists of water, the daily ration of liquids must be restricted to the equivalent of six glasses. Salt must be also curtailed to decrease the tendency to retain fluid.

It is always best to reduce gradually. One pound a week is 52 a year. Weakness may be relieved by taking four tiny meals a day rather than the customary two or three. Preparations such as benzedrine or dexedrine are of value in curbing appetite. The program of exercise must be built up gradually and the amount of walking increased. Good judgment must be used, keeping in mind the age and physical condition.

Once weight has been lost it will return quickly if the former eating patterns are resumed. This probably explains why the overall picture in obesity is not too favorable for, by the end of five years, a large number are back where they started.

[Send stamped, addressed envelope for low calory diets.]

NO SALT

A. W. writes: In what conditions is a salt free diet indicated?

REPLY

Sodium chloride is restricted when dropsy (edema) exists, as this element causes fluid to be held in the tissues. Hence the plan is recommended in certain types of circulatory disturbances such as heart or kidney trouble, as well as in conditions where dehydration is desirable such as epilepsy, Meniere's disease, and overweight due to excess water retention.

FEET TICKLE

H. G. writes: I am 15 years old and, upon retiring, I suffer with a tickling sensation in the arches of my feet. I do not have a rash of any kind and my feet are not cold. Will you please enlighten me?

REPLY

Itching of the skin is rather common when the clothes are first removed. This may be due to change of temperature, the release of pressure from the clothes, or perspiration.

LEG BLEMISH

M. J. writes: Three years ago I had an ulcer on my leg due to infection. The spot is still discolored. Is there anything I can use to bleach it?

REPLY

I doubt if the pigmented area can be bleached, but disguise is possible by various cosmetic preparations.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By PAUL A. PORTER

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today's by Paul A. Porter, administrator of the Office of Price Administration.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—I want to use this space to write about one of the greatest living Americans. He is not a candidate for office so what I say can do him no harm. I am the administrator of a temporary agency that has only one year to go, so I cannot justly be charged with attempting to curry his favor. And the further fact that no words of mine could add to his stature or diminish the luster of his distinguished career leaves me the justification that he is a fellow Kentuckian and my Senator and I want to say what I think about him.

It is my firm belief that when historians are able to appraise objectively the developments of this era, those with perception will conclude that Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as much or more than any single individual preserved the functions and integrity of representative government during a period of great change. As majority leader of the United States Senate, his has been one of the most difficult of all post-war assignments. Our system does not surround the office of majority leader with the apparatus of protection and staff work which properly serve the White House or Cabinet positions or even a lowly price administrator.

The majority leader is directly exposed to all the pressures of his own constituency, and in addition must bear the burdens that flow from the vast and complex welter of legislative problems that his responsibility requires he master. Moreover, he is on the firing line of legislative debate, day in and day out, and has the duty of guiding through the shoals and quicksands of controversy a program which is composed of many issues, great and small. This is a task that requires the ability to exercise promptly a thousand judgments. It calls for a sound concept of strategy and great personal leadership. These qualifications are possessed by my Senator to an unexcelled degree.

Barkley Pressed Congress

The 79th Congress did not accomplish all that everyone hoped or expected. Much of President Truman's program was not enacted into law. There were compromises and adjustments that, depending upon one's point of view, were unsatisfactory. Certainly I was not satisfied with the ultimate decision on price control. But most of these deficiencies relate to transitory issues which perhaps are not too important as measured by time.

On the basic challenge of the day, the 79th Congress, in my judgment, did measure up. I forever sealed, I hope, any doubts that the United States will not fully discharge its world obligations in this atomic age. Further, it gave to the world a ringing example of a representative government functioning for a free people while other systems were fumbling and struggling for stability. For these fundamental achievements Senator Barkley, in my view, had major responsibility.

It is well known that Senator Barkley's hero is Woodrow Wilson. These two figures have much in common in their philosophy of government and concept of public responsibility. The kind of enduring liberalism espoused by Wilson and championed and made effective by Barkley in this generation is the course where lies the greatest hope for America. Indeed the New Deal of Roosevelt of which Senator Barkley was one of the principal legislative architects was, I suspect, in the Senator's view merely a timely evolution of Wilsonian ideals.

Quotes Wilson

I came across a singular parallelism recently in rereading Wilson's "Calendar of Great Americans." In writing of an illustrious predecessor of Senator Barkley's, Wilson said:

"In Henry Clay we have an American of a most authentic pattern. There was no man of his generation who represented more of America than he did. The singular, almost irresistible attraction he had for men of every class and every temperament came, not from the arts of the politician, but from the instant sympathy established between him and every fellow-countryman of his."

Some future historian cannot but apply Wilson's description of Clay to Senator Barkley. The characterization is too strikingly similar to go unnoticed.

Wilson's influence on Senator Barkley obviously has been profound. Although I have no way of knowing, I suspect that when the majority leader is harassed and troubled, he turns to Wilson's writings for comfort and solace. Indeed Senator Barkley's public utterances are usually flavored with the dignity and sweep of a Wilsonian essay. And I have seen no better statement of what I know to be Senator Barkley's political philosophy than this excerpt of Wilson's great address at the dedication of Congress Hall in Philadelphia in 1913:

"Politics, ladies and gentlemen, is made up in just about equal parts of compensation and sympathy. No man ought to go into politics who does not comprehend the task that he is going to attack. He may comprehend it so completely that it daunts him, that he doubts whether his own spirit is stout enough and his own mind able enough to attempt its great undertakings, but unless he comprehend it he ought not to enter it. After he has comprehended it, there should come into his mind those profound impulses of sympathy

Statistics show that the man shortage, from a matrimonial viewpoint, is critical and growing worse with a surplus of six million eligible women on the loose. . . . And to add to the confusion, Hollywood is reviving "Little Women." . . .

There's a bumper crop of "tomatoes" this year, so if you're happily married, keep an eye on the old man . . . it looks as if there'd be a battle of the sexes, with no holds barred. . . . Just today I saw an ad in the paper that read: "Attractive girl looking for a man with future, object — half Nelson."

We've got the old eternal triangle back with us, but this time "the other woman" is cutting corners. I won't say the girls are anxious but when you call on one now . . . she meets you at the window with a small trunk and a stepladder! No kidding, they have really become flirtatious. . . . In fact, they are now putting yo-yo strings on women's handkerchiefs. One girl I know was so intent upon getting her man, she joined the Northwest Mounted Police. And the boys are really getting independent. . . . In fact, if it weren't for this nose of mine, I never would've been hooked.

I'd like to give you girls a little advice, though. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach. . . . And I've got the heartburn to prove it. Give him a good homecooked meal and you can't miss. . . . Of course, a few knockout drops for dessert won't hurt.

But I think the girls are worrying needlessly. There's not really a man shortage . . . if you look behind Lana Turner, you'll find those missing guys.

Full Freedom Of Information Key To World Unity

By MARK SULLIVAN

From the United States Yugoslavia has received some 200 million dollars worth of food, clothing and farm implements. From us came 80 per cent of all the supplies Yugoslavia has received from all the countries contributing to UNRRA.

These facts, ex-President Hoover points out, are unknown to the Yugoslav people: "It is a Communist state, with a completely controlled press." The distribution of the food and other supplies we give the Yugoslav people is in the hands of Communist officials. By this control, the Communist regime increases its power over the people, who are not permitted to know the source of the supplies. Further Mr. Hoover points out: "Tito has an army of 750,000 men out of a population of 14 millions. These men should have been home farming and rehabilitating the nation. Instead, directly or indirectly, UNRRA was supporting Tito's army."

Two Conditions Involved

Here are involved two conditions basic in our relations with Communist governments, the satellite ones such as Yugoslavia and the head one in Russia. The first is, distinction between governments and peoples—between peoples with whom we would like to be friendly and could be, and governments which are not friendly themselves, and deny us the opportunity of friendliness with and from their peoples. The second condition is, freedom of information.

It can be taken for granted as most unlikely that the Yugoslav people, as people, would have shot down American airmen. It is more likely that the Yugoslav people would have felt friendliness toward the country that helped them in war and peace, and camaraderie toward its soldiers.

Denial of access by their peoples to information about help received from the United States is a cardinal policy of Communist governments. It is a main reason for the iron curtain which the Russian government maintains to separate the rest of the world from its people and the peoples of the neighboring countries upon which it has imposed its regime.

Followed in War and Peace

The practice is followed in war and in peace. During the war, the Russian people were not aware of the vast military supplies we were sending to that country—until a forthright American ambassador in Moscow, in what was presumably a calculated diplomatic indiscretion, publicly called attention to the condition, and the Russian government let information reach its people.

Part of the motive of the Russian heads may be relatively understandable, it may be they did not wish their people to know the country's military weakness. But that would be merely a part of a broader motive. They may have been reluctant to let their people know the industrial and economic weakness of Communism after twenty-five years of practice of it. During those years, the Russian government had been telling its people that the western countries, practicing private ownership of industry, were weak, that the capitalist system everywhere was at the point of collapse, and the government may have been reluctant to admit that those countries were strong. The government had been telling its people that the western countries practicing capitalism were their enemies and may have been reluctant to call attention to the friendship those countries were now practicing as allies.

Communist Defensive Strategy

Denial of information to their own peoples is a defensive strategy of Communist heads everywhere. What is at the bottom of the world's present turmoil is a conflict between the Communist ideology and system, and the one practiced by us. It is a contest for allegiance of the minds of men everywhere to one system or the other. Men can only take their stands intelligently and in accord with their own natures if they have access to information. Most obviously the Communist heads fear that if men have such access they will prefer our system. We ourselves have such confidence in our system that we permit completely free access to information about it, even to those who, in transmission through the iron curtain to their peoples practice suppression or distortion.

Of all the proposals for peace and friendship among nations, current in the organizing of the United Nations and elsewhere, the most unqualified promise of helpfulness lies in the proposal for world-wide freedom of information. It is delicate to propose, and if adopted would be difficult to impose. For it includes not merely freedom of one nation to get information about another, but freedom of the people within one nation to get information about all others. This brings it technically within the category of prescribing a domestic condition within a nation.

Truman-Congress Vacation May Prove Costly To U. S. Economy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—This may become known at some future time as "the lost summer." For this was the period when the presence of President Truman and Congress was most needed in Washington. Instead Congress and the administration decided on a holiday, and the nation's most important task—reconversion from war to a peacetime economy—has been neglected.

Nobody begrudges anybody who is tired or fatigued a chance for rest. But the Congress and the President didn't agree on the recess just to get a rest. Their reason was to get a chance to handle the political campaigns and preparations for elections.

Almost everybody in Washington has grown so accustomed to excusing politicians when they want to play politics that it is natural to speak of how tired and worn out our officials and elected officers happen to be. Actually men in business and men in the ranks of labor do not get such long vacations with pay. The business of the nation is no exception to the rule which requires fidelity to the job.

Long Recess Not Justified

If these were normal times, a long recess of Congress would be justified. But these are not normal times, and what was neglected this summer can show up in another twelve to eighteen months in a severe decline in business and employment.

The administration and congress have run away from their responsibilities, and the strangest part of it is that the country does not seem to have expressed any particular protest, possibly it is because the people as a whole are not aware of the economic dangers which face them in the next few years and of the imperative need of action in 1946 to prevent the damage which will have been done by 1947 and 1948.

The problems which are most acute relate to the distribution of materials and the fixing of wages and prices. The American economy is today rudderless. Even the so-called liberals who used to argue for economic planning have abandoned their fight, and now it is every group for itself and no consideration is given to the impact of any group's demands on the whole economic system.

Price Problem Unsolved.

The price problem was not solved by Congress or the administration. The labor problem was scuttled by the President. After declaring to the joint session of Congress last May that he wanted a study made to improve labor-management relations, Mr. Truman never made another public statement or pressed for the settlement of that question. Likewise, the president told the country that in vetoing the Case bill he knew the nation was not facing a choice between that bill or no legislation. Yet that is exactly what happened, and the president never made the slightest effort to get any other legislation passed.

As a consequence, collectivism is thriving inside the American labor movement and the laws of Congress which should be placed on the basis of a fair deal for both management and labor are helping the collectivists.

The immediate consequence of this failure to remedy the labor laws is to create more and more monopolies. The labor unions, with their closed shops, have a monopoly on manpower and are using it. The big industries have a virtually monopolistic position because they need have no fear of growing competitors. All the anti-trust laws in the world will not restore competition when small businesses are forced to liquidate because big unions impose nationwide or industrywide scales on companies which do not have enough volume of business to compete with the larger units and pay the high costs.

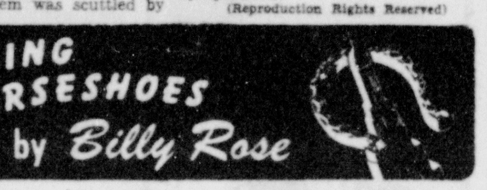

Free Competition Days Numbered

The days of free competition in America are numbered. An actual alliance between big unions and big business could not deal any more severely with the smaller businesses than the labor unions have with their misuse of the collective bargaining power. More than 500,000 businesses were forced to liquidate in the war years, but many of them cannot get back into production because they cannot operate at a profit with the present wage scales and in some instances with the present price ceilings.

This summer offorded an opportunity for Congress to restore competition in America by removing the barriers of monopoly which have been restraining the growth of small businesses. But Congress voted itself an increase in pay, adjourned and the President went fishing. Within the next two years the effects of this loss of time will become manifest in an economic crisis of major proportions.

"I have a couple down front for the opening tonight, Baby. Let's be on time for a change."

"All right—what are you standing there for? You know I always have to wait for you."

I swan-dive into the tub, hack wildly at my beard, shift coins and keys from Pants A to Pants B, leap into my duds like a fireman, and in exactly twelve minutes present myself for inspection.

* * *

Eleanor has placidly planted herself before the triple mirror of her dressing table. Like a surgeon's forceps and sponges, she has neatly laid out her oils, unguents, creams, lotions, pigments, perfumes, pads and brushes. There are one or two gadgets which look like holdovers from the Inquisition.

"Darling," I say, "the sun comes up just for the privilege of seeing you. What's this drugstore for? You're not Gravel Gertie or Lena the Hyena. Why do you need all this camouflage?"

"Go away," she explains.

I stomp off and find the evening paper. After I have finished the editorials, the classified ads, and as much as I can do of the crossword puzzle, I begin to get a little impatient.

"Darling," I sing out, "it took Da Vinci four years to paint the Mona Lisa. Do you think you can shave a few seconds off his record?"

"Don't talk to me now," she commands. "I'm putting on my lips."

It's now eight-twenty. I think of the author of tonight's play, whose custom it is to stand in the lobby, and stab late-comers with contemptuous eyes. How can I explain to him that it's all Elizabeth Arden's fault.

What a sweet touch that cosmetic business is! Fifteen cents worth of stickum, a few drops of scent, a frou-frou package—twenty dollars, please! No blast furnaces, no assembly lines, no John L. Lewis—just a chemist in the cellar and sextimes-sex in the ads. You don't need Willow Run when you're peddling dreams.

It's eight-forty now. On West 45th St. there's an electric hush as the curtain goes up. The little woman is now coming out of the bedroom. She poses for an instant on the threshhold. She looks wonderful—BUT SHE LOOKED THAT WAY BEFORE SHE STARTED!

"You'll knock their eyes out, Baby," I croon. "The men will drool when they see you."

"I'm not worried about the men," she smiles. "It's the women—those Shubert Alley-cats."

* * *

And then I get it. I remember James Thurber's line about there being nothing so completely drained of human feeling as the look one woman gives another when they meet. All this cosmeticking is armor against the female glance which X-rays a woman and knows in a split-second the price tag on her girdle.

Our drive to the theatre is like a Mack Sennett chase. We stumble to our seats over umbrellas, coats and feet—two of which belong to a drama critic, who makes a note to write his next Sunday piece about the vile manners of first night audiences. As we settle down to enjoy the play, the lights come up and the first act is over.

"I'll see you in the lobby," says my frau. "I'm going down to the powder room to freshen up a bit."

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Confronted by Difficult Choice; Is She Right In Breaking Her Promise?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love And Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and going steady with a boy of 17. We have been going together for a long time and have never had an argument. A long time ago, we said we would never keep anything of importance from the other, and I have not—that is, until now.

His closest friend came up to see me about a week ago and told me he loved me and wanted me, in spite of his friendship to my boy friend. I told him that I was definitely not in love wtih him and that I wouldn't think of giving up my boy friend. He said he was sorry and that it wouldn't happen again.

Now, I don't know if I should tell this to my boy friend or not. If I do, it might break up their friendship, and they have been friends ever since childhood. If I do not, it will be breaking a promise to the only boy who has ever meant anything to me. What shall I do?

"SALLY".

I can see how hard it is for you to make up your mind on this question, Sally.

But I think as you grow older, you will find that life is a little too complicated to make an agrement, once and for all, to tell anyone else, even the person closest to you, all the facts about everything. You have to be guided by certain general principles and, when you are confronted by a difficult choice, you must make the choice on the basis of which alternative will do the most good or most harm in the long run.

In this particular case, I think that breaking your promise to your boy friend is the lesser of the two evils, for, if you keep that promise, you will do harm to two people — your boy friend, who will be hurt and disillusioned about his childhood friend — and the other boy, who obviosuly wants and means to do the right thing, since he says he will never say anything of the sort to you again.

I am quite sure that you should keep this little incident to yourself and let the whole thing be forgotten.

Adults Don't Like Boy Friends

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We live in a small community, where everyone knows each other very well. We are both teen-age girls and, lately, have been asked several times by two boys to go out on dates with them.

These boys seem to have a good standing with the other boys, but not with the girls or older people. We have refused them each time—not because we think we are too good—but simply because of this fact. Since we have refused to date them, they are cross and do not talk to us, which we think is silly.

What can we do about this? Would you go on like this, or would you go out with them?

"JEEP AND SKIP"

As you don't give any reason why other girls or the older people do not like these boys, it is rather hard to say whether or not you would be wise to go out with them. Sometimes adults know things about young people that the boys and girls of your age do not know.

It seems to me you would be smart to find out exactly why these boys don't have a good reputation, before becoming very friendly with them.

Rose E. Drumm Selects Sept. 14 For Wedding

Will Become Bride Of Francis E. Mullan In St. Patrick's Church

Miss Rose Elizabeth Drumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Drumm, 539 Henderson avenue, has selected September 14 for the date of her marriage to Francis E. Mullan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Mullan, 519 Beall street.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss Roberta Drumm, for her maid of honor and only attendant. Thomas Mullan will serve as his brother's best man.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls' Central High School, class of 1942, and Girls' Central Business School. While in high school she was a member of the Glee Club and served as a class officer all four years. She is now employed in the Accounting department of the local office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mr. Mullan was graduated from LaSalle High School, class of 1942, and is a veteran of 37 months army service. He was stationed in the ETO 15 months on duty with the 290th Infantry Reiment, 75th Division. He has received the Combat Infantry Badge, ETO ribbon with three battle stars, American Theater ribbon, Good Conduct and Victory Medals. Since his discharge Mr. Mullan has been employed by the Speelman Ice Cream Company.

Allegany Hospital Graduates To Be Feted At Parties

A variety of entertainment has been planned to honor the members of the graduating class of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, in the week preceding the commencement exercises, September 15.

Parties will begin with the Nurses Alumnae Association giving a banquet and dance, September 5, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The banquet will be served at 6:30 and the program will include a welcome to the graduates, the introduction of the honor guests and a response. Autumn flowers will be used in the decorations, and favors will be presented to each guest.

Jimmy Andrews and his orchestra will play for the dancing, from 8:30 until midnight. Miss Opal K. Bonner, chairman of arrangements, announces that formal dress will be optional with the guests.

A picnic will be given by the members of Senior Class B. Miss Mary Jane Faw, Miss Ruth Johnson and Miss Ruth Haenftling comprise the committee in charge of arrangements.

The Intermediate class and Pre-Clinical students will be hostesses at a skating party on the 10th.

Class Night will be held September 11, in SS. Peter and Paul church hall. A play entitled, "Tish," will be presented at 7:30 under the direction of Leo H. Ley, Sr. It will be followed by a dance. Miss Carole Calhoun, president, chairman, will be assisted by Miss Leta Spangler and Miss Jean Holler.

Father William Kelly, pastor of St. Martin's church, Washington, D. C., will read the mass at 8 o'clock in the hospital chapel and preach the baccalaureate sermon, after which the Sisters of Charity will give a breakfast for the graduates. Other guests will be members of the advisory board of the school and members of the faculty.

The formal commencement exercises will be held at 7:30 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Rev Irenaeus Reini, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will present the diplomas and Rev. W. Joyce Russell, St. Mary's Church, will give the address. Solemn benediction will conclude the ceremony.

The guard of honor will consist of members of the alumnae, volunteer aides and student body for the graduates, who will march from the Carroll hall into the church. The music will be presented by the students under the direction of Miss Carmella Guarino.

New Girl Scout Executive Secretary Arrives Sept. 15

Banquet And Program To Conclude Established Camp Program

Mrs. Althea N. Correll, Warren, Pa., will arrive here to assume her duties as executive secretary of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts, September 15, Mrs. G. Wilbur Seymour, commissioner, announced last night.

Mrs. Correll, formerly of New Hampshire, has served in the same capacity for Warren County Council for the past seven years during which time she also directed the eight week established camp. She has been associated with scouting for approximately 15 years.

Camp Cai-uc-tu-cuc will close its season at Pleasant Valley 4-H Recreation area with a banquet tomorrow night, at which time there will be a special program presented.

Miss Eleanor Hoover, Washington, D. C., national camp advisor, will visit the camp today. Mrs. Elizabeth Retzer, Washington, has been serving as camp director this year, assisted by members of the Leaders Association.

If you have a brass or metal doorknocker, wax it immediately after polishing. This will keep it bright.

Mrs. Mary E. Sharps Is Wed To Rev. Maynord Oldt

Ceremony Is Performed In Parsonage Of Centre Street Church

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Mary E. Sharps, 512 Woodlawn terrace, to Rev. Maynord Oldt, Leesburg, Fla.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, before members of the immediate families, in the parsonage of the Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D.D., officiating.

Mrs. Hazel Burton, oldest daughter of the bride, was her mother's matron of honor and only attendant. Donald Sharps, youngest son of the bride, served as Rev. Mr. Oldt's best man.

The bride was attired in a royal blue silk dress, with which she wore gray accessories. A corsage of white gladoli completed her costume.

Mrs. Burton wore a fuchsia colored crepe costume with black accessories.

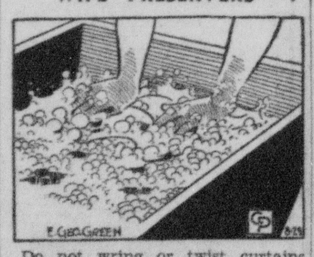

The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder, Grafton, W. Va., the bride has been a resident of Cumberland for the past 10 years. A member of Centre Street Methodist Church, she has been active in various phases of church work and is a circle leader. She is also a member of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club.

Rev. Mr. Oldt is a retired Methodist minister of the Florida and Michigan Conferences. Prior to his retirement seven years ago, he served as pastor of the Fruitland Park Church, Fla.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burton entertained members of the families and intimate friends, at an informal reception honoring their mother and her husband, at their home, 513 Frederick street. The bridal motif was carried out in the white flowers and wedding cake centering the table, and rose colored chrysanthemums decorated the house. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter, Louise, and Mrs. Donald Sharps.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldt will be at home to their friends at 512 Woodlawn terrace, until tomorrow when they will leave for Charlotte, Mich. They will reside in Charlotte during the summers and in Leesburg, Fla., during the winters.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Do not wring or twist curtains during washing or rinsing. Plunge them up and down in the suds and simply press the suds through the fabric. Rinse thoroughly.

VFW Auxiliary Plans District Meeting, Picnic

The VFW Auxiliary formulated plans for a district meeting; and a picnic at the meeting Tuesday at the home, with Mrs. Florence Rinker presiding.

Mrs. Grace Bosenberg will be in charge of the district meeting, which will be held September 18, with the local auxiliary host to the groups from Hagerstown, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Romney. A social will follow the business session.

The picnic will be held September 15 at Smouse's Beach and will be for members of the post and the auxiliary. Buses will leave from the home at 10:30 in the morning. 12:30 and 2:30. Returning they will leave the beach at 5:30, 6:30 and 8:30.

Mrs. Rinker announced that the furniture, purchased by the auxiliary for the national home, is on display at the Seifert's Store, Frederick street. Applications were also received from five prospective members.

Orchestra Secured For RTAO Dances

The Ridgeley Teen Age Organization will inaugurate its fall entertainment program tonight with Bill Gray's orchestra playing for the dancing, from 8:30 to until 11:30 o'clock.

A feature of the evening will be special selections on the marimba by 15-year-old Harold Winstanley.

There will be the usual games and refreshments in the basement of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun club house and dancing will be on the first floor. Regular bus service will leave from in front of the club at 11:30.

Jimmie Flanagan reports that Gray's orchestra has been secured to play every other week, beginning tonight.

Ladies Shrine Has Dinner-Card Party

The Ladies Shrine Club entertained its members with a turkey dinner and card party Tuesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, with Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman presiding.

The shrine colors of red, yellow and green were carried out in the assorted asters and daisies, and tapers centering the table, and were repeated in the miniature hats given as favors. Covers were laid for 105 guests.

Following the dinner bridge, 500 and dominoes were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Myron S. Landis, Mrs. C. R. McFerran, Mrs. Emma Grenoble, Mrs. Thomas Dunlap, Mrs. Howard Kight, Mrs. Frank Young, Mrs. James Orr, Miss Anna Hartman, Mrs. Anna Powell, Mrs. John Cupler, Sr., and Mrs. R. W. Fink.

Mrs. Ella Crabbe was chairman of arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Florence Daugherty, Mrs. Margaret Bostetter, Mrs. Eleanor Moreley, Mrs. Clara Shank, Mrs. Sadie Cook, Mrs. Bessie Rizer, Mrs. Landis, Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Kight and Miss Margaret Flurshutz.

Cumberland OES Will Hold Banquet Tonight

Cumberland Chapter No. 56, OES, will hold its annual summer banquet at 6:30 tonight at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Cards will conclude the evening and prizes will be awarded.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Bessie Lamp, Mrs. Doris Schulte, Mrs. Mary Steele, Mrs. Mary Earle, Mrs. Alberta Morton, Mrs. Marie Lohr, Mrs. Jessie McElfish and Miss Mildred Davis.

Events In Brief

The Rice Reunion will be held September 1 at the American Legion Park, Everett, Pa. A program of sports and amusements is being planned, and will begin at 2 o'clock. All members of the clan are invited to bring a basket lunch and attend.

The meeting of the Board of Officers of Our Flag of Cumberland Council No. 100, Daughters of America, scheduled for tomorrow at Constitution Park, has been postponed.

The Faithful Workers Class of Kingsley Methodist Church will meet at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Thelma Wigal, Park street.

Will Become Bride Of Francis E. Mullan In St. Patrick's Church

Miss Rose Elizabeth Drumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Drumm, 539 Henderson avenue, has selected September 14 for the date of her marriage to Francis E. Mullan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Mullan, 519 Beall street.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss Roberta Drumm, for her maid of honor and only attendant. Thomas Mullan will serve as his brother's best man.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls' Central High School, class of 1942, and Girls' Central Business School. While in high school she was a member of the Glee Club and served as a class officer all four years. She is now employed in the Accounting department of the local office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mr. Mullan was graduated from LaSalle High School, class of 1942, and is a veteran of 37 months' army service. He was stationed in the ETO 15 months on duty with the 290th Infantry Reiment, 75th Division. He has received the Combat Infantry Badge, ETO ribbon with three battle stars, American Theater ribbon, Good Conduct and Victory Medals. Since his discharge Mr. Mullan has been employed by the Speelman Ice Cream Company.

Allegany Hospital Graduates To Be Feted At Parties

A variety of entertainment has been planned to honor the members of the graduating class of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, in the week preceding the commencement exercises, Sptember 15.

Parties will begin with the Nurses Alumnae Association giving a banquet and dance, September 5, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The banquet will be served at 6:30 and the program will include a welcome to the graduates, the introduction of the honor guests and a response. Autumn flowers will be used in the decorations, and favors will be presented to each guest.

Jimmy Andrews and his orchestra will play for the dancing, from 8:30 until midnight. Miss Opal K. Bonner, chairman of arrangements, announces that formal dress will be optional with the guests.

A picnic will be given by the members of Senior Class B. Miss Mary Jane Paw, Miss Ruth Johnson and Miss Ruth Haenftling comprise the committee in charge of arrangements.

The Intermediate class and Pre-Clinical students will be hostesses at a skating party on the 10th.

Class Night will be held September 11, in SS. Peter and Paul church hall. A play entitled, "Tish," will be presented at 7:30 under the direction of Leo H. Ley, Sr. It will be followed by a dance. Miss Carole Calhoun, president, chairman, will be assisted by Miss Leta Spangler and Miss Jean Holler.

Father William Kelly, pastor of St. Martin's church, Washington, D. C., will read the mass at 8 o'clock in the hospital chapel and preach the baccalaureate sermon, after which the Sisters of Charity will give a breakfast for the graduates. Other guests will be members of the advisory board of the school and members of the faculty.

The formal commencement exercises will be held at 7:30 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Rev. Irenaeus Reini, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will present the diplomas and Rev. W. Joyce Russell, St. Mary's Church, will give the address. Solemn benediction will conclude the ceremony.

The guard of honor will consist of members of the alumnae, volunteer aides and student body for the graduates, who will march from the Carroll hall into the church. The music will be presented by the students under the direction of Miss Carmella Guarino.

Mrs. Mary E. Sharps Is Wed To Rev. Maynord Oldt

Ceremony Is Performed In Parsonage Of Centre Street Church

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Mary E. Sharps, 512 Woodlawn terrace, to Rev. Maynord Oldt, Leesburg, Fla.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, before members of the immediate families, in the parsonage of the Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D.D., officiating.

Mrs. Hazel Burton, oldest daughter of the bride, was her mother's matron of honor and only attendant. Donald Sharps, youngest son of the bride, served as Rev. Mr. Oldt's best man.

The bride was attired in a royal blue silk dress, with which she wore gray accessories. A corsage of white gladoli completed her costume.

Mrs. Burton wore a fuchsia colored crepe costume with black accessories.

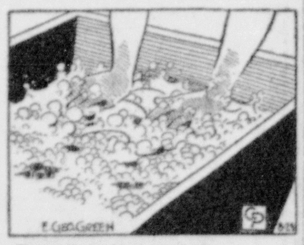

The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder, Grafton, W. Va., the bride has been a resident of Cumberland for the past 10 years. A member of Centre Street Methodist Church, she has been active in various phases of church work and is a circle leader. She is also a member of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club.

Rev. Mr. Oldt is a retired Methodist minister of the Florida and Michigan Conferences. Prior to his retirement seven years ago, he served as pastor of the Fruitland Park Church, Fla.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burton entertained members of the families and intimate friends, at an informal reception honoring their mother and her husband, at their home, 513 Frederick street. The bridal motif was carried out in the white flowers and wedding cake centering the table, and rose colored chrysanthemums decorated the house. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter, Louise, and Mrs. Donald Sharps.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldt will be at home to their friends at 512 Woodlawn terrace, until tomorrow when they will leave for Charlotte, Mich. They will reside in Charlotte during the summers and in Leesburg, Fla., during the winters.

LISTEN WORLD

(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

Hi-ya, brother—

Want a friendly tip that may save you a lot of grief?

You won't take it, of course, but I'll give it anyway.

Never kid yourself about women. Stop thinking of us as a weak, aimless, silly sex which needs your strength and protection.

The simple truth is that the average woman needs protection just about as much as a man eating tiger.

I should know. I'm one of them.

Yes, that old notion about the inferiority of females was undoubtedly highly satisfactory to the males who invented it. But it was both a boner and a boomerang and said males have been paying for it with their life blood ever since.

Here's the fact. You won't like it but the sooner you realize it and act on it the happier you'll be, my friend—

WOMEN ARE THE AGGRESSIVE AND POSSESSIVE SEX.

Men are the dreamers and the idealists.

Women are the tough, straight from the shoulder realists with a thick and sticky coating of sentimentality which takes the boy friend for a buggy ride every time he falls for it.

Nor am I insulting women when I say all this. Women are what they are for a perfectly natural reason. They are tough because they must bear and rear the race. No man would ever tackle that job. They are aggressive and possessive because they have to provide home and security for their young.

And they are charming and beguiling for exactly the same reason that a rose is pink—it's a come-on. Which as far as I can see is a perfectly healthy condition of affairs. Only we have messed it up so with masculine vanity and feminine stupidity that it's a wonder the sexes can ever get along with each other for ten minutes.

As a matter of fact, there is nothing wicked or shameful in the nature of either men or women. They were created for the jobs which most of them hold—the man to roam the trail, the woman to rule the home. Which, if we'd go about it sensibly, would be a perfectly happy program.

But we don't go about it sensibly. We are still bound by sex feuds and suspicions. We're never honest with each other. Individually there are honest men and honest women and honest marriages but mostly it's a cat fight.

And all this blather about women's rights is so much eyewash. The natural, happy, good natured woman has always had all the rights she wanted and ten thousand more besides. I was never very hot for suffrage. I always figured I could push a man around quicker with a good potroast and an apple pie than I could with the ballot.

These few remarks are certainly going to get me in wrong but what a different world it would be if anyone believed it. Which they won't.

Helis Urges Aiding Greek Immigrants

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—William G. Helis, wealthy New Orleans oil man and sportsman who came to the United States in 1904 as an immigrant boy from Greece, had only one thing on his mind as a delegate to the 20th annual National Convention of the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association.

"I don't care to talk of anything but the business of this convention," he said, "and that has to do with the making of 100 per cent Americans out of immigrants from Greece, and ways and means of helping the country of my birth recover from the terrible wounds of war."

Helis, owner of an extensive string of race horses, couldn't help referring to his huge Rancocas farm at Mount Holly, N. J., which he purchased from Harry Sinclair four years ago. But after mentioning that this had become one of the largest breeding farms in the world, he got back to his duties as an AHEPA delegate.

"Ninety-nine per cent of my time is now devoted to the effort being made to co-ordinate the work of Greek relief, which I am proud to say, has been mightily assisted by my fellow American citizens not of Greek descent."

As chairman of the Greek War Relief Executive Committee, he said he planned to leave within 60 days for an extended visit to his native country.

"This convention and its business are my primary concerns. I am just one of many people interested in helping others less fortunate than ourselves."

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength — and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

COL. GIBSON REMEMBERS LODGES IN HIS WILL

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Aug. 28 (AP)—The will of the late Col. Braxton D. Gibson, prominent West Virginia Mason who died August 14, disclosed yesterday bequests to several lodges, fire companies and others in addition to property and cash to relatives.

To his sisters, Susan G. Gibson and Annie G. Packette, the latter since deceased, he left his one-third interest in the Gibson Block, Roanoke, Va., and after their deaths, to his niece, Mrs. Frances Packette Todd.

Mrs. Todd was left two properties in Charles Town, and was named his residuary legatee to receive the remainder of the estate, less bequests and expenses.

He left $10,000 each to three nieces, Annie Belle Yancey, Virginia M. Yancey, and Margaret D. Mason, and $5,000 to Lucy D. Mason. A codicil noted the death of Virginia Yancey, and distributed her $10,000 equally among the other three.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Walker, negro servants in his home, were left $5,000 and a year's wages.

Charles Town General Hospital received a $1,000 trust fund for a memorial room to his daughter, Margaret Gibson.

Other bequests were made to Malta Lodge No. 80, A. F. and A. M., Charles Town, $1,000; Jefferson Chapter No. 5, R. A. M., $1,000; Mt. Nebo Lodge No. 91, Shepherdstown, $500; Shenandoah Tribe No. 89, Red Men, $500; Independent Fire Company, and Citizens Fire Company, Charles Town, $500 each; and Edge Hill Cemetery, $400 for upkeep.

$10,000 Bequest Is Made For Domestic Instruction

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — James Clark McReynolds, retired Supreme Court Justice and a bachelor, left $10,000 to instruct girls in 'domestic affairs." The bequest was made to Centre College, Danville, Ky.

The will of the 84-year-old jurist, who died Saturday, was opened yesterday. It listed cash bequests of $183,000 to schools, hospitals, churches and individuals. Total value of the estate has not been made public.

McReynolds remembered the widow and daughter of a long-time neighbor and duck-hunting companion, the late Judge Charles H. Robb of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Washington. The widow was left $2,500 and $10,000 was bequeathed the daughter, whom McReynolds called "the lovely Priscilla," wife of Elliott A. Billings, Coral Gables, Fla.

Hearings Are Planned For Crash Drivers

Mrs. Ruth E. Weber, 52, 846 Greene street, who was seriously injured in a head-on crash on Bedford road August 15, was discharged from Allegany Hospital Tuesday.

State police said her husband, Frank N. Weber, and Roy Means, 23, 408 Footer place, will be given hearings in trial magistrates court on reckless driving charges but added no date has been set for the hearings. Weber was also treated for a bruised right knee suffered in the crash.

In an accident report Means said he was blinded by the lights and was unable to avoid crashing against the Weber car. Means estimated damage to the Weber car at $300.

George Douglas, 68, 512 Hill street, was treated in Allegany Hospital Tuesday for an arm injury after he fell down the steps at his home and Wanda Case, 19, 435 Central avenue, for a laceration on the right arm after she fell on a piece of glass.

Enlist In Marines

Two men from this area enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps yesterday at the local recruiting office, according to Staff Sgt. Murrell Brainerd.

The are John R. Reed, 18, Burlington, W. Va., and Edward J. Johnson, Jr., 18, 1008 Shades Lane. They both enlisted for two years general duty and were sent to Parris Island, S. C., for basic training.

Czech Complaint Rejected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — The State Department has sent a note to Czechoslovakia flatly rejecting its formal complaint that the United States is "discriminating" against it in sales of surplus war property, diplomatic officials said.

They reported the United States turned down the protest as being "without foundation" in a message sent Monday to Prague.

The Czechoslovakian foreign office had complained to Ambassador Lawrence Steinhardt that the United States is favoring other nations, particularly France, in disposing of its vast stocks of surplus war goods overseas.

Rip Van Wrinkle wakes up to a bargain!

WHAT DAY IS IT? I mean, what year is it? My word, I've been asleep 20 years!

Yessir, I see lots of changes since 1926, but woman's hats are as silly as ever! And the high cost of living makes me want to sleep another 20 years!

Gosh, look at all the new electrical gadgets! When I dozed off back in the Twenties, we had electric lights and an iron and a vacuum cleaner at our house! Now we've got a refrigerator, a couple of radios (my last one was a crystal set), clocks, toaster, washer — why, everything you touch has a switch on it!

It's funny, too, with all those gadgets perking away, my electric bill isn't much more than it was 20 years ago, while everything else has gone up a lot!

* * *

(Yes, Rip Van Wrinkle, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 20 years ago. It took increased usage plus plenty of skill and planning — under sound business management — to make electricity the bargain it is right now!)

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength — and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Rip Van Wrinkle wakes up to a bargain!

WHAT DAY IS IT? I mean, what year is it? My word, I've been asleep 20 years!
Yessir, I see lots of changes since 1925, but women's hats are as silly as ever! And the high cost of living makes me want to sleep another 20 years!
Gosh, look at all the new electrical gadgets! When I dozed off back in the Twenties, we had electric lights and an iron and a vacuum cleaner at our house! Now we've got a refrigerator, a couple of radios (my last one was a crystal set), clocks, toaster, washer—why, everything you touch has a switch on it!
It's funny, too, with all those gadgets perking away, my electric bill isn't much more than it was 20 years ago, while everything else has gone up a lot!

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

From an ex-Navy man now in Tokyo: "The main idea at this time is to pick up at par a few shares of Imperial Household, a darn good investment from what I can see and hear" . . . Happy Chandler, the baseball czar, is keeping his eye on the political cornfield, just in case. He's put in a bid for the new radio station at Versailles, Ky. . . . "Liberal" Republicans purged in recent elections to be given important government posts. . . . Senator Robert La Follette defeated in his home State to be chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, succeeding David E. Lilienthal, who'll head the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. . . . Washington looks forward to a streamlined Congressional Record next year. Present plans call for the hiring of an editor to jazz it up, or at least make it more readable. . . . Australia's first Ambassador to the U. S., Hon. Norman Makin, on the Coast, due in Washington, Sept. 12.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor due here around October, to spend the Winter. . . . Noel Coward also due, sooner than that. . . . Monroe Stern, former Newspaper Guild official, is now public relations man for the Yugoslav Embassy in Washington. . . . Darryl Zanuck's board of strategy has decided that "The Razor's Edge" will be 20th Century-Fox's Academy candidate. Darryl is bringing the film here for a sneak preview. . . . Lou Nova, the former Yogi boxer, will turn terpsichorean artist in his first movie. . . . Marva Louis signed to star in her first motion picture, which goes into production at the Fox Movietone Studios under the direction of Arthur Leonard of Herald Pictures and will be released to some 600 Negro movie houses. After finishing the movie, the champ's wife flies to Paris for a 16-week engagement at the Folies Bergere.

Associated Hospital Service complains that too many subscribers are taking hospital beds just to get a good night's sleep. . . . New York Board of Health due to revive licensing of food handlers in restaurants, when the kitchen cleanliness drive is over. LaGuardia abandoned the licensing a decade ago. . . . Five times AAU heavyweights wrestling champ policeman Hank Wittenberg is out of the service and back on the force, and will head a new juvenile air wrestling and boxing program—a pet project of Mayor O'Dwyer and Commissioner Wallander. . . . Joe White, ex-hubby of Mary Kirk Brown, and Freddy Vosberg ex-hubby of Wini Shaw, have pooled their talents to build Mexico's first frankfurter factory. Seems the bull fight audiences have taken to hot dogs in a large way. . . . Look for a big shakeup in the Pittsburgh Pirates organization.

Adolph Zukor interested in bringing Russian talent here for the movies. . . . Merle Oberon won't work for any producer in the future unless her husband, camerman Lucian Ballard, also gets a job. . . . Lew Ayres to be best man at the Jennifer Jones-Billy Bakewell wedding Sept. 25. . . . When Janet Blair's latest opus, Columbia's "Gallant Journey" is in the can, Janet and her pianist husband, Lou Busch, will tour the movie houses, in a playing-and-singing act. . . . Of all people, Milton Sheen, owner of Oetjens Restaurant in Brooklyn, is becoming a ballet impressio; at least, he'll angel a touring troupe this Fall. . . . In case you care, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed has joined the colony of "mountain pinks" at New City, Rockland County, N. Y. . . . Barney Ross to become executive accountant for a Chicago advertising firm. . . . James E. Markham, head of the Alien Property Custodian office, resighing this week.

Gypsy Rose Lee, who's heading the bill at Riley's Lake House, Saratoga, has sent home for her bathing suit, just in case somebody wants a picture of her in the fountain. . . . Loew's State, celebrating its quarter century as the one and only remaining vaudeville house in New York, will have a cavalcade of oldtimers on its stage Aug. 29. Listed to appear are Ted Lewis, Smith and Dale, Pat Rooney, Belle Baker, Bill Robinson, James Barton, Rae Samuels, Joe Laurie Jr., Lou Clayton and Benny Fields. The opening bill twenty-five years ago included, besides Irving Berlin, Bert Levey, Florence Moore, Frank Tinney, Loney Haskell and Louise Groody. Remember them?

Wildcats are reported in the middle west. The oil fields, oddly enough, are not affected.

"Pin-Worms Can't Get MY Child!"
Better learn the Truth, Mother!
Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living and growing inside the human body, can cause real distress.
So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms—especially the aggravating rectal itch. If you suspect this ugly infection, get JAYNE'S P-W right away and follow the directions.
P-W is the name of the Pin-Worm tablets developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.
Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Stock Market Steadies After Early Selling Topples Rails, Industrials

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — The stock market steadied in todays late proceedings after early heavy selling had toppled leading rails and industrials one to seven points, many to new lows for the past year or longer.

Wall street still was bearish regarding foreign developments, prospects of growing labor disputes, mounting manufacturers' inventories, price controls and the likelihood of further consumer resistance to rising living costs. A batch of boosted dividends failed to stimulate most stocks concerned.

On the upside were Douglas Aircraft, ahead 3¾ at $92.87; Goodyear 1⅝ at $64.50, International Telephone 1⅛ at $22, Montgomery Ward 1¼ at $76.12, Santa Fe one at $103, Chrysler seven-eighths at $106.37 and United States steel three-eighths at $83.37. Other gainers included Homestake Mining, Baltimore and Ohio, Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, Westinghouse, Allied Stores, International Harvester, Eastman Kodak and American Can.

On the Retreat were Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, American Telephone, Western Union "A", North American, Kennecott, American Smelting, General Electric, Texas Company, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Northern Pacific.

Among Curb sliders were Aluminum Ltd., American Cyanamid, American Gas, Colonial Mills, Humble Oil and Illinois power, Cities Service regained better than a point. Turnover here was 560,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

Rail obligation dropped an outside of around four points in a sagging bond market.

Volume picked up as the decline gained momentum. The day's total was $5,510,000, largest in more than two months, and compared with $5,050,000 Tuesday.

Bond men linked the retreat with the general weakness displayed by stock prices.

Slight improvement was noted in Rock Island convertibles and refunding 4s, Denver and Rio Grande Western assented 5s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, and Frisco 4½s.

Outstanding on the minus side were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 62, Alton 3s at 48, Northern Western 4½s at 81¼, Florida East Coast 5s at 77, Frisco "B" 5s at 53½ and Cotton Belt 5s at 77.

In the overseas department declines were posted for issues of Australia, Norway, Denmark, Brazil, Canada, Chile, and Peru.

United States governments slipped a bit in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan December 2½s of '67-'72 at 102 14-32 bid.

Chicago Grain Prices

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Persistent selling of wheat by mills using the futures pit to hedge purchases of cash grain dropped the bread cereal five cents a bushel today. Corn and oats were firm, although losing part of their advance in late selling.

The wheat decline, which was the limit permitted in a single session, brought all contracts well under the former OPA ceiling of $1.98½. Investment and speculative buying was discouraged, traders said, by the recent weakness in the securities market. Closing quotations:

WHEAT—January 1.92¼, March 1.88⅝, May 1.87.

CORN—January 1.34⅝-¾, March 1.32¼.

OATS—September 74, November 71¾-⅞, December 71⅝, March 71¼-⅜.

CASH GRAIN

WHEAT—No. 1 hard 2.03½.

CORN—No. 1 yellow 2.00; No. 2 yellow 1.98-2.00; No. 3 yellow 1.95.

Stock Market Steadies After Early Selling Topples Rails, Industrials

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — The stock market steadied in todays late proceedings after early heavy selling had toppled leading rails and industrials one to seven points, many to new lows for the past year or longer.

Wall street still was bearish regarding foreign developments, prospects of growing labor disputes, mounting manufacturers' inventories, price controls and the likelihood of further consumer resistance to rising living costs. A batch of boosted dividends failed to stimulate most stocks concerned.

On the upside were Douglas Aircraft, ahead 3⅛ at $92.87; Goodyear 1⅛ at $64.50, International Telephone 1½ at $22, Montgomery Ward 1¼ at $76.12, Santa Fe one at $103, Chrysler seven-eighths at $106.37 and United States steel three-eighths at $83.37. Other gainers included Homestake Mining, Baltimore and Ohio, Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, Westinghouse, Allied Stores, International Harvester, Eastman Kodak and American Can.

On the Retreat were Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, American Telephone, Western Union "A", North American, Kennecott, American Smelting, General Electric, Texas Company, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Northern Pacific.

Among Curb sliders were Aluminum Ltd., American Cyanamid, American Gas, Colonial Mills, Humble Oil and Illinois power, Cities Service regained better than a point. Turnover here was 560,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

Rail obligation dropped an outside of around four points in a sagging bond market.

Volume picked up as the decline gained momentum. The day's total was $5,510,000, largest in more than two months, and compared with $5,050,000 Tuesday.

Bond men linked the retreat with the general weakness displayed by stock prices.

Slight improvement was noted in Rock Island convertibles and refunding 4s, Denver and Rio Grande Western assented 5s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, and Frisco 4½s.

Outstanding on the minus side were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 62, Alton 3s at 48, Nort. Western 4½s at 81¼, Florida East Coast 5s at 77, Frisco "B" 5s at 53½ and Cotton Belt 5s at 77.

In the overseas department declines were posted for issues of Australia, Norway, Denmark, Brazil, Canada, Chile, and Peru.

United States governments slipped a bit in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan December 2½s of '67-'72 at 102 14-32 bid.

Chicago Grain Prices

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Persistent selling of wheat by mills using the futures pit to hedge purchases of cash grain dropped the breadstuff cereal five cents a bushel today. Corn and oats were firm, although losing part of their advance in late selling.

The wheat decline, which was the limit permitted in a single session, brought all contracts well under the former OPA ceiling of $1.98½. Investment and speculative buying was discouraged, traders said, by the recent weakness in the securities market. Closing quotations:

WHEAT—January 1.92¼, March 1.88⅝, May 1.87.

CORN—January 1.34⅝-¾, March 1.32⅛.

OATS—September 74, November 71¾-⅞, December 71⅝, March 73¼-⅝.

Miss Ruth Carter Becomes Bride Of Thomas Hall

Residents Of Garrett, Pa., And Philadelphia Wed In Frostburg

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28 — Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Garrett, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Lorraine Carter, a registered nurse, to Thomas Joseph Hall, Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday, August 24, in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church. Rev. Regis Larkin, assistant pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Darrell Zeller was her sister's only attendant.

The bride wore an aqua colored dress, a pink feathered hat, short veil, pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The matron of honor wore a gray suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Carter, the bride's mother, chose a blue jersey print dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride, a graduate of Garrett and Meyersdale High Schools, completed her training as a professional nurse at the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland, and did private nursing until she joined the Naval Nurse Corps. She was released from the Navy with the rank of lieutenant (j.g.) after serving at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va., and Seagate Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The bridegroom attended West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, before his induction in the Marine Corps. He was discharged in December, 1945, after serving three years, part of them in the Pacific area. He is employed as assistant pressman at the Samuel Green Publishing Company plant in Philadelphia.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Zeller entertained with a reception for the couple at their home, East Main street.

The couple are spending their honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Canada. They will live in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Geis Dies

Mrs. Mary Katherine Kahl Geis, 77, widow of Edward Geis, and a resident of Frostburg the greater part of her life, died Wednesday at her home, 110 Wood street. She lived with her son, John Geis.

Mrs. Geis, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Kahl, pioneer residents of Garrett County, was born in Accident.

Besides her son, John, she leaves another son, Charles Geis, Center street; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Morton, Cumberland, and Mrs. Alvin Morton, this city; two brothers, Louis Kahl, Accident; George F. Kahl, Backus, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. George George, Accident, and Mrs. Christine Hendricks, Pringhar, Iowa, and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Geis was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Funeral services will be held Friday, 2:30 p. m., at her residence, with Rev. J. H. Liesmann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

18 New Mineral County Teachers Are Appointed

Idleman Hopes To Have Remaining Vacancies Filled By Sept. 5

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 28 — Haven L. Idleman, superintendent of schools, of Mineral County, reports the appointment of 18 teachers since the placement of teachers was announced some time ago. These appointments are to fill vacancies.

At this time two high school science teachers are needed and five vacancies remain in the elementary schools. Idleman hopes to have these vacancies filled by the opening day of school, September 5.

The new appointments are; William Bane, Burlington, principal, Antioch Elementary School; Barbara Proudfood, Keyser, Barnum, one-room school, Gladys McDowell, intermediate grades, Beryl; Eva Pritts and Dawn Hardesty, Shaw, principal and teacher of Cross School; Beatrice Jenkins, Fort Ashby and Georgianna Yost, Keyser, Fort Ashby Elementary School.

Matie Wimer Harris, Keyser has been appointed principal of Fountain School. Mary Lou Hayes, Greensboro, N. C., will be home economics teacher in Howard High School, and Robert Dixon, Piedmont, mathematics teacher in Piedmont high school. Bettie Babb, Mayesville, Christine Kidner, Keyser, and Jonathon Baker, Piedmont, will teach in Ridgeley High School.

Flora Amtower, Laurel Dale, Antoinette Heiskell, Ridgeley, and Sallie Siever, Keyser were named teachers in Ridgeley Elementary School. Marvin Hockman, Hampshire County, and Jewelle Kincaid, Elkins will be principal and teacher of Short Gap School. Barbara Cornelius, Ridgeley, has been transferred from Beryl School to Ridgeley Elementary School.

Gladys McDowell, Matie Wimer, Eva Pritts and Jonathan Baker are former Mineral County teachers; Marvin Hockman has several years' experience teaching in Hampshire County. The other appointees are teaching their first term or coming to the county for the first time.

Parking Meters Here

Parking meters will be installed on the following Keyser streets; Main and Davis streets between East Piedmont and Armstrong; Armstrong street from Mineral to Water; Center street from Davis to Sharpless; East Piedmont street from Mineral to Main, and East, West, South and Court streets. The last four border the court house grounds.

Of the 220 meters ordered most have been received. In discussing the installation A. A. Jordan, city clerk, said the work will begin as soon as needed pipes arrive; all other parts are already here: The contract for installing the meters have been awarded to Ray Coffman, local contractor.

The meters are of the type which will receive pennies or nickels; 12 minutes are allowed for a penny or one hour for a nickel. It is announced that special parking privileges will be granted to physicians, buses and taxis.

Plan Overhead Bridge

The State Roads Commission is making a survey of the residential section of the city north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks to determine how much people in that area use the bridge between Keyser and McCoole. The result of the survey will have a bearing on the final plans for the overhead bridge now being considered.

As planned, the new span will carry traffic overhead from the main section of Keyser to a point in McCoole, thus eliminating the railroad grade crossings as well as the danger from high water in flood times. The main approach to the bridge will be at the head of Center street on Mineral.

Formation Of Department Of Peace Is Urged By Jennings Randolph

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 28—Rep. Jennings Randolph, addressing the Veterans of Foreign Wars celebration at Wardensville Saturday, urged the establishment of a Department of Peace in the federal government.

Randolph pointed out that the United States spent two billion dollars for the development of the atom bomb but not one cent for the investigation of the causes of wars or ways to prevent them.

He urged the consolidation of the Departments of War and Navy into a Department of Defense. Randolph asked his hearers three questions: Do we have sufficient manpower to fight another war? Do we have the industrial productivity in the event of another war? What are we doing to prevent another war?

He was introduced by Floyd B. Cox, superintendent of schools in Monongalia County, who in turn was introduced by J. Allen Hawkins, principal of Wardensville High School and an officer in the VFW.

Club Will Erect Markers

The Moorefield Lions Club will place markers at the city limits on the four roads leading into town, it was decided at the meeting of the board of directors at Hotel McNeill Monday night. The markers will be painted with luminous paint so they can be seen at night. Panels giving the place and times of meetings will be placed beneath the signs.

The regular meeting of the club, scheduled for the first Monday in September, will be postponed until the second Monday night in the month because of the Labor Day holiday.

L. R. Grover reported on the progress of the proposed youth canteen. The representative of the soft drink firm had to reject the auditorium in the new firehall because it did not meet the standards required. There was no fire escape at the side or rear and the auditorium could not be partitioned off to make the proposed club room a separate unit.

However, the offer to equip a youth center is still open. The company will install a snack bar, put in a dance floor, decorate the club and supply the game equipment if a suitable location can be found.

Beall Appointed

At the regular meeting of the county court, Maurice Beall was appointed justice of the peace in Capon District until the next general election or until his successor has been appointed. Beall qualified, took oath, and posted bond in the amount of $2,000 with S. M. Gay as surety.

The application of Milton McNeill for a commission as notary public was received. Ted R. Sager was appointed constable for Moorefield District.

The order to sell the old jail at public auction was approved. The cells will be installed at the Court House.

Senator Bean Appointed

Sen. Ralph J. Bean has been appointed co-ordinator for Hardy and Grant counties by the West Virginia Young Democratic Clubs.

A meeting will be held in the Hardy County court house Saturday afternoon, August 31, for the purpose of electing officers and naming delegates to the state convention of young Democrats in Clarksburg late in September. Permanent officers will be elected at the meeting.

A meeting of the young Democrats in Grant County has been called for Friday night at the Court House in Petersburg. At the meeting delegates to the convention will be named and permanent officers elected.

To Address Teachers

The teachers meeting to be held at Moorefield High School August 31 will be addressed by A. J. Gibson, state supervisor of high schools. Also on the program will be Richard E. Hyde, executive secretary of the state teachers retirement system.

Dr. W. H. S. White, president of Shepherd College, and Prof. W. R. Thatcher, of Shepherd College, will address the teachers at the afternoon session. The meeting is scheduled to start at 9:30 a. m.

Thomas Council Votes To Install Parking Meters

Vacant Lot Leased For Use As Swimming Pool And Municipal Park

By MRS. HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 28—The City Council of Thomas voted to have between 140 and 150 parking meters installed on Main street in that town at their recent meeting, according to Carmen "Zeke" DiBacco, newly-elected mayor. The meters will cost approximately $12,000 and will be installed within the next 30 days.

Mayor DiBacco also stated that 10 arces of land have been leased from the Western Maryland Railway on a vacant plot of ground between the DiBacco garage and the State garage, to be used as a city park. A swimming pool will be built there.

The project is being sponsored by the City Council and the Lions Club of Thomas. The excavation for the swimming pool will be started within the next 10 days but concrete pouring will not be done until next spring, due to the sudden cold weather. The pool will not require pumping of water but will have constant flow of water supplied by the city and natural streams. The lease is to be good as long as the swimming pool remains on the grounds. The pool will be 50 by 100 feet.

Mayor DiBacco also stated that the council had sent a petition to the State Roads Commission in Charleston in regard to a permanent improvement to Route 32 between the towns of Thomas and Davis.

The petition stated that the road has been ruined by the 25 trucks that move over it on an average of one every three minutes from the coal tipple in Thomas about two miles on the Davis road to where strip mining is being done by two companies. The mines have operated there for over a year, mining coal for a distance of about 10 miles on each side of the highway.

The petition further states that the trucks are overloaded and have ruined the roads so that the scenic spots of the county are not accessible to tourists. The ground is owned by the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh Railroad and leased to the Davis Coal and Coke for 99 years. The Davis Coal and Coke in turn has leased the tract of land to the Sam Polina Company of Elkins and the Shenandoah Mining company of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Similar petitions have been sent to the state from the town of Davis, the Board of Education, whose buses must use the roads this winter to transport pupils to and from school; the County Court and the Thomas council.

Golightly Rites Set

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence in Davis Thursday at 2:30 p. m. for Mrs. Mary Etta Golightly, 77, a resident of that town for 50 years, who died suddenly at her home Tuesday morning.

Rev. George C. Stratton, pastor of the Davis Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Davis Cemetery.

Miss Ruth Carter Becomes Bride Of Thomas Hall

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28 — Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Garrett, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Lorraine Carter, a registered nurse, to Thomas Joseph Hall, Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday, August 24, in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church. Rev. Regis Larkin, assistant pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Darrell Zeller was her sister's only attendant.

The bride wore an aqua colored dress, a pink feathered hat, short veil, pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The matron of honor wore a gray suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Carter, the bride's mother, chose a blue jersey print dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride, a graduate of Garrett and Meyersdale High Schools, completed her training as a professional nurse at the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland, and did private nursing until she joined the Naval Nurse Corps. She was released from the Navy with the rank of lieutenant (j.g.) after serving at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va., and Seagate Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The bridegroom attended West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, before his induction in the Marine Corps. He was discharged in December, 1945, after serving three years, part of them in the Pacific area. He is employed as assistant pressman at the Samuel Green Publishing Company plant in Philadelphia.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Zeller entertained with a reception for the couple at their home, East Main street.

The couple are spending their honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Canada. They will live in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Geis Dies

Mrs. Mary Katherine Kahl Geis, 77, widow of Edward Geis, and a resident of Frostburg the greater part of her life, died Wednesday at her home, 110 Wood street. She lived with her son, John Geis.

Mrs. Geis, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Kahl, pioneer residents of Garrett County, was born in Accident.

Besides her son, John, she leaves another son, Charles Geis, Center street; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Morton, Cumberland, and Mrs. Alvin Morton, this city; two brothers, Louis Kahl, Accident; George F. Kahl, Backus, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. George George, Accident, and Mrs. Christine Hendricks, Pringhar, Iowa, and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Geis was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Funeral services will be held Friday, 2:30 p. m., at her residence, with Rev. J. H. Liesmann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

18 New Mineral County Teachers Are Appointed

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 28 — Haven L. Idleman, superintendent of schools, of Mineral County, reports the appointment of 18 teachers since the placement of teachers was announced some time ago. These appointments are to fill vacancies.

At this time two high school science teachers are needed and five vacancies remain in the elementary schools. Idleman hopes to have these vacancies filled by the opening day of school, September 5.

The new appointments are; William Bane, Burlington, principal, Antioch Elementary School; Barbara Proudfood, Keyser, Barnum, one-room school, Gladys McDowell, intermediate grades, Beryl; Eva Pritts and Dawn Hardesty, Shaw, principal and teacher of Cross School; Beatrice Jenkins, Fort Ashby and Georgianna Yost, Keyser, Fort Ashby Elementary School.

Matie Wimer Harris, Keyser has been appointed principal of Fountain School. Mary Lou Hayes, Greensboro, N. C., will be home economics teacher in Howard High School, and Robert Dixon, Piedmont, mathematics teacher in Piedmont high school. Bettie Babb, Mayesville, Christine Kidner, Keyser, and Jonathon Baker, Piedmont, will teach in Ridgeley High School.

Flora Amtower, Laurel Dale, Antoinette Heiskell, Ridgeley, and Sallie Siever, Keyser were named teachers in Ridgeley Elementary School. Marvin Hockman, Hampshire County, and Jewelle Kincaid, Elkins will be principal and teacher of Short Gap School. Barbara Cornelius, Ridgeley, has been transferred from Beryl School to Ridgeley Elementary School.

Gladys McDowell, Matie Wimer, Eva Pritts and Jonathan Baker are former Mineral County teachers; Marvin Hockman has several years' experience teaching in Hampshire County. The other appointees are teaching their first term or coming to the county for the first time.

Parking Meters Here

Parking meters will be installed on the following Keyser streets; Main and Davis streets between East Piedmont and Armstrong; Armstrong street from Mineral to Water; Center street from Davis to Sharpless; East Piedmont street from Mineral to Main, and East, West, South and Court streets. The last four border the court house grounds.

Of the 220 meters ordered most have been received. In discussing the installation A. A. Jordan, city clerk, said the work will begin as soon as needed pipes arrive; all other parts are already here: The contract for installing the meters have been awarded to Ray Coffman, local contractor.

The meters are of the type which will receive pennies or nickels; 12 minutes are allowed for a penny or one hour for a nickel. It is announced that special parking privileges will be granted to physicians, buses and taxis.

Plan Overhead Bridge

The State Roads Commission is making a survey of the residential section of the city north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks to determine how much people in that area use the bridge between Keyser and McCoole. The result of the survey will have a bearing on the final plans for the overhead bridge now being considered.

As planned, the new span will carry traffic overhead from the main section of Keyser to a point in McCoole, thus eliminating the railroad grade crossings as well as the danger from high water in flood times. The main approach to the bridge will be at the head of Center street on Mineral.

Thomas Council Votes To Install Parking Meters

By MRS. HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 28—The City Council of Thomas voted to have between 140 and 150 parking meters installed on Main street in that town at their recent meeting, according to Carmen "Zeke" DiBacco, newly-elected mayor. The meters will cost approximately $12,000 and will be installed within the next 30 days.

Mayor DiBacco also stated that 10 arces of land have been leased from the Western Maryland Railway on a vacant plot of ground between the DiBacco garage and the State garage, to be used as a city park. A swimming pool will be built there.

The project is being sponsored by the City Council and the Lions Club of Thomas. The excavation for the swimming pool will be started within the next 10 days but concrete pouring will not be done until next spring, due to the sudden cold weather. The pool will not require pumping of water but will have constant flow of water supplied by the city and natural streams. The lease is to be good as long as the swimming pool remains on the grounds. The pool will be 50 by 100 feet.

Mayor DiBacco also stated that the council had sent a petition to the State Roads Commission in Charleston in regard to a permanent improvement to Route 32 between the towns of Thomas and Davis.

The petition stated that the road has been ruined by the 25 trucks that move over it on an average of one every three minutes from the coal tipple in Thomas about two miles on the Davis road to where strip mining is being done by two companies. The mines have operated there for over a year, mining coal for a distance of about 10 miles on each side of the highway.

The petition further states that the trucks are overloaded and have ruined the roads so that the scenic spots of the county are not accessible to tourists. The ground is owned by the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh Railroad and leased to the Davis Coal and Coke for 99 years. The Davis Coal and Coke in turn has leased the tract of land to the Sam Polina Company of Elkins and the Shenandoah Mining company of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Similar petitions have been sent to the state from the town of Davis, the Board of Education, whose buses must use the roads this winter to transport pupils to and from school; the County Court and the Thomas council.

Golightly Rites Set

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence in Davis Thursday at 2:30 p. m. for Mrs. Mary Etta Golightly, 77, a resident of that town for 50 years, who died suddenly at her home Tuesday morning.

Rev. George C. Stratton, pastor of the Davis Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Davis Cemetery.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27 — Good morning, and very happy I am to be back among you, chatting with you again while you drink your orange juice and sip your coffee. I am sure you won't mind if I wax a little sentimental before I get down to reporting the actual news. I have been away from my desk since April 16 and during all these months I have had occasion to know how many wonderful friends I have among you—friends whose prayers, plus of course my fine doctor, Verne Mason and the great surgeons, John C. Jones and John Flick, have made it possible for me to be back at this same old typewriter.

And say, Dear Mr. Managing Editor, where is that new typewriter I was promised? Oh well, I just love the old familiar wheeze in this one which has rattled out literally thousands of stories since it was new and shining 20 years ago. With the aid of this old familiar friend, let me also thank my nurses, and while I am in this beatific mood, I would be ungrateful, indeed, if I didn't thank Dorothy Manners, my close friend and business associate for many years, for the splendid manner in which she carried on the column in my absence. Of course, I can't find a thing on my desk — the calendar is still April, the old favorite pencils and pens, my paper weight—have all disappeared.

And last, but by no means least, may I add that my daughter Harriet was so good on the air she is being sought on all sides with offers of other shows. Thank you, Dorothy, thank you, Harriet, and I'll thank my favorite managing editor, Mr. Ray Van Ettisch, when he comes through with my typewriter. I was promised it, wasn't I?

Margaret Sullavan, more than any actress I know, has the gift of looking like a teen-ager with that boyish haircut and that cute little face. When I dined with her at the Sam Goldwyns I said to myself, "There is one girl who will never grow old." I heard from someone close to Maggie why she and Joe Cotten ARE NOT going to London to play in "The Voice of the Turtle." The London producer, unwilling to substitute less popular stars, wanted an assurance that Maggie and Joe would remain in London for the run of the play, which could be one year, two years, or even longer. Naturally neither was willing to leave this country for that long.

I pinned Arthur Hornblow down today and said, "Is Jennifer Jones going to play Jinny in 'Cass Timberlane', or isn't she?" Arthur, who cannot tell a lie, said, "I will have to admit we're trying to get Jennifer to play opposite Spencer Tracy and the negotiations look very good. She owes 20th another picture. She's committed to them since 'Bernadette' so if David Selznick can arrange with 20th, well, she'll go to MGM." That would be a very good combination, Spencer Tracy and Jennifer Jones. And let me say, Jennifer looked so lovely at the Selznick party Saturday night with her hair piled high on her head and wearing a white dress — prettier than I've ever seen her.

I feel in a prophesying mood this morning. So I'll steal Vincent Flaherty's stuff (as if anyone could — how that boy can write sports) and tell you some news. When Santa Anita opens in December, Eddie Arcaro, who brought so many of the Whitney thoroughbreds home, will ride for Louis B. Mayer. That means all our favorites in the Mayer stables will have Arcaro's guiding hand. L. B. is very amusing when he tells how he first became interested in race horses. He was with Herbert Woolf, and after Lawrin won the Kentucky derby, L. B. said, "Herbert became the lion of the hour. Girls rushed up to him and shook his hand and so I said, 'I'll get a few horses myself if that's the way you get treated'."

Chatter in Hollywood: Rosalind Russell has decided that sailing is not for her. She and Freddie Brisson, William Powell and little "Mousie" (Mrs. P. to you) chartered a boat to be gone a few weeks. By the time they reached Coronado poor Roz was so desperately ill she had to be taken off the boat and hurried to the Coronado hotel and a doctor called. Bill and Mousie went on at Roz insistance but she'll take her vacation some other way. She isn't the only one who found the waves not too pleasant. The Darryl Zanucks and their children were all sick when they went out a week or so ago, but they have tried it again with Constance Bennett and Colonel Coulter, Pefe Perri and the Charles Feldmans.

Olivia De Havilland and her bridegroom, Marcus Goodrich, will be here in late September. Marcus is writing a book which can be written in Hollywood, as well as New York. When I inquired what had happened to Major John McKeon, I was told that this romance is ancient history. Olivia's known Marcus for five years, but it wasn't until she went to New York and they started going around together that the marriage idea struck them. She telephoned her sister, Joan Fontaine, the night before they were married and Joan couldn't have been more surprised. Goodrich acted as public relations go-between for Mary Astor and the press during her trouble with Dr. Franklin Thorpe when the famous diary case was Hollywood's main topic of conversation.

Joseph Schenck is leaving Hollywood October 10 for five months, and let me say right here that hundreds will be homeless. He's the most hospitable man in our town, and his Sunday lunches and his little dinner parties bring a congenial group together three or four times a week. Joe, who let the Darryl Zanucks have his Palm Springs House, has taken a house in Cuernavaca, Mexico. From Mexico he goes to South America, where he will study film conditions and don't be surprised if after that visit the Latin country, 'way, 'way down south of the border, will want him to be their ambassador. He has such a faculty for making friends.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Now you can expect anything. Lois Andrews, ex-child bride of George Jessel, and twice married Artie Shaw, in a trance at the Seacombers. . . . The John J. Marquands paused briefly in town over the weekend and were dinner guests of the Cedric Gibbons. The Gary Coopers brought Millicent Rogers. . . . Clark Gable was expected, but failed to appear, but the Standard Oil heiress didn't want for attention. Van Johnson was there! . . . John Carroll and MGM have parted company, but it is all very amicable. John wants to do western action pictures a La John Wayne. . . . Frances and Sam Goldwyn are going to Honolulu for a month. If they'd waited a month longer the royal Hawaiian hotel would have been open. It's taking months to restore it after navy occupation. . . . Elsa Maxwell has taken over the Jack Warner house for a dinner she's giving Saturday night. . . . Evelyn Keyes' bridegroom, John Huston, has never seen her on the screen and neither has her pa-in-law, Walter Huston. He confided to me at the Selznick party in honor of the young Hustons, that he thought Evelyn was very pretty. I sat at a table with Walter, Norma Shearer, Mary Pickford, wearing a Paris dress of pale blue brocaded satin. David's lovely mother acted as hostess. She and I had much to say to each other. I have known her since David was in knickers. The idea of having one dance in which the men were given the names of their partners on a printed slip went over big. The next dance, the women had to go and seek the gentlemen. Barbara Moffett, who should be in the movies, arrived from New York in time for the party, and that didn't make Harry Crocker mad. To say who all were there would mean a "who's who" — the William Randolph Hearst Jr.s here for a few days, Joan Bennett talking to her favorite director, Fritz Lang, Jane Wyman reluctantly leaving early with Ronald Reagan because their nurse was on vacation, etc. That's all today.

Fairgo Wagering Passes Two Million Mark

Fleetest Wins Richest Race; Chosen Miss, 16-1 Shot Cops Elks Trophy

Intermission Captures Robertson Memorial; Fans Wager $334,783; Ted O. Scores Again

Wagering at Fairgo for seven days passed the two million dollar mark yesterday when $334,783 passed through the mutuel windows as approximately 10,000 persons witnessed the eight-race program on Cumberland Day.

The $334,783 handle was the second highest ever recorded at the Cumberland Fair Association's track, ranking below the all-time high of $361,104 wagered last Saturday and topping the betting figures on the corresponding day in 1945 by $37,798.

Daily Average Is $299,321

Yesterday's "big play" raised the meet's daily betting average to $299,321, based on a seven-day total handle of $2,095,251. This total is $492,177 below the $2,587,428 bet during the ten days last year and a new record is expected to be reached during Friday's program. The handle on three successive events yesterday exceeded $40,000 and the daily double pool of $29,114 was the highest of the meeting to date.

Norman Corbin's Fleetest, good five-year-old mare, romped to an eight lengths' triumph over Army Belle to win the meet's richest race, the William L. and Camille J. Sherman Trophy, sixth event on the card, which carried a value of $1,500, including $500 in United States bonds offered by the Shermans.

Fleetest was the second thoroughbred saddled by Norman "Junie" Corbin to score during the afternoon and boosted the trainer's winners to six for the meeting, giving him the lead in the race for the gold ring offered by the Harvey Jewelry Company.

Owner, Jockey Rewarded

At the conclusion of the race Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the fair association, introduced Mayor Thomas S. Post, who in turn introduced Trainer Corbin and Jockey Sammy Palumbo, the winning rider. Little Patty Sherman, daughter of the bond donors, congratulated the owner-trainer, who received $400 in bonds, and Palumbo, whose reward was a $100 bond. Corbin also received $700 of the $1,000 purse and Palumbo earned $35 for piloting a winning mount. Fleetest's fifth win of the year netted a return of only 40 cents on the dollar to those wagered on the winner.

Prior to the running of the Sherman trophy event, Mrs. P. G. Simm's Intermission, Eddie Ballenger up, scored by a head over Hot Pole, owned by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, of this city, to annex the fourth annual running of the Col. William H. Robertson Memorial. Fabrin, coupled with Doe Head as the John E. Hughes-Shangrila Stable entry, took third money.

The trophy offered by the widow of Col. Robertson was presented to Mrs. Simms by Miss Sidney Franklin. The payoff on Intermission was $5 for $2.

Long Shot Wins Elk Award

Chosen Miss, a 16 to 1 shot, won the B. P. O. Elks Trophy, the fourth race on the program, by dashing home ahead of Kohinoor and Molasses Betts. E. Carrillo, Puerto Rican rider, was aboard the winner which paid $34.40, $11.90 and 04.90, the prices of the day.

Michael F. O'Neill, exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, introduced Grand Exalted Ruler Charles E. Broughton, of Sheboygan, Wis., head of 8,000 Elks, who congratulated Carillo for his excellent riding and presented the Elks' trophy to Owner-Trainer John K. Fockler.

B. F. Rifkin's Chipping In, which closed at 10 to 1, won by a nose over Decisive in the opening event. Those who backed the winner received $23.30 for each $2 straight ticket. It was the fifth winner saddled by Norman Corbin and was brought home by Jockey R. Fitzgerald.

Taking the lead at the club house turn and maintaining it the rest of the way, Phoness, owned by Mrs. C. P. Chenoweth defeated Bare Wings by three lengths to annex the major portion of the purse in the second. Wilton was third and Tommy Atkins fourth.

Bobby Runyon was aboard the winning filly and notched his eleventh first of the session, giving him a commanding lead in the battle for leading rider. His point total soared to 64 yesterday — fifteen in the fore of Sammy Palumbo, his closest competitor.

Chipping In and Phoness (4 and 1) was the winning daily double combination, which netted $191.20 for $2.

Bold Warrior Destroyed

The first accident of the meeting occurred in the third race when J. M. Shaw's Bold Warrior stumbled while running fourth in the stretch, suffered a broken left front leg and tossed Jockey J. Baird to the track near the inside rail. The six-year-old gelding was destroyed. Baird was badly shaken up and bruised but he was not injured seriously.

Maryland Morn with Patsy Grant up defeated Mayfern by two lengths in this race and China Toy was third.

Grandma C Breezes Home

Grandma C breezed home the winner over Breakable Miss by five lengths in the final event, the WTBO Radio Station Trophy. Danny Scocca rode the winner which paid $10.30 for $2. The trophy went to Owner H. N. Warren. Before the race got under way Raymond Winchester's First Showing broke through the starting gate three times and had to be returned by the outrider.

Walcott Beaten By Joey Maxim

By TED MEIER

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 28—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, Camden heavyweight being boomed for a heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis, lost a surprise 10-round decision to Joey Maxim, of Cleveland, at the Camden ballpark tonight. Walcott weighed 192; Maxim, 180.

Jersey Joe, 32-year-old father of six children who knocked out Tommy Gomez of Tampa, Fla., in New York's Madison Square Garden only a few weeks ago, hurt Maxim in the first two rounds with solid rights to the kidney. At that time it did not seem that Maxim, a two and one underdog in the betting, would last the distance.

After the injury to Walcott's hand, Maxim began to hold his own in the clinches and on occasion outboxed and beat Joe to the punch. Walcott, however, remained the aggressor throughout the contest.

Maxim suffered a small cut on the inside of his left eye during a clinch in the sixth round. He seemed bothered by blood at the bell but he was fixed up by his seconds in between rounds and no further bleeding occurred. Maxim's best round was the eighth when he landed repeated jabs, tied up Walcott in close and then on the break landed a left hook and a right cross that drove Joe into the ropes.

The defeat ended a 12-bout winning streak for Jersey Joe. He now has won 15 of 17 on his current comeback that began two years ago.

Referee Paul Cavalier's decision giving Maxim five rounds, Walcott three and calling two even came as a stunning surprise to many in the crowd. Some boos greeted the decision.

The Associated Press scorecard had Walcott on top six, three and one.

St. Louis Cards Cop Two Games And Boost Lead

Beat Giants 13-8 And 3-2 To Move 1 1-2 Games Ahead Of Dodgers

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals jumped a game and a half out in front in the hot National League flag chase tonight on pinchhitter Walter Sessi's two-run ninth-inning homer which gave the Redbirds a 3-to-2 victory and a sweep of a day-and-night doubleheader as Brooklyn lost a single game at Chicago.

A 15-hit attack on six Giant pitchers gave the Cardinals a 13-8 victory in the afternoon contest when Manager Eddie Dyer's athletes broke the first-place tie with the Dodgers and took a full length lead. Box:

71,551 See Yanks Beat Bob Feller In Night Contest

Ernie Bonham Registers 4 To 0 Victory Over Cleveland

Feller, who retired at the end of seven innings in favor of Joe Berry, fanned only four to raise his season's total to 284.

Charley Keller led the Yankee's seven-hit attack against the Cleveland fireballer with a double and a triple in three trips as the New Yorkers beat Feller for the second straight time after he had taken their measure in the first four games in which he faced them.

Keller's two-bagger scored Bill Johnson with the Yanks' first run in the fourth for all the scoring that Bonham required for his fifth win and first of the year over Cleveland. Score:

CLEVELAND	000 000 000—0 7 2

Feller, Berry (8) and Hegan. Bonham and Robinson.

A's BLANK BROWNS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28 (AP)—Denny Galehouse pitched a two-hitter for the St. Louis Browns to shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 0, tonight before a ladies' night crowd of 18,399. It was Galehouse's sixth victory against ten defeats. Score:

ST. LOUIS	000 230 020—7 13 0

Galehouse and Mancuso, Christopher, Knerr (5), Savage (9) and Rosar.

PIRATES LOSE 4-1

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh, 4-1, at Forbes Field tonight to drive the Pirates deeper into the National League cellar. Southpaw Oscar Judd limited the Bucs to four hits and drove in two runs with a double before yielding the mound with the bases loaded in the seventh. Score:

PHILADELPHIA	000 020 200—4 7 1

Judd, Donnelly (7) and Seminick, Sewell, Gables (8) and Lopez.

GROVE BEATS NEWSOM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Orval Grove outlasted Bobo Newsom in a pitching duel here tonight as Chicago defeated Washington, 2-1, in a 12-inning game.

Thurman Tucker tripled with one out in the twelfth and scored on Luke Appling's fly to right field to give the White Sox their winning run. The loss checked a Newsom string of victories at five. It was Grove's seventh win.

Washington threatened in its half of the 12th when Gerry Priddy's pop fly fell safely in short left field for a double, but First Baseman Hal Trosky then stabbed at Stan Spence's liner and threw to Appling at second to catch Priddy for a double play. Sherry Robertson flied out. Score:

CHICAGO	000 001 000 001—2 11 2

Grove and Hayes. Newsom and Guerra.

Big League Club Owners Improve Player Contracts

Joint Session Of Major Magnates Concurs With Player Proposals

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP) — Major league club owners today met the challenges of unionism and Mexican League raids by fully complying with an unprecedented player demand for an improved contract and by authorizing player representation on baseball's governing body for the first time in the game's history.

A joint session of American and National League magnates, meeting less than 90 minutes, unanimously concurred with a slate of player proposals.

The proposals included representation on a grievance committee, a minimum salary believed to be $5,000, a pension plan, modification of the 10-day release clause, extension of post-season exhibition play from 10 to 30 days, and incidental spring training expenses.

Displace Advisory Group

Most significant of the concessions which filled 40 typewritten pages was establishment of an executive council which will include a player delegate from each league to displace the old advisory council. The old council included only Commissioner A. B. Chandler and President Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues respectively.

In addition to the two players, the new council will be composed of Chandler, Frick, Harridge and owner representatives, Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees and Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds. Its word will be final in all baseball matters, subject to approval by the annual joint meeting of the majors.

Thus the owners, who last July set in motion the whole collective bargaining scheme of their own accord, responded to Robert Murphy's once-defeated Baseball Guild and the waning lure of Jorge Pasquel's Mexican league.

Council Will Be Formed

Pending formal organization of the council, negotiations between owners and players will continue to be conducted by a policy committee, headed by MacPhail, it will meet with the players' own six-member steering committee "as soon as possible" to consider the contract as it was revised today.

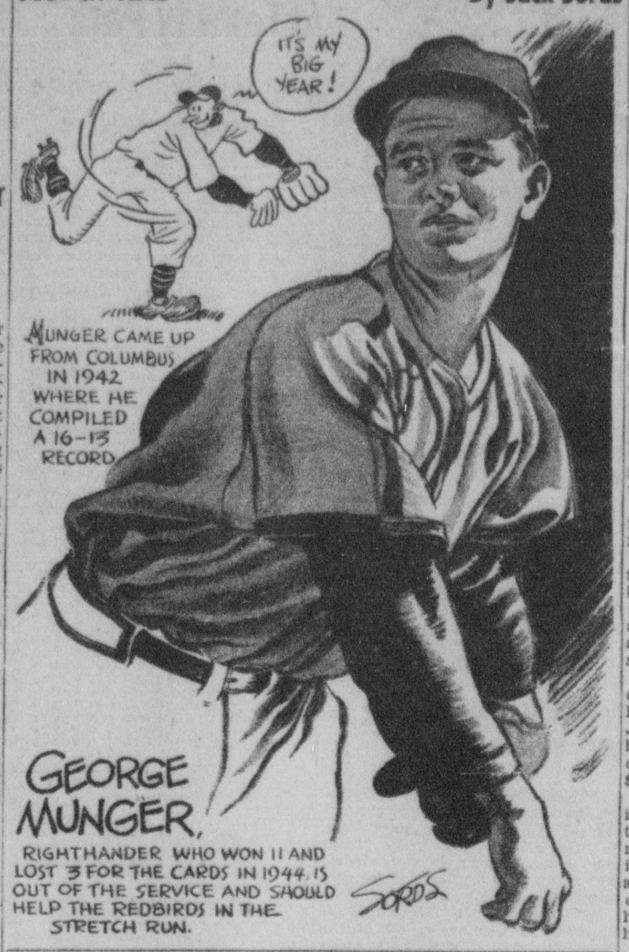

MacPhail pointed out that since the players' group, at a meeting in New York Aug. 5 had concurred in the recommendations which were fully adopted today, there was little likelihood of any unfavorable reception by the players generally.

Chandler, announcing results of today's meeting, said full details of the revision would be released when the new contract is acted upon by the players.

A report of Ohio high school athletics reveals that 24,849 boys played basketball on school teams, 18,053 played football, 4,898 played baseball and 6,361 participated in track. There were 1,134 basketball, 764 baseball, 514 football and 484 track teams.

Manley 'Cap Tops Three Trophy Races At Fairgo

Chaney, Little, Hauger Awards Are Offered To Winning Owners In Contests Today

The eleventh running of The Harry A. Manley Memorial, fifth event on the card, will be today's feature at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

This event was first held in 1936, following the death of the popular president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association. To the winning owner in this feature goes $700 of the $1,000 purse, a leg on an imported silver trophy, valued at $1,000, and the Howard E. Chaney Memorial trophy, donated by Mrs. Howard E. Chaney, proprietress of the Chaney Cigar Store.

Master Lad, High Hedge, Lady's Favor, Pansy's First, Sure Touch, Brazen Hussy, Walter Haight, Weatherite, Semper Ego and Comedy Player were past winners of the imported trophy, which must be won three times to become a permanent possession.

J. E. Crider's Comedy Player is the only past winner entered in the Manley today. The race is over 6½ furlongs.

Two other trophy races are listed today. The owner of the winner in the sixth will receive the Ward N. Hauger Jewelry Trophy while in the seventh the S. T. Little Jewelry Company trophy will be presented, the second of the meeting offered by the Baltimore street firm.

FAIRGO NOTES

Jockey Benny Leggett was fined $100 by the stewards yesterday for creating a disturbance on the track and in the jockeys' room after the running of the third race on Tuesday.

Jockey G. Cardoza was fined $50 for rough riding after the break of the third race on Tuesday. He was aboard Blablah.

Grandma C., winner of the eighth race yesterday, was claimed by A. A. Fishback for $1,800.

Three Ten-Rounders

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 — Three ten-round bouts will feature the Rooney-McGinley professional fight card at Forbes Field, September 4.

Dorsey Lay, Philadelphia lightweight, will oppose Juste Fontaine, of Pittsburgh; Erv Sarlin, Pittsburgh heavyweight, will tackle Pat Comiskey, giant Irishman from Paterson, N. J., and Ossie Harris, Pittsburgh, will face Dave Clark, Cincinnati middleweight.

Elmer Ray Wins Over Lee Savold In Second Round

'Violent' Kayoes Veteran Heavy Before 14,953 Fans In Brooklyn

By SID FEDER

BROOKLYN, Aug. 28. (AP)—Elmer Ray, the Florida Flailer who is known as the Violent Ray because of the mayhem he dishes out, chalked up his 44th straight win tonight by flattening the veteran Lee Savold in two rounds before the largest crowd to see a fight in Brooklyn in two decades. Ray weighed 194; Savold 200.

Making his featured fistic debut in the New York area at Ebbets field, home of the baseball Dodgers, the Hastings, Fla., negro floored the blonde veteran from Des Moines, by way of Paterson, N. J., early in the second round, then put him away for the full count of "ten" at 1 minute, 39 seconds of the session.

A total of 14,953 customers sat on the proceedings—largest Ebbets Field turnout since Harry Wills and Jack Sharkey fought in this same ball park in the mid-twenties—and contributed to a gross gate of $35,953.

Savold made it interesting only in the early moments of each of the two heats the scheduled ten-rounder lasted as he stepped off in front. But Ray opened up in a hurry on each occasion and teed off on Savold's chin, and when he did there was little doubt just how the fight was going to windup.

Chalking up his 13th straight knockout in a two-year run that now includes 39 jobs of turning the lights out for opponents in 44 starts, the Violent Ray was only in any kind of trouble once. That was in the first few seconds of the second round, when Savold turned loose a fast flurry that forced Elmer to cover up momentarily.

Then, instead of holding on to avoid the danger that was moving in on him, he tried to box at long range, and school was out in a few seconds. A left-right-left combination caught him on the chin and down he went again. He rolled over, face down and stayed that way as Referee Frank Fullam completed the full count.

Fairgo Wagering Passes Two Million Mark

Fleetest Wins Richest Race; Chosen Miss, 16-1 Shot Cops Elks Trophy

Intermission Captures Robertson Memorial; Fans Wager $334,783; Ted O. Scores Again

Wagering at Fairgo for seven days passed the two million dollar mark yesterday when $334,783 passed through the mutuel windows as approximately 10,000 persons witnessed the eight-race program on Cumberland Day.

The $334,783 handle was the second highest ever recorded at the Cumberland Fair Association's track, ranking below the all-time high of $361,104 wagered last Saturday and topping the betting figures on the corresponding day in 1945 by $37,798.

Yesterday's "big play" raised the meet's daily betting average to $299,321, based on a seven-day total handle of $2,095,251. This total is $492,177 below the $2,587,428 bet during the ten days last year and a new record is expected to be reached during Friday's program. The handle on three successive events yesterday exceeded $40,000 and the daily double pool of $29,114 was the highest of the meeting to date.

Norman Corbin's Fleetest, good five-year-old mare, romped to an eight lengths' triumph over Army Belle to win the meet's richest race, the William L. and Camille J. Sherman Trophy, sixth event on the card, which carried a value of $1,500, including $500 in United States bonds offered by the Shermans.

Fleetest was the second thoroughbred saddled by Norman "Junie" Corbin to score during the afternoon and boosted the trainer's winners to six for the meeting, giving him the lead in the race for the gold ring offered by the Harvey Jewelry Company.

Owner, Jockey Rewarded

At the conclusion of the race Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the fair association, introduced Mayor Thomas S. Post, who in turn introduced Trainer Corbin and Jockey Sammy Palumbo, the winning rider. Little Patty Sherman, daughter of the bond donors, congratulated the owner-trainer, who received $400 in bonds, and Palumbo, whose reward was a $100 bond. Corbin also received $700 of the $1,000 purse and Palumbo earned $35 for piloting a winning mount. Fleetest's fifth win of the year netted a return of only 40 cents on the dollar to those wagered on the winner.

Prior to the running of the Sherman trophy event, Mrs. P. G. Simm's Intermission, Eddie Ballenger up, scored by a head over Hot Pole, owned by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, of this city, to annex the fourth annual running of the Col. William H. Robertson Memorial. Fabrin, coupled with Doe Head as the John E. Hughes-Shangrila Stable entry, took third money.

The trophy offered by the widow of Col. Robertson was presented to Mrs. Simms by Miss Sidney Franklin. The payoff on Intermission was $5 for $2.

Long Shot Wins Elk Award

Chosen Miss, a 16 to 1 shot, won the B. P. O. Elks Trophy, the fourth race on the program, by dashing home ahead of Kohinoor and Molasses Betts. E. Carrillo, Puerto Rican rider, was aboard the winner which paid $34.40, $11.90 and 04.90, the prices of the day.

Michael F. O'Neill, exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, introduced Grand Exalted Ruler Charles E. Broughton, of Sheboygan, Wis., head of 8,000 Elks, who congratulated Carillo for his excellent riding and presented the Elks' trophy to Owner-Trainer John K. Fockler.

B. F. Rifkin's Chipping In, which closed at 10 to 1, won by a nose over Decisive in the opening event. Those who backed the winner received $23.30 for each $2 straight ticket. It was the fifth winner saddled by Norman Corbin and was brought home by Jockey R. Fitzgerald.

Taking the lead at the club house turn and maintaining it the rest of the way, Phoness, owned by Mrs. C. P. Chenoweth defeated Bare Wings by three lengths to annex the major portion of the purse in the second, Wilton was third and Tommy Atkins fourth.

Bobby Runyon was aboard the winning filly and notched his eleventh first of the session, giving him a commanding lead in the battle for leading rider. His point total soared to 64 yesterday — fifteen in the fore of Sammy Palumbo, his closest competitor.

Chipping In and Phoness (4 and 1) was the winning daily double combination, which netted $191.20 for $2.

Bold Warrior Destroyed

The first accident of the meeting occurred in the third race when J. M. Shaw's Bold Warrior stumbled while running fourth in the stretch, suffered a broken left front leg and tossed Jockey J. Baird to the track near the inside rail. The six-year-old gelding was destroyed. Baird was badly shaken up and bruised but he was not injured seriously.

Maryland Morn with Patsy Grant up defeated Mayfern by two lengths in this race and China Toy was third.

Grandma C Breezes Home

Grandma C breezed home the winner over Breakable Miss by five lengths in the final event, the WTBO Radio Station Trophy. Danny Scocca rode the winner which paid $10.30 for $2. The trophy went to Owner H. N. Warren. Before the race got under way Raymond Winchester's First Showing broke through the starting gate three times and had to be returned by the outrider.

Walcott Beaten By Joey Maxim

By TED MEIER

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 28—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, Camden heavyweight being boomed for a heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis, lost a surprise 10-round decision to Joey Maxim, of Cleveland, at the Camden ballpark tonight. Walcott weighed 192; Maxim, 180.

Jersey Joe, 32-year-old father of six children who knocked out Tommy Gomez of Tampa, Fla., in New York's Madison Square Garden only a few weeks ago, hurt Maxim in the first two rounds with solid rights to the kidney. At that time it did not seem that Maxim, a two and one underdog in the betting, would last the distance.

After the injury to Walcott's hand, Maxim began to hold his own in the clinches and on occasion outboxed and beat Joe to the punch. Walcott, however, remained the aggressor throughout the contest.

Maxim suffered a small cut on the inside of his left eye during a clinch in the sixth round. He seemed bothered by blood at the bell but he was fixed up by his seconds in between rounds and no further bleeding occurred. Maxim's best round was the eighth when he landed repeated jabs, tied up Walcott in close and then on the break landed a left hook and a right cross that drove Joe into the ropes.

The defeat ended a 12-bout winning streak for Jersey Joe. He now has won 15 of 17 on his current comeback that began two years ago.

Referee Paul Cavalier's decision giving Maxim five rounds, Walcott three and calling two even came as a stunning surprise to many in the crowd. Some boos greeted the decision.

The Associated Press scorecard had Walcott on top six, three and one.

St. Louis Cards Cop Two Games And Boost Lead

Beat Giants 13-8 And 3-2 To Move 1 1-2 Games Ahead Of Dodgers

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — The t. Louis Cardinals jumped a game and a half out in front in the hot National League flag chase tonight on pinchhitter Walter Sessi's two-run ninth-inning homer which gave the Redbirds a 3-to-2 victory and a sweep of a day-and-night doubleheader as Brooklyn lost a single game at Chicago.

A 15-hit attack on six Giant pitchers gave the Cardinals a 13-8 victory in the afternoon contest when Manager Eddie Dyer's athletes broke the first-place tie with the Dodgers and took a full length lead. Box:

71,551 See Yanks Beat Bob Feller In Night Contest

Ernie Bonham Registers 4 To 0 Victory Over Cleveland

Feller, who retired at the end of seven innings in favor of Joe Berry, fanned only four to raise his season's total to 284.

Charley Keller led the Yankee's seven-hit attack against the Cleveland fireballer with a double and a triple in three trips as the New Yorkers beat Feller for the second straight time after he had taken their measure in the first four games in which he faced them.

Keller's two-bagger scored Bill Johnson with the Yanks' first run in the fourth for all the scoring that Bonham required for his fifth win and first of the year over Cleveland. Score:

CLEVELAND	.000 000 000—0 7 2

Feller, Berry (8) and Hegan, Bonham and Robinson.

A's BLANK BROWNS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28 (AP)—Denny Galehouse pitched a two-hitter for the St. Louis Browns to shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 0, tonight before a ladies' night crowd of 18,399. It was Galehouse's sixth victory against ten defeats. Score:

PIRATES LOSE 4-1

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh, 4-1, at Forbes Field tonight to drive the Pirates deeper into the National League cellar. Southpaw Oscar Judd limited the Bucs to four hits and drove in two runs with a double before yielding the mound with the bases loaded in the seventh. Score:

PHILADELPHIA	.000 020 200—4 7 1

GROVE BEATS NEWSOM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Orval Grove outlasted Bobo Newsom in a pitching duel here tonight as Chicago defeated Washington, 2-1, in a 12-inning game.

Thurman Tucker tripled with one out in the twelfth and scored on Luke Appling's fly to right field to give the White Sox their winning run. The loss checked a Newsom string of victories at five. It was Grove's seventh win.

Washington threatened in its half of the 12th when Gerry Priddy's pop fly fell safely in short left field for a double, but First Baseman Hal Trosky then stabbed at Stan Spence's liner and threw to Appling at second to catch Priddy for a double play. Sherry Robertson flied out. Score:

Big League Club Owners Improve Player Contracts

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP) — Major league club owners today met the challenges of unionism and Mexican League raids by fully complying with an unprecedented player demand for an improved contract and by authorizing player representation on baseball's governing body for the first time in the game's history.

A joint session of American and National League magnates, meeting less than 90 minutes, unanimously concurred with a slate of player proposals.

The proposals included representation on a grievance committee, a minimum salary believed to be $5,000, a pension plan, modification of the 10-day release clause, extension of post-season exhibition play from 10 to 30 days, and incidental spring training expenses.

Displace Advisory Group

Most significant of the concessions which filled 40 typewritten pages was establishment of an executive council which will include a player delegate from each league to displace the old advisory council. The old council included only Commissioner A. B. Chandler and President Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues respectively.

In addition to the two players, the new council will be composed of Chandler, Frick, Harridge and owner representatives, Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees and Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds. Its word will be final in all baseball matters, subject to approval by the annual joint meeting of the majors.

Thus the owners, who last July set in motion the whole collective bargaining scheme of their own accord, responded to Robert Murphy's once-defeated Baseball Guild and the waning lure of Jorge Pasquel's Mexican league.

Council Will Be Formed

Pending formal organization of the council, negotiations between owners and players will continue to be conducted by a policy committee, headed by MacPhail, it will meet with the players' own six-member steering committee "as soon as possible" to consider the contract as it was revised today.

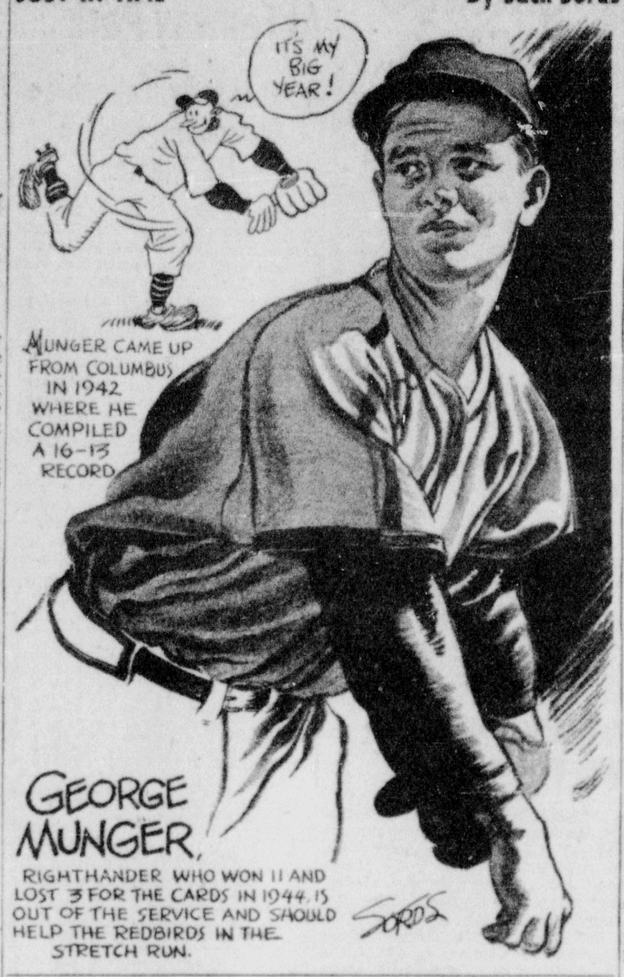

MacPhail pointed out that since the players' group, at a meeting in New York Aug. 5 had concurred in the recommendations which were fully adopted today, there was little likelihood of any unfavorable reception by the players generally.

Chandler, announcing results of today's meeting, said full details of the revision would be released when the new contract is acted upon by the players.

A report of Ohio high school athletics reveals that 24,849 boys played basketball on school teams, 18,053 played football, 4,898 played baseball and 6,361 participated in track. There were 1,134 basketball, 764 baseball, 514 football and 484 track teams.

Manley 'Cap Tops Three Trophy Races At Fairgo

Chaney, Little, Hauger Awards Are Offered To Winning Owners In Contests Today

The eleventh running of The Harry A. Manley Memorial, fifth event on the card, will be today's feature at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

This event was first held in 1936, following the death of the popular president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association. To the winning owner in this feature goes $700 of the $1,000 purse, a leg on an imported silver trophy, valued at $1,000, and the Howard E. Chaney Memorial trophy, donated by Mrs. Howard E. Chaney, proprietress of the Chaney Cigar Store.

Master Lad, High Hedge, Lady's Favor, Pansy's First, Sure Touch, Brazen Hussy, Walter Haight, Weatherite, Semper Ego and Comedy Player were past winners of the imported trophy, which must be won three times to become a permanent possession.

J. E. Crider's Comedy Player is the only past winner entered in the Manley today. The race is over 6½ furlongs.

Two other trophy races are listed today. The owner of the winner in the sixth will receive the Ward N. Hauger Jewelry Trophy while in the seventh the S. T. Little Jewelry Company trophy will be presented, the second of the meeting offered by the Baltimore street firm.

FAIRGO NOTES

Jockey Benny Leggett was fined $100 by the stewards yesterday for creating a disturbance on the track and in the jockeys' room after the running of the third race on Tuesday.

Jockey G. Cardoza was fined $50 for rough riding after the break of the third race on Tuesday. He was aboard Blablah.

Elmer Ray Wins Over Lee Savold In Second Round

'Violent' Kayoes Veteran Heavy Before 14,953 Fans In Brooklyn

By SID FEDER

BROOKLYN, Aug. 28. (AP)—Elmer Ray, the Florida Flailer who is known as the Violent Ray because of the mayhem he dishes out, chalked up his 44th straight win tonight by flattening the veteran Lee Savold in two rounds before the largest crowd to see a fight in Brooklyn in two decades. Ray weighed 194; Savold 200.

Making his featured fistic debut in the New York area at Ebbets field, home of the baseball Dodgers, the Hastings, Fla., negro floored the blonde veteran from Des Moines, by way of Paterson, N. J., early in the second round, then put him away for the full count of "ten" at 1 minute, 39 seconds of the session.

A total of 14,953 customers sat on the proceedings—largest Ebbets Field turnout since Harry Wills and Jack Sharkey fought in this same ball park in the mid-twenties—and contributed to a gross gate of $35,953.

Savold made it interesting only in the early moments of each of the two heats the scheduled ten-rounder lasted as he stepped off in front. But Ray opened up in a hurry on each occasion and teed off on Savold's chin, and when he did there was little doubt just how the fight was going to windup.

Chalking up his 13th straight knockout in a two-year run that now includes 39 jobs of turning the lights out for opponents in 44 starts, the Violent Ray was only in any kind of trouble once. That was in the first few seconds of the second round, when Savold turned loose a fast flurry that forced Elmer to cover up momentarily.

Then, instead of holding on to avoid the danger that was moving in on him, he tried to box at long range, and school was out in a few seconds. A left-right-left combination caught him on the chin and down he went again. He rolled over, face down and stayed that way as Referee Frank Fullam completed the full count.

Dodgers' Pennant Hopes Given Jolt By Chicago

Cubs Score Two Runs In Ninth To Win 4-3; Paul Erickson Gains Eighth Victory

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP) — Brooklyn's pennant hopes received a severe jolt in the gloom of Wrigley Field today as the Chicago Cubs rallied with two runs in the last of the ninth for a 4-3 decision that knocked the Dodgers out of the National League lead.

Combined with the St. Louis Cardinals' success against New York, the setback dropped the Brooks into second place with a .500 record of five won and five lost on their final western tour.

The Dodgers regained the lead on a controversial play in the eighth when Reese tripled on a fly down the right-field line which the Cubs bitterly disputed. Outfielder Phil Cavarretta got a glove on it and, thinking the ball was foul, delayed retrieving it. Reese then scored on Reiser's fly to Cavaretta.

Paul Erickson, who took over after Schmitz had been lifted for Pinch Hitter Nicholson, earned his eighth victory on a two-inning job. Box:

BRAVES, REDS SPLIT

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28 (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds split a twin bill with Boston today, taking the nightcap 2-0 on Ewell Blackwell's four-hit pitching after the Braves had won the opener 8-4.

In handing Johnny Vander Meer his eighth defeat of the season as against nine victories, the Braves nicked him for six runs on ten hits in eight innings in the first game.

Johnny Sain, who has been a troublemaker for Cincinnati this season, notched his fifth victory over the Reds against one defeat. It was his fifteenth triumph of the year against 12 losses. Box:

MEXICAN LOOP PREXY BRINGS $127,500 SUIT AGAINST MICKEY OWEN

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 28 (AP)—Mickey Owen was sued for $127,500 today by Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican Baseball League.

The suit, filed in Federal District Court here, asks $100,000 damages against the former Brooklyn catcher who jumped to the Mexican League only to desert the south of the border game after a few months play.

In addition, Pasquel asks return of $12,500, which he said had been paid as a bonus to Owen for deserting the Dodgers after his return from military service last spring, and $15,000 advanced to him as salary for 1946.

Owen, who was barred from big league baseball for five years for his jump to the Mexican circuit, has been living on his farm near Springfield since Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler refused an appeal from Mickey to rescind the exile order.

Tonflight Stake Horses Will Vie At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28, (AP)—The tenth running of the famed winner-take-all $25,000 Pimlico special will be held Friday, Nov. 1, the Maryland Jockey Club announced today, and already 18 topflight stake performers are eligible.

Invitations to the classic will be accorded to winners of 36 of the country's most important stake races. Of these, 26 already have been run.

Detroit Tigers Score First Win At Fenway Park

Homers By Cullenbine, Greenberg Feature 7-2 Triumph

BOSTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Homers by Roy Cullenbine and Hank Greenberg started and completed Detroit's 7-2 win over the top-place Red Sox today before a 28,789 crowd. It was the Tigers' first triumph in their 10 Fenway starts this season.

The Red Sox, with Ted Williams, who suffered a leg sprain yesterday in an automobile accident, patrolling his left field beat, gave Lefty Mickey Harris a two-run send-off. But Cullenbine set off the Tigers' winning drive with his sixth-inning homer.

Both of Boston's runs came over in the fourth, when Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams singled. The former scored when Skeeter Webb threw wild on Bobby Doerr's grounder. Rudy York then drove in Williams with a ringing base hit. Box:

FIVE QUARTERBACKS WORK ON TERP SQUAD

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 28, (AP)—The University of Maryland's "early bird" football squad now has two tested and three rookie quarterbacks who call signals regularly for the T-plays that are the main item on the Terps' practice agenda.

Tommy Mont, 1942 standout and army veteran, is in the saddle, and Vic Turyn, No. 1 signal caller last season, is close by. Joe Mocha of St. Clair, Pa., Joe Tucker from Central High of Washington and Stanford Lavine of Pittsburgh are the promising novices.

Ridgeley Leos Take 4th Game

Down Independents 11-6 To Even Series; Final Tilt Set Sunday

The Ridgeley Leos made it even-Stephen in their series with the Ridgeley Independents for the championship of the Frankfort District Softball League by winning the fourth game yesterday in Ridgeley by the score of 11-6.

The winners banged thirteen hits, including three by George Netzer, two each by Tichnell and C. Day and Largent's circuit wallop. B. Mulligan and Jewell accounted for five of the losers ten blows. The fielding gem was B. Mulligan's running catch of Fryer's bid for a home run.

Sunday at 4 p. m. on the Ridgeley field the teams will tangle in the fifth and deciding game of their series. Score:

LEOS	400 402 1	—11	13	1
INDEPENDENTS	000 302 2	— 6	10	4

Dodgers' Pennant Hopes Given Jolt By Chicago

Cubs Score Two Runs In Ninth To Win 4-3; Paul Erickson Gains Eighth Victory

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP) — Brooklyn's pennant hopes received a severe jolt in the gloom of Wrigley Field today as the Chicago Cubs rallied with two runs in the last of the ninth for a 4-3 decision that knocked the Dodgers out of the National League lead.

Combined with the St. Louis Cardinals' success against New York, the setback dropped the Brooks into second place with a .500 record of five won and five lost on their final western tour.

The Dodgers regained the lead on a controversial play in the eighth when Reese tripled on a fly down the right-field line which the Cubs bitterly disputed. Outfielder Phil Cavarretta got a glove on it and, thinking the ball was foul, delayed retrieving it. Reese then scored on Reiser's fly to Cavaretta.

Paul Erickson, who took over after Schmitz had been lifted for Pinch Hitter Nicholson, earned his eighth victory on a two-inning job. Box:

BRAVES, REDS SPLIT

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28 (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds split a twin bill with Boston today, taking the nightcap 2-0 on Ewell Blackwell's four-hit pitching after the Braves had won the opener 8-4.

In handing Johnny Vander Meer his eighth defeat of the season as against nine victories, the Braves nicked him for six runs on ten hits in eight innings in the first game.

Johnny Sain, who has been a troublemaker for Cincinnati this season, notched his fifth victory over the Reds against one defeat. It was his fifteenth triumph of the year against 12 losses. Box:

MEXICAN LOOP PREXY BRINGS $127,500 SUIT AGAINST MICKEY OWEN

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 28 (AP)—Mickey Owen was sued for $127,500 today by Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican Baseball League.

The suit, filed in Federal District Court here, asks $100,000 damages against the former Brooklyn catcher who jumped to the Mexican League only to desert the south of the border game after a few months play.

In addition, Pasquel asks return of $12,500, which he said had been paid as a bonus to Owen for deserting the Dodgers after his return from military service last spring, and $15,000 advanced to him as salary for 1946.

Owen, who was barred from big league baseball for five years for his jump to the Mexican circuit, has been living on his farm near Springfield since Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler refused an appeal from Mickey to rescind the exile order.

Detroit Tigers Score First Win At Fenway Park

Homers By Cullenbine, Greenberg Feature 7-2 Triumph

BOSTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Homers by Roy Cullenbine and Hank Greenberg started and completed Detroit's 7-2 win over the top-place Red Sox today before a 28,789 crowd. It was the Tigers' first triumph in their 10 Fenway starts this season.

The Red Sox, with Ted Williams, who suffered a leg sprain yesterday in an automobile accident, patrolling his left field beat, gave Lefty Mickey Harris a two-run send-off. But Cullenbine set off the Tigers' winning drive with his sixth-inning homer.

Both of Boston's runs came over in the fourth, when Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams singled. The former scored when Skeeter Webb threw wild on Bobby Doerr's grounder. Rudy York then drove in Williams with a ringing base hit. Box:

Ridgeley Leos Take 4th Game

Down Independents 11-6 To Even Series; Final Tilt Set Sunday

The Ridgeley Leos made it even-Stephen in their series with the Ridgeley Independents for the championship of the Frankfort District Softball League by winning the fourth game yesterday in Ridgeley by the score of 11-6.

The winners banged thirteen hits, including three by George Netzer, two each by Tichnell and C. Day and Largent's circuit wallop. B. Mulligan and Jewell accounted for five of the losers ten blows. The fielding gem was B. Mulligan's running catch of Fryer's bid for a home run.

Sunday at 4 p. m. on the Ridgeley field the teams will tangle in the fifth and deciding game of their series. Score:

LEOS	400 402 1	—11	13
INDEPENDENTS	000 202 2	— 6	10

J. Rhodes and Tichnell. R. Wraichford and J. Cline.

Veterans Renew Protest Against Marlboro Track

AVC Asks CPA To Rescind Order For Continuation Of Repairs

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28—(AP)—The American Veterans Committee said today it has renewed its protest against repair work at Marlboro Race Track, recently ordered resumed, and sent letters to that effect to key Civilian Production Administration officials.

Chairman Herbert L. Feder of the AVC's Baltimore Chapter No. 1 said his group called on Director M. S. Verner of the CPA compliance division to rescind his recent order allowing the track to continue repairs he had stopped after AVC's original protest about two weeks ago.

In a letter to Verner, the AVC said a statement he had made, that the AVC's objection created a "tempest in a teapot" since the repairs would run to only $2,000, was an "insult to every veteran in need of housing."

Another protest letter was sent to Civilian Production Administrator John B. Small, Feder said.

He pointed out that the AVC had been informed by Robert Robinson, Baltimore housing expediter that "every piece of lumber that goes to a race track is taken away from housing."

The veterans' organization also appealed to Markley Shaw, Washington housing expediter.

Sinkwich Will Be Ready To Play By October 1

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Frankie Sinkwich will be ready to play with the New York football Yankees by Oct. 1, Owner Dan Topping announced today after a telephone call from Dr. Robert F. Hyland, the St. Louis surgeon who operated on the halfback's injured left knee last Saturday.

Hyland told Topping that Sinkwich already is on his feet again and will report to the All-American Conference squad within three weeks.

The surgeon disclosed that the former All-America halfback's knee cartilage was split and that he found eight chips.

Grimm Has Hopes

CHICAGO, Aug. 28, (AP) — Charlie Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, celebrated his 49th birthday today hoping that his Cubs, defending National League Champions, still would overhaul the pennant-pursuing Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals in the remaining five weeks of the season.

BE FAITHFUL SETS NEW TRACK RECORD IN CHICAGO RACE

CHICAGO, Aug. 28, (AP) — Be Faithful, from the stable of Louis B. Mayer, Hollywood movie magnate, raced to a new track record in winning the $32,800 Beverly Handicap for fillies and mares at Washington Park today.

Jack's Jill was second and Good Blood third.

Be Faithful ran the mile and an eighth in 1:49 2-5 and paid $6.80.

Barrelville, Seeking Fourth Place Berth, Meets Hyndman Today

Barrelville, the "surprise" team of the Interstate Baseball League, now in the thick of the fight for fourth place and a playoff spot in the circuit's Shaughnessy series, will do battle with the Hyndman, Pa., Firemen today at 4 o'clock in Hyndman, Pa.

After the current season got under way many were predicting Barrelville would fail to go the limit of 28 games and if it did would be the "anchor" team of President John J. Long's circuit.

To date the Barrelville team's record is 12 wins and 12 losses and is battling it out with the Cumberland Eagles and Mt. Savage for fourth place.

Saturday the Barrelville team is host to the Eagles. The teams open up with a replay of a recent 4-4 tie, starting hostilities where they left off in the tenth inning. Then they tangle in a regular nine-inning game. Sunday the league campaign comes to a close with Barrelville playing host to the first place Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion nine.

Hearing Date Set

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28, (AP)—The Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board today fixed Tuesday, Sept. 17, at Pittsburgh for a hearing on the complaint of unfair labor practices filed against the management of the Pittsburgh National League Baseball Club by the American Baseball Guild.

Guild Organizer Robert Murphy filed the complaint the same day the Pirates by a vote of 15 to 3 rejected the Guild as its collective bargaining agency. The election was held Aug. 20 at Pittsburgh.

BRITISH GRID PLAYERS ASK HIGHER WAGES

LONDON, Aug. 28, (AP) — With the British Football League season scheduled to open Saturday, a players' strike appears to be a possibility unless demands for higher wages are met.

The league management committee today turned down a players' union request for 12 pounds ($48) weekly instead of the present 10 pounds ($40).

Fred Howarth, league secretary, said the management committee was "not prepared to discuss (wage) revision," as it could see "no change in circumstances since revised wage proposals were accepted earlier this year."

BRITISH GRID PLAYERS ASK HIGHER WAGES

LONDON, Aug. 28, (AP) — With the British Football League season scheduled to open Saturday, a players' strike appears to be a possibility unless demands for higher wages are met.

The league management committee today turned down a players' union request for 13 pounds ($48) weekly instead of the present 10 pounds ($40).

Fred Howarth, league secretary, said the management committee was "not prepared to discuss (wage) revision," as it could see "no change in circumstances since revised wage proposals were accepted earlier this year."

Contract Annulled

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28, (AP) — Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican Baseball League, ordered the Nuevo Laredo Club to withdraw its contract with Hooper Triplett, formerly of Columbus, Ga., of the South Atlantic League, who had been signed on a one-month trial basis.

Politics Theme Of Town Meeting On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Politics is to be the theme of America's town meeting when it broadcasts Thursday evening from Hartford, Conn. The specific question is "Will America Progress More Under Republican or Democratic Leadership?" As usual at 7:30.

The argument will be carried forward by three members of Congress and Chester Bowles, ex-OPA head. There will be Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine, a Republican; Rep. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, a Democrat, and Rep. Clarence Brown, of Ohio, a Republican national committee campaign director.

The Travelin' Man is going to travel some more in summer radio. Devised to take over during the vacation, now ended, of Cavalcade of American on Monday nights, the program is being moved to Thursday nights at 9:30 to fill in the unexpired time at 9:30, on NBC, until a sponsor takes over. Most of the summer has been taken up here with the Fifth Horseman, dramatizations based on atomic energy.

Now comes another bit of vacation for Don McNeill of the ABC Breakfast club at 8 a. m. As a result Joe Kelly of the Barn and dance and the Quiz Kids is handling the situation for the rest of the week. Although this program is titled the Breakfast club, as a rule no breakfast is served there either to cast or members of the studio audience.

It will be all-Latin-American concert for the Concert of Nations of NBC at 10:30 p. m. Directing the orchestra will be J. M. V. Maidana, Bolivian composer-conductor.

The biggest double payoff at Fairgo was $1,463.80 on Grape Vine and Vera M., August 15, 1942. The winning numbers combination was 8-3.

Politics Theme Of Town Meeting On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Politics is to be the theme of America's town meeting when it broadcasts Thursday evening from Hartford, Conn. The specific question is "Will America Progress More Under Republican or Democratic Leadership?" As usual at 7:30.

The argument will be carried forward by three members of Congress and Chester Bowles, ex-OPA head. There will be Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine, a Republican; Rep. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, a Democrat, and Rep. Clarence Brown, of Ohio, a Republican national committee campaign director.

The Travelin' Man is going to travel some more in summer radio. Devised to take over during the vacation, now ended, of Cavalcade of American on Monday nights, the program is being moved to Thursday nights at 9:30 to fill in the unexpired time at 9:30, on NBC, until a sponsor takes over. Most of the summer has been taken up here with the Fifth Horseman, dramatizations based on atomic energy.

Now comes another bit of vacation for Don McNeill of the ABC Breakfast club at 8 a. m. As a result Joe Kelly of the Barn and dance and the Quiz Kids is handling the situation for the rest of the week. Although this program is titled the Breakfast club, as a rule no breakfast is served there either to cast or members of the studio audience.

It will be all-Latin-American concert for the Concert of Nations of NBC at 10:30 p. m. Directing the orchestra will be J. M. V. Maldana, Bolivian composer-conductor.

The biggest double payoff at Fairyo was $1,462.80 on Grape Vine and Vera M., August 15, 1942. The winning numbers combination was 8-3.

Slimful Styling

Marian Martin

Designed especially to make you look slim, pattern 9221 has smart, new details. Bishop sleeves, bloused look and unpressed pleats. . .all exactly proportioned to slenderize.

This pattern gives perfect fit, is easy to use. Complete, illustrated sew chart shows you every step.

Send twenty-five cents in coins for this pattern to Cumberland News, 29, Pattern Department, 232 West 18th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly size, name, address style number.

Fifteen cents more brings you the Marian Martin summer 1946 pattern book. Many brand-new, cool easy-to-make fashions for everyone. . . . And printed right in the book is a free pattern for ballet slippers for home and beach wear.

Broughton Pledges Elks' Help To War Wounded

Grand Exalted Ruler Champions Cause Of Veterans And Crippled Children

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, true to those who gave their lives in the recent war, will carry on in time of peace to the end that the injured in hospitals will never be let down, Charles E. Broughton, grand exalted ruler of the order and editor and publisher of the Sheboygan, Wis., Press, said in an address last night on an official visit to Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks.

The Elks War Commission has been taken over by the Elks National Veterans Service Commission, the grand exalted ruler said, with Past Grand Exalted Ruler James T. Hallinan of New York as chairman. Its work will be to enlarge a hospital program for the aid and comfort of war veterans. Not until the last disabled veteran has been given the maximum of service in these hospitals will our work end, Mr. Broughton asserted.

"We will co-operate with the National government in any movement which may contribute to the betterment of conditions affecting the welfare of our veterans, members and non-members alike," the grand exalted ruler said.

Proposes Summer Camps

"We have always stood as the champions of the cause of crippled children and to that end we will enter on a wider field of activity, extending the work to include summer camps for undernourished children, one of which has done so much in my home city of Sheboygan. Broken and dislocated homes leave children unfit to cope with the world. Undernourished, these children are thrown on the charities of a community. Bridging them over in these undernourished camps restores health, and brings happiness. May I urge upon every lodge in or near an industrial city to further its efforts in this direction.

"As an outstanding American order, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will never lessen its efforts in furthering American traditions, and fighting un-American activities. We believe in law and order, and any movement which tends to undermine these fundamental principles we will combat with all the vigor at our command. No home or foreign doctrine which offends these principles will go unchallenged.

"Let us keep before us constantly the well grounded thought that the United States of America is the citadel of democracy. Without democracy this nation cannot endure. If we ever surrender, give, or trade away our form of government, then the ideals for which we fought will rise to haunt us the rest of our lives.

"The Order of Elks is strong because our nation is strong. A nation by its weakness can make any American order weak. It is upon this theory, and standing shoulder, that our fight must continue for a lasting peace predicated upon justice and dedicated to the millions who fought side by side and those who made the supreme sacrifice that freedom might take the place of autocracy based upon hatred and greed," Mr. Broughton said.

Pays Respects To Fisher

At the outset of his address the grand exalted ruler paid his respects to Frank L. Fisher, who is 83 and a member of the Elks for almost 60 years. He termed the Elks the greatest order in all history.

Mr. Broughton spoke of the Elks home at Bedford, Va., which was bought by the Grand Lodge in 1902, and said that a new building was erected in 1930 which cost over a million dollars. He outlined how aged Elks are cared for at the home and urged all Elks to visit the home whenever they had an opportunity.

The grand exalted ruler was presented to the local lodge by Arthur B. Gibson, past exalted ruler. Gibson also introduced J. E. Masters, Charleroi, Pa., grand lodge secretary, and H. Earl Pitzer, of Gettysburg, Pa., Lodge No. 1045, member of the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association, who accompanied Mr. Broughton to Cumberland from Allentown.

Presented Scroll

Following Mr. Broughton's address, Gibson presented the grand exalter ruler, on behalf of Cumberland Elks, a scroll bearing the following inscription:

"To express its appreciation for the official visit of the exalted ruler, Charles E. Broughton, Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, herewith gives its pledge to raise the sum of $2,500 during 1946 for the benefit of Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

"Witness the hand and seal of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 by its exalted ruler and its secretary this 29th day of August, 1946."

Corn Roast Held

Following the meeting at the Elks Club which was attended by approximately 150 Elks, including a number of out of town visitors, a corn roast and barbecue was held in the cocktail lounge.

Mr. Broughton and Mr. Masters will leave here today to visit the Elks home at Bedford, Va.

Four Births Reported

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Baker, 110 Independence street, announce the birth of a son in Allegany Hospital Wednesday morning. Mrs. Baker is the former Miss Laing Lawler.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Haines, Points, W. Va., in Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Dunn, 414 Maryland avenue, announce the birth of a son in Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Yonker, Little Orleans, in Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

CAA May Set Up Weather Station At Airport Here

Donaldson Lists Project Among Several Planned For Local Field

A weather station to be established and manned on a 24-hour basis at the Cumberland Municipal Airport may be set up within 90 days by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, according to Charles B. Donaldson, CAA director of airports, who flew here yesterday from Washington to confer with local officials.

Donaldson said that the station would receive frequent weather reports from Washington, Pittsburgh and other neighboring points and would remain in contact with passing and approaching planes by radio. Present plans call for locating the station in the tower beside the administration building.

Inspects Field

The CAA official landed at the airport at 11 a. m. in a single-engine Beechcraft. The pilot who accompanied him made the return flight to Washington shortly after noon, while Donaldson inspected the field with Oscar C. Gurley and Arthur J. Weber, members of the Municipal Airport Commission; Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; and James C. Shriver, who served as chairman of the old airport board.

Following the inspection tour, the group lunched at the Cumberland Country Club. Donaldson returned to Washington by car in the late afternoon.

Estimating that it will cost approximately $885,000 to complete the Class III airport here by constructing No. 5 runway and removing the hill in back of No. 1 runway, Donaldson pointed out that work on those projects cannot be started until an allocation is made under the new federal legislation for airport development, signed by President Truman in May.

Switchboards Planned

Other improvements scheduled to be made at the airport in the near future include the installation of switchboards in the administration building for central control of runway lighting, and putting the beacon into nightly operation.

Donaldson conferred with New York CAA officials by long-distance telephone before leaving, to report on his inspection tour and the conference.

Rites For Former Nurse, Baby Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Doris Elizabeth Smith English, 37, former Cumberland nurse, and her daughter, Roberta, 3, who were found dead Monday night in the gas-filled kitchen of their apartment in Arlington, Va., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Bast Funeral Home in Boonsboro. Interment will be in Boonsboro cemetery.

The bodies will be taken to Boonsboro at noon today.

Mrs. English was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert S. Smith, 154 Frederick street. Her father, a baker at the Celanese plant, is a former resident of Boonsboro.

Her husband, Navy Capt. Robert Allen English, now on overseas duty, has not yet been contacted, although efforts have been made through the Red Cross to notify him before the services are held. The Navy Department in Washington has informed the parents that Capt. English will not be given an emergency leave unless his commanding officer approves the request.

Mr. Smith said last night that a letter from Capt. English arrived here last Saturday and was forwarded to Mrs. English in Arlington. When he visited the apartment after learning of the deaths of his daughter and grand-daughter, he read the letter, in which Capt. English said he was being transferred from London to Frankfort, Germany.

Dr. W. C. Welburn, Arlington County coroner, issued certificates that Mrs. English's death was suicide and the baby's death homicide.

Cresaptown Vets Plan American Legion Post

Efforts to form a Cresaptown Post of the American Legion will be made tonight at 8 o'clock in Cresaptown Fire Hall, when Samuel Graham, Mountain District vice commander, presents an application for charter.

Graham said interest has been growing in the Cresaptown section for some time and estimated that over 400 veterans of World Wars I and II now residing in the area have indicted they want a post of their own. He said membership will be drawn from Bowling Green, Potomac Park and Cresaptown.

Graham said he will be accompanied by Phil Fleming, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 and W. Earle Cobey and John T. Fey, members of the local post.

The application for charter papers requires 15 signatures, Graham said, and added that a couple of hundred veterans are expected to attend tonight's meeting, which will be in charge of Harper White, a Cresaptown veteran.

Falls Through Window

A man police booked as "John Doe" was being held in the city jail last night on a drunk and disorderly charge. Desk Sgt. John E. Sherry said the man was slightly cut on a finger and the side of the face after he fell through a window of the Medical Arts Pharmacy on North Liberty street.

Served At Emmanuel From 1902 Until 1906; Retired In 1937

Rev. Dr. Edward Miller Jefferys, 81, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Cumberland, from 1902 until 1906, died Tuesday at his home in Erndenheim, near Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Jefferys, who in 1905 was appointed archdeacon of Cumberland Territory, retired from parish work in 1937 after 31 years as rector of historic old St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, where he was called after leaving Cumberland.

Born in Philadelphia, Dr. Jefferys was educated at Hastings' and Rugby Academies and was graduated in 1886 from the University of Pennsylvania and from Berkeley Divinity School, now in New Haven, in 1889.

Following his ordination in 1889, he became curate of St. Peter's, serving there for a few months before becoming assistant rector of St. John's Church in Detroit. After a tour of the Near East and Palestine he became rector of St. Paul's in Doylestown, Pa., in 1894, serving there until he came to Cumberland in 1902.

Dr. Jefferys served as a chaplain in France for both the British and American Expeditionary Forces in the First World War, and was one of the first American chaplains to reach France in 1917.

He was a former president of the standing committee of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, a trustee of the diocese and of the Episcopal Hospital, a member of the board of the Council of City Missions, and warden, chaplain and instructor of the Church Training and Deaconess House in Philadelphia. He also belonged to the Philadelphia Club and served as fleet chaplain of the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Amy Faulconer Jefferys, survivors include a son, C. P. B. Jefferys, a teacher at St. George's School, Newport, R. I.; and a brother, Harry L. Jefferys, Ardmore, Pa.

Services will be held at St. Peter's in Philadelphia tomorrow at noon, with Bishop Oliver J. Hart officiating, assisted by Rev. Frederick Blatz, rector of the church. Burial will be in the churchyard.

MRS. WILLARD RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Cecelia Willard, 84, widow of Oscar A. Willard, who died Sunday at her home, 117 Fifth street, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. at the home by Rev. Clark Main, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. Interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were George W. Holtzman, C. Glenn Watson, A. J. Logue, A. J. Gank, C. R. Cramer and Clark Catlett.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Barbara Ann Rohman, 78, widow of John Rohman, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rita Truog Dahl, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

She was a native of this city, a daughter of the late John D. and Margaret Wegman.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a stepson, Joseph Rohman, this city; two brothers, Henry Wegman, this city, and George Wegman, Fairmont, W. Va., and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church with interment in the church cemetery.

Aged Man Slightly Hurt When Struck By Car

John R. Dick, Sr., 74, Cresaptown, was slightly hurt last night when he was struck by the automobile State Police said was driven by Henry DeHaven, also of Cresaptown, in an unusual accident.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said Dick was walking along Route 220 from the Silver Lanes bowling alleys to his home about 60 feet away. DeHaven, he added, was driving to his home from the theater in Cresaptown when the light fuse on his car blew out and the lights went off.

DeHaven applied the brakes and pulled to the side of the road, striking Dick as he did so, the officer said. He termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges would be filed against DeHaven.

Dick was treated for a head cut in Allegany Hospital and then released.

Farm Girls To Vie For Beauty Title

Two Allegany and Garrett county farm girls, Miss Lucile Armstrong, 20, Rawlings, and Miss Hazel Broadwater, Bittinger, will vie Sunday with 18 other Maryland girls for the twin titles of "Queen of the Timonium Fair" and the "prettiest farm girl in Maryand," according to the Associated Press.

The girls were selected for the competition after contests sponsored by the Farm Bureaus of 20 counties.

Fair officials said the county representation in the contest, initiated in 1939, is greater this year than ever before, with Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester counties the only ones not sending representatives.

The girls range in age from 17 to 21 years, and each is accredited with a bona fide farm background, including an ability to milk cows and drive tractors.

The girl who wins first place in Sunday's competition will lunch with Gov. O'Conor on September 5, with Mayor McKeldin of Baltimore September 6; with the Baltimore County Commissioners Sept. 7, and with Farm Bureau officials September 4.

She will present awards to fair prize winners.

The Timonium (Maryland State) Fair opens Monday and will continue through September 12.

Commercial Airline Service Proposed

If a Trans World Airline route application is approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Cumberland and Hagerstown would get their first commercial airline service, TWA attorneys told the CAB in Washington yesterday.

TWA proposes to serve Hagerstown and Cumberland on local flights on Route 61 between Dayton, Columbus and Washington and on flights continuing beyond those cities, James K. Crimmins, TWA attorney, said. Schedules will be so arranged that passengers may fly to Dayton, Columbus or Washington in the morning, spend a large part of the day in these cities, and return home the same evening.

In addition, the proposed TWA route will provide one-carrier service between the two Maryland cities and such business centers as Wheeling, Cincinnati, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Connecting flights to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh would tie in TWA's world-spanning routes to Paris, Rome, Cairo, Bombay, Calcutta, Shanghai and a dozen other foreign capitals.

The route application already has been approved by the CAB examiners.

Fares between Hagerstown and Cumberland and such major trade centers as Dayton, Columbus, Pittsburgh and Washington will be comparable to or even lower than existing rail fares" Crimmins said "with substantial savings in time."

Substantial savings in time will be made by passengers from Cumberland, it was pointed out. For instance, TWA's service would save 2½ hours over the fastest air-rail or rail service to Washington, more than 6 hours to Detroit or Chicago, at fares comparable to or lower than present rail fares.

Legion Sons To Install Officers Tonight

The Sons of American Legion Squadron No. 13 will install newly elected officers tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, with Phil Fleming, post commander, officiating.

New officers include George Huff, captain; Richard Hughes, first lieutenant; John Weisenmiller, second lieutenant; William Bolinger, adjutant; Donald Lippold, chaplain; Roland Showers, Jr., historian, and Hubert Humbertson, sergeant-at-arms.

Following installation ceremonies a dinner will be served.

Local Man Fined In Assault Case

Lorian C. Smith, 4 West Oldtown road, was fined $5 and costs yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of assaulting his housekeeper, Mrs. Florence Bennear.

Court attaches said the altercation started Saturday and ended Sunday. Smith said the woman hit him on the head with a hammer and that he remained unconscious until the next day. The reported assault occurred when he regained his senses. Attaches said Mrs. Bennear denied the accusations.

V-6 Enlistees To Be Sworn In

Lieut. (j. g.) C. M. Baumann, officer in charge of V-6 navy enlistments for the State of Maryland, will be in Cumberland today to swear 20 local men into the V-6 inactive naval reserve, according to CBM Bradford Smith, of the local recruiting office. The men will be sworn in at the recruiting office between 1 and 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Yeoman John Dennis, who was stationed in Cumberland from October 1945 to February 1946, has been here the past few days assisting the local recruiters in filling out applications for V-6 enlistments.

Among those who will be sworn in today are Raymond E. Leidinger, 5 Ridgeway terrace; James J. Lohr, 217 Glenn street; Robert R. Gormer, 813 Columbia street; Eugene M. Flinn, Route 5; Leroy M. Keefer, 123 Dexter place; James E. Dyer, 1321 Virginia avenue; Herman G. Brant, 215 Arch street; Walter C. Price, 1008 Ella avenue; and Aubrey V. Webb, 2 Utah avenue; all of Cumberland.

Others enlisting are Charles O. Crabtree, Green Spring, W. Va.; Bernard W. Minshall, Keyser; Alfred P. Via, Frostburg; Paul M. Catherman, Frostburg; Oliver E. Twigg, Bowling Green; Albert J. Mikus, Keedysville; Joseph E. Beerman, Frostburg; Joseph H. Morton, Lonaconing; Lewis B. Easton, Westernport; Chester L. Smith, Barton; and Arthur H. Slocum, Keyser.

"Disciple" Gives Silent Mission Here

A barefooted man clad in blue overalls and holding a crucifix above his head yesterday attracted considerable attention at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic streets where he "was giving a silent mission on peace and a return to Christianity."

The man, who gave John Burns as his name, said he lives in Terra Alta, W. Va., and declared he has been conducting such "missions" for the past two years in many eastern cities.

Yesterday he attracted attention standing on the curb as Cumberlanders en route to the races stopped briefly to observe the bearded man holding the crucifix above his head. He said he seldom speaks to people but trusts to the crucifix to "return mankind to religion."

Burns, who said he is associated with the "Church of the Precious Blood," declared he works on the railroad, and uses his spare time to "try and convert people."

He was neither asking for nor accepting offerings from passers by, but declared that he frequently lends assistance to others when he finds them in need. He said he pays particular attention to children and makes every effort to provide clothing for those he thinks are in need.

According to the self appointed disciple, he recently completed work on a bumper agriculture crop at his home in Terra Alta and will spend the next few months on city streets attempting to "lead the world back to peace and religion."

Havre de Grace Man Is Struck By Car

Dr. Eric M. Gredinger, 41, Havre de Grace, was treated in Allegany Hospital last night about 11:30 o'clock for slight injuries suffered, he told attaches, when he was struck by a car driven by James Gardner, Potomac Park, on Baltimore street. Attaches said the Havre de Grace veterinarian was released after being treated for brush burns of the arm and left side.

Mrs. Bessie Burkhart, 58, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital last night at 9:45 o'clock after, attaches were told, she ran a piece of steel into the palm of her right hand. She was able to leave the hospital after the cut was sutured.

Crash Victim Improves

Kenneth Toohey, 23, Cresaptown, who was critically injured when his car plunged over a 40-foot embankment at Detrick place, Ridgeley, last Wednesday, was reported in a "good" condition in Memorial Hospital last night. Toohey, who suffered a possible fractured skull and other injuries, did not fully regain consciousness until Tuesday night, attaches reported.

Hearing Slated Today

Arthur Fazenbaker, 65, and his son, Bernard, both of Vale Summit, accused of assaulting a younger member of the family and resisting arrest, will be given a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrates Court, State Police said yesterday.

Frostburg Asked To Give Support To Dam Project

Council Invited To Join Upper Potomac Board; Decision Withheld

Frostburg city officials have been invited to become members of the Upper Potomac River Board to increase support of the Savage River Dam project in the interest of clearing up pollution of the Potomac River, according to Mark W. Roe, chairman.

Roe discussed the problem with Mayor Marshall Skidmore and two of the four members of the Frostburg City Council at a special council meeting in Frostburg last night, and invited their support.

The council, at the suggestion of William Jenkins, Jr., city attorney, decided to take the invitation under advisement pending the return of Arthur Thomas and W. Kenneth Crowe, the two absent members, from their vacations.

May Meet Again

Mayor Skidmore said that he may ask Roe to return to Frostburg early next month for continued discussion of the problem, after Thomas and Crowe have returned.

The Board of County Commissioners has already accepted an invitation to become members of the river board, which consists of representatives of the City of Cumberland, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, the Celanese Corporation of America, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the Potomac Edison Company.

An expanded membership program was decided upon several months ago to provide wide representation and support in this area in an effort to speed the completion of the dam. The Savage River project is included in the omnibus flood control bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, but actual allocation of funds has not been made.

Will Visit Other Towns

Roe said he plans to make similar visits to community officials in Lonaconing, Barton, Westernport and Luke, and Piedmont and Keyser, W. Va., to invite them to join the Upper Potomac River Board.

Army engineers will submit their estimate of the funds needed for the project to the Bureau of the Budget about September 15, and the latter will study the estimate and then send its recommendation to Congress.

State OPA Gives Warning Against Sugar Transfers

The State OPA announced yesterday that under existing regulations, hotels, restaurants and lunchrooms may not transfer sugar or sugar ration evidence to an industrial user to make products to be used in a hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom.

It has been discovered that some hotels, restaurants, lunchrooms are transferring to established manufacturers sugar and sugar evidence to have this sugar processed into fountain syrups and concentrates which is transferred back to them by the manufacturer for use in their fountains. This procedure is in violation of rationing regulations and must be discontinued at once, OPA officials stated.

A hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom owner who received sugar allotments must use that sugar for the purpose for which it was granted, that is, for the service of food or in the case of refreshment sugar, for the manufacture of fountain syrup and concentrates.

In no instance is the institutional user permitted to have any industrial user manufacture these syrups and concentrates for a hotel, restaurant, or a lunchroom. Any arrangement of this type between the industrial user and the owner of the hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom is in violation, it was stated.

The Mountain District American Legion executive committee will meet Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Farrady Post home, 15 East Main street, Frostburg, to appoint committee members for the ensuing year, Samuel Graham, vice commander, announced last night.

Celanese Sues Firm To Continue Contract

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Seeking a temporary injunction against the American Aniline Products, Incorporated, the Celanese Corporation of America has filed a petition in Supreme Court to force the fulfillment of a contract to supply dye.

According to the petition, the two companies have been doing business since June 12, 1924, and the contract has been maintained and continued since that date.

The petition also seeks to restrain the defendants from halting production under the contract or the production of the dyestuffs mentioned in the contract. The Celanese seeks further to enjoin respondents from using and employing trade secrets or formulae allegedly supplied by the petitioners.

$1,805 In Prizes Awarded Poultry, Pigeon Entries

Smith And Kriner Win Top Money At Cumberland Fair Exhibit

Cash prizes totaling $1,805.50 were awarded pigeon and poultry entries yesterday at the annual Cumberland Fair with C. A. Smith winning $373 for his 280 pigeon entries and John C. Kriner, Stettlersville, Pa., receiving $430 for chicken and waterfowl entries.

In the pigeon exhibits Charles Smith, Cumberland, placed second, winning $202.50. Other winners were George Knox, Finksburg, Md., $151; Elmer D. Miller, Hagerstown, $98.50; J. Norman High, Reistertown, $81; Sam Schats, Allentown, Pa., $64.

Charles A. Jackson, Berryville, Va., $17.50; Ronald A. Smith, LaVale, $17.50 and John D. Irwin, Ridgeley, W. Va., $1.

In the chicken and waterfowl competition the closest competitor to Kriner's $430 prize money was C. A. Smith and Son, LaVale, who won $26.50. Other winners were T. R. Weber, Hagerstown, $16.50; Charles Smith, this city, $12; Mrs. H. C. Weber, Hagerstown, $9; Gratlen Jones, Frostburg, $3; R. W. Ferguson, Route 3, this city, $3, and Lee C. Weller, Route 6, this city, $3.

The only entry in rabbits was made by Charles Smith, this city, who exhibited approximately 30 animals of various types and received $32 in prize money.

All judging was done by H. C. Weber, Hagerstown, who bases selections on the care, type and preparation of the poultry, pigeons and pet animal's.

The local exhibit is in charge of C. A. Smith and includes the following committeemen:

Charles Smith, C. W. Light, William Stevenson, Charles S. Doyle and Robert Kliffner.

World War I Vets To Meet Here Sunday

Veterans of Company D, 311th Machine Gun Battalion, 79th Division, of World War I will hold their 24th annual reunion Sunday in Constitution Park, Victor E. Shaffer, president, announced yesterday.

The outing will be known as the "Victory Reunion," Shaffer said, and will be for members and their families. The Sunday gathering will mark the fourth time the meeting has been held in Cumberland since 1931. The first organization meeting was held in Philadelphia in 1925, Shaffer said.

A feature of the all-day outing and basket picnic will be a display of pictures belonging to the late Capt. Robson D. Brown. Most of the scenes show the company in training at Camp Meade, during World War I, Shaffer said.

Donald R. Scharf, this city, is assisting Shaffer with plans for Sunday's meeting. Other area men who are members include Andrew J Smith, Samuel O. Davis, Raymond Reynolds, Claude O. Twigg and Charles Lippold, all of Cumberland, William E. Shroyer, Mt. Savage, and Ralph Casteel, Keyser.

City police said yesterday they were told Powell C. Robinson, 19, 203 Race street, who was injured when the motorcycle he was operating collided with a car driven by Charles L. Barnes, 512 Fort Hill avenue, at the entrance of Constitution Park August 11, is getting along fine in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of a severely crushed right leg.

Police said the investigation of the accident is being continued and added that Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney and Detective Edwin R. Lilya will question Robinson for further details concerning the circumstances of the crash.

Akron Man Asks Police To Locate Jake Twigg

Police yesterday were asked by M. C. Brown, 659 South Main street, Akron, Ohio, for information concerning the whereabouts of Jake Twigg, a former resident of this city.

Brown told Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman that Twigg worked in a steel mill in Marietta, Ohio, about 1907, and was married in this city a short time after he left Ohio. He said Twigg was about five feet, nine inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and has brown eyes and sandy hair.

Twelve Tons Collected

Twelve more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday, the third day of the monthly campaign, boosting the total for the first three days to 25 tons. Today the collection will cover all sections between Baltimore street and avenue and Oldtown road.

Police Describe Suicide Attempts In City Jail Cell

Local Woman Tries To Strangle Self Four Times, Officers Say

A Thomas street woman who police said tried four times to strangle herself in her cell in the city jail yesterday afternoon because she "was tired of living and was going to commit suicide" was released early last night in the custody of her father, police reported.

Desk Sgt. John E. Sherry said the woman was booked as Naomi Myers, 23 Thomas street, when she was arrested yesterday morning at 12:25 o'clock after police were notified of a disturbance at her home.

Police said she was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to serve 10 days in the city jail in default of a $10 fine.

Sgt. Sherry said the first suicide attempt was thwarted by Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney and Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse, who found the woman unconscious in her cell after another occupant of the cell raised an alarm.

Describes First Try

Police said the woman had torn off a piece of the mattress cover, wrapped and knotted it around her neck and pulled the knot tight. Sgt. Sherry said he was told the officers had to use artificial respiration on the woman who, they reported, was blue in the face from the self applied garroting.

Two shoe strings were used, police said, in the second attempt which was discovered by Officer Arthur Kennell about 5:05 p. m.

Fifteen minutes later, Sgt. Sherry said, the woman tried to strangle herself by tightening a strip she tore from her skirt. Police said her condition was serious and that her face had turned blue when Officer Kennell again discovered the attempt.

The last attempt was at 5:30 p. m. and was similar to the third except that her condition when found was worst of all, police reported, adding that the woman was revived only after some minutes of artificial respiration.

Police said they tried to talk the prisoner out of the suicide notion but said she answered she was tired of living and was going to commit suicide.

Is Taken To Home

Police said the woman's father was notified after the fourth attempt and agreed to pay the $10 fine and assume custody of his daughter.

Sgt. Sherry said the woman is better known as "Tiny" and said she is best recalled in police circles as the fleet footed woman who walked out of police court several months ago after she declined to pay a fine.

Officers said the woman bit Officer Downey on the wrist yesterday morning while he and Officers John G. Powers and Walter L. Hull were taking her to jail.

Red Cross Seeks Nurses To Fight Poliomyelitis

Help Is Needed In Midwestern And Southeastern Districts

The local Red Cross office has been asked to recruit nurses for service in combatting poliomyelitis in Southeastern and Midwestern areas, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter, said yesterday.

Although the spread of infantile paralysis has not reached epidemic proportions there is still a critical need for nurses in the stricken areas, notably Minneapolis and Denver.

Through a plan developed in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Red Cross has expanded its recruitment program and will recruit nurses for an area when the usual community channels are insufficent, even though the epidemic stage has not been reached. It is, however, not a permanent placement bureau.

Nurses will merely be recruited by the Red Cross but will be employed directly by the hospital or agency to which they are assigned. They will be paid private duty rates prevailent in the community in which they are working plus an additional fee for working in isolation, if that is customary. Travelling expenses and maintenance will be provided for nurses recruited from outside the afflicted area. They will be asked to stay at least 30 days and probably not more than 90. In no case will they be under obligation to remain longer than the emergency period.

Registered nurses who are interested in volunteering may apply at Red Cross office. Mrs. Howard Tolson, a teacher at Memorial Hospital, is the nursing recruitment chairman for this district.

Optimist Club To Name New Officers Today

Election of officers for the initial year of the Cumberland Optimist Club will be held at a meeting of the club today at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA, according to Maj. Roy F. Seymour, extension counselor.

The new officers will be formally installed at a "Charter Night" dinner which the club will hold Friday, September 27, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The installing officer will be John T. McRae, Portsmouth, Va., district governor. Representatives of the other 14 clubs of the district and their wives are expected to be present.

Hagerstown, which is sponsoring the local club, will send a large delegation and will present the Optimist bell and gavel to the new organization.

Presidents of other Cumberland service clubs and their wives will be honor guests at the dinner.

Grand Exalted Ruler Champions Cause Of Veterans And Crippled Children

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, true to those who gave their lives in the recent war, will carry on in time of peace to the end that the injured in hospitals will never be let down, Charles E. Broughton, grand exalted ruler of the order and editor and publisher of the Sheboygan, Wis., Press, said in an address last night on an official visit to Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks.

The Elks War Commission has been taken over by the Elks National Veterans Service Commission, the grand exalted ruler said, with Past Grand Exalted Ruler James T. Hallinan of New York as chairman. Its work will be to enlarge a hospital program for the aid and comfort of war veterans. Not until the last disabled veteran has been given the maximum of service in these hospitals will our work end, Mr. Broughton asserted.

"We will co-operate with the National government in any movement which may contribute to the betterment of conditions affecting the welfare of our veterans, members and non-members alike," the grand exalted ruler said.

Proposes Summer Camps

"We have always stood as the champions of the cause of crippled children and to that end we will enter on a wider field of activity, extending the work to include summer camps for undernourished children, one of which has done so much in my home city of Sheboygan. Broken and dislocated homes leave children unfit to cope with the world. Undernourished, these children are thrown on the charities of a community. Bridging them over in these undernourished camps restores health, and brings happiness. May I urge upon every lodge in or near an industrial city to further its efforts in this direction.

"As an outstanding American order, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will never lessen its efforts in furthering American traditions, and fighting un-American activities. We believe in law and order, and any movement which tends to undermine these fundamental principles we will combat with all the vigor at our command. No home or foreign doctrine which offends these principles will go unchallenged.

"Let us keep before us constantly the well grounded thought that the United States of America is the citadel of democracy. Without democracy this nation cannot endure. If we ever surrender, give, or trade away our form of government, then the ideals for which we fought will rise to haunt us the rest of our lives.

"The Order of Elks is strong because our nation is strong. A nation by its weakness can make any American order weak. It is upon this theory, and standing shoulder, that our fight must continue for a lasting peace predicated upon justice and dedicated to the millions who fought side by side and those who made the supreme sacrifice, that freedom might take the place of autocracy based upon hatred and greed," Mr. Broughton said.

Pays Respects To Fisher

At the outset of his address the grand exalted ruler paid his respects to Frank L. Fisher, who is 83 and a member of the Elks for almost 60 years. He termed the Elks the greatest order in all history.

Mr. Broughton spoke of the Elks home at Bedford, Va., which was bought by the Grand Lodge in 1902, and said that a new building was erected in 1930 which cost over a million dollars. He outlined how aged Elks are cared for at the home and urged all Elks to visit the home whenever they had an opportunity.

The grand exalted ruler was presented to the local lodge by Arthur B. Gibson, past exalted ruler. Gibson also introduced J. E. Masters, Charleroi, Pa., grand lodge secretary, and H. Earl Pitzer, of Gettysburg, Pa., Lodge No. 1045, member of the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association, who accompanied Mr. Broughton to Cumberland from Allentown.

Presented Scroll

Following Mr. Broughton's address, Gibson presented the grand exalter ruler, on behalf of Cumberland Elks, a scroll bearing the following inscription:

"To express its appreciation for the official visit of the exalted ruler, Charles E. Broughton, Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, herewith gives its pledge to raise the sum of $2,500 during 1946 for the benefit of Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

"Witness the hand and seal of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 by its exalted ruler and its secretary this 29th day of August, 1946."

Corn Roast Held

Following the meeting at the Elks Club which was attended by approximately 150 Elks, including a number of out of town visitors, a corn roast and barbecue was held in the cocktail lounge.

Mr. Broughton and Mr. Masters will leave here today to visit the Elks home at Bedford, Va.

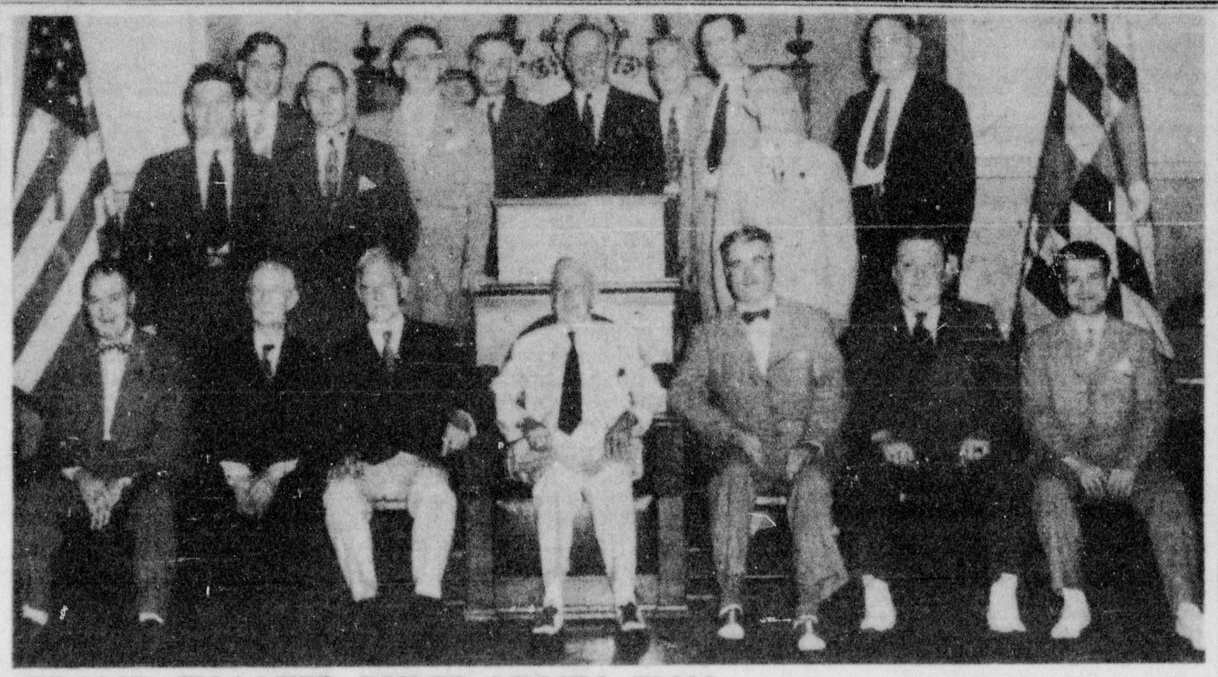

Four Births Reported

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Baker, 110 Independence street, announce the birth of a son in Allegany Hospital, Wednesday morning. Mrs. Baker is the former Miss Laing Lawler.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Haines, Points, W. Va., in Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Dunn, 414 Maryland avenue, announce the birth of a son in Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Yonker, Little Orleans, in Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

A weather station to be established and manned on a 24-hour basis at the Cumberland Municipal Airport may be set up within 90 days by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, according to Charles B. Donaldson, CAA director of airports, who flew here yesterday from Washington to confer with local officials.

Donaldson said that the station would receive frequent weather reports from Washington, Pittsburgh and other neighboring points and would remain in contact with passing and approaching planes by radio. Present plans call for locating the station in the tower beside the administration building.

Inspects Field

The CAA official landed at the airport at 11 a. m. in a single-engine Beechcraft. The pilot who accompanied him made the return flight to Washington shortly after noon, while Donaldson inspected the field with Oscar C. Gurley and Arthur J. Weber, members of the Municipal Airport Commission; Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; and James C. Shriver, who served as chairman of the old airport board.

Following the inspection tour, the group lunched at the Cumberland Country Club. Donaldson returned to Washington by car in the late afternoon.

Estimating that it will cost approximately $885,000 to complete the Class III airport here by constructing No. 5 runway and removing the hill in back of No. 1 runway, Donaldson pointed out that work on those projects cannot be started until an allocation is made under the new federal legislation for airport development, signed by President Truman in May.

Switchboards Planned

Other improvements scheduled to be made at the airport in the near future include the installation of switchboards in the administration building for central control of runway lighting, and putting the beacon into nightly operation.

Donaldson conferred with New York CAA officials by long-distance telephone before leaving, to report on his inspection tour and the conference.

Rites For Former Nurse, Baby Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Doris Elizabeth Smith English, 37, former Cumberland nurse, and her daughter, Roberta, 3, who were found dead Monday night in the gas-filled kitchen of their apartment in Arlington, Va., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Bast Funeral Home in Boonsboro. Interment will be in Boonsboro cemetery.

The bodies will be taken to Boonsboro at noon today.

Mrs. English was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert S. Smith, 154 Frederick street. Her father, a baker at the Celanese plant, is a former resident of Boonsboro.

Her husband, Navy Capt. Robert Allen English, now on overseas duty, has not yet been contacted, although efforts have been made through the Red Cross to notify him before the services are held. The Navy Department in Washington has informed the parents that Capt. English will not be given an emergency leave unless his commanding officer approves the request.

Mr. Smith said last night that a letter from Capt. English arrived here last Saturday and was forwarded to Mrs. English in Arlington. When he visited the apartment after learning of the deaths of his daughter and grand-daughter, he read the letter, in which Capt. English said he was being transferred from London to Frankfort, Germany.

Dr. W. C. Welburn, Arlington County coroner, issued certificates that Mrs. English's death was suicide and the baby's death homicide.

Cresaptown Vets Plan American Legion Post

Efforts to form a Cresaptown Post of the American Legion will be made tonight at 8 o'clock in Cresaptown Fire Hall, when Samuel Graham, Mountain District vice commander, presents an application for charter.

Graham said interest has been growing in the Cresaptown section for some time and estimated that over 400 veterans of World Wars I and II now residing in the area have indicted they want a post of their own. He said membership will be drawn from Bowling Green, Potomac Park and Cresaptown.

Graham said he will be accompanied by Phil Fleming, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 and W. Earle Cobey and John T. Fey, members of the local post.

The application for charter papers requires 15 signatures, Graham said, and added that a couple of hundred veterans are expected to attend tonight's meeting, which will be in charge of Harper White, a Cresaptown veteran.

Falls Through Window

A man police booked as "John Doe" was being held in the city jail last night on a drunk and disorderly charge. Desk Sgt. John E. Sherry said the man was slightly cut on a finger and the side of the face after he fell through a window of the Medical Arts Pharmacy on North Liberty street.

Dr. Jefferys, 81, Former Episcopal Rector Here, Dies

Served At Emmanuel From 1902 Until 1906; Retired In 1937

Rev. Dr. Edward Miller Jefferys, 81, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Cumberland, from 1902 until 1906, died Tuesday at his home in Erndenheim, near Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Jefferys, who in 1905 was appointed archdeacon of Cumberland Territory, retired from parish work in 1937 after 31 years as rector of historic old St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, where he was called after leaving Cumberland.

Born in Philadelphia, Dr. Jefferys was educated at Hastings' and Rugby Academies and was graduated in 1886 from the University of Pennsylvania and from Berkeley Divinity School, now in New Haven, in 1889.

Following his ordination in 1889, he became curate of St. Peter's, serving there for a few months before becoming assistant rector of St. John's Church in Detroit. After a tour of the Near East and Palestine he became rector of St. Paul's in Doylestown, Pa., in 1894, serving there until he came to Cumberland in 1902.

Dr. Jefferys served as a chaplain in France for both the British and American Expeditionary Forces in the First World War, and was one of the first American chaplains to reach France in 1917.

He was a former president of the standing committee of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, a trustee of the diocese and of the Episcopal Hospital, a member of the board of the Council of City Missions, and warden, chaplain and instructor of the Church Training and Deaconess House in Philadelphia. He also belonged to the Philadelphia Club and served as fleet chaplain of the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Amy Faulconer Jefferys, survivors include a son, C. P. B. Jefferys, a teacher at St. George's School, Newport, R. I.; and a brother, Harry L. Jefferys, Ardmore, Pa.

Services will be held at St. Peter's in Philadelphia tomorrow at noon, with Bishop Oliver J. Hart officiating, assisted by Rev. Frederick Blatz, rector of the church. Burial will be in the churchyard.

MRS. WILLARD RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Cecelia Willard, 84, widow of Oscar A. Willard, who died Sunday at her home, 117 Fifth street, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. at the home by Rev. Clark Main, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. Interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were George W. Holtzman, C. Glenn Watson, A. J. Logue, A. J. Gank, C. R. Cramer and Clark Catlett.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Barbara Ann Rohman, 78, widow of John Rohman, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rita Truog Dahl, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

She was a native of this city, a daughter of the late John D. and Margaret Wegman.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a stepson, Joseph Rohman, this city; two brothers, Henry Wegman, this city, and George Wegman, Fairmont, W. Va., and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church with interment in the church cemetery.

Aged Man Slightly Hurt When Struck By Car

John R. Dick, Sr., 74, Cresaptown, was slightly hurt last night when he was struck by the automobile State Police said was driven by Henry DeHaven, also of Cresaptown, in an unusual accident.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said Dick was walking along Route 220 from the Silver Lanes bowling alleys to his home about 60 feet away. DeHaven, he added, was driving to his home from the theater in Cresaptown when the light fuse on his car blew out and the lights went off.

DeHaven applied the brakes and pulled to the side of the road, striking Dick as he did so, the officer said. He termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges would be filed against DeHaven.

Dick was treated for a head cut in Allegany Hospital and then released.

Farm Girls To Vie For Beauty Title

Two Allegany and Garrett county farm girls, Miss Lucile Armstrong, 20, Rawlings, and Miss Hazel Broadwater, Bittinger, will vie Sunday with 18 other Maryland girls for the twin titles of "Queen of the Timonium Fair" and the "prettiest farm girl in Maryand," according to the Associated Press.

The girls were selected for the competition after contests sponsored by the Farm Bureaus of 20 counties.

Fair officials said the county representation in the contest, initiated in 1939, is greater this year than ever before, with Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester counties the only ones not sending representatives.

The girls range in age from 17 to 21 years, and each is accredited with a bona fide farm background, including an ability to milk cows and drive tractors.

The girl who wins first place in Sunday's competition will lunch with Gov. O'Conor on September 5, with Mayor McKeldin of Baltimore September 6; with the Baltimore County Commissioners Sept. 7, and with Farm Bureau officials September 4.

She will present awards to fair prize winners.

The Timonium (Maryland State) Fair opens Monday and will continue through September 12.

Commercial Airline Service Proposed

If a Trans World Airline route application is approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Cumberland and Hagerstown would get their first commercial airline service, TWA attorneys told the CAB in Washington yesterday.

TWA proposes to serve Hagerstown and Cumberland on local flights on Route 61 between Dayton, Columbus and Washington and on flights continuing beyond those cities, James K. Crimmins, TWA attorney, said. Schedules will be so arranged that passengers may fly to Dayton, Columbus or Washington in the morning, spend a large part of the day in these cities, and return home the same evening.

In addition, the proposed TWA route will provide one-carrier service between the two Maryland cities and such business centers as Wheeling, Cincinnati, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Connecting flights to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh would tie in TWA's world-spanning routes to Paris, Rome, Cairo, Bombay, Calcutta, Shanghai and a dozen other foreign capitals.

The route application already has been approved by the CAB examiners.

Fares between Hagerstown and Cumberland and such major trade centers as Dayton, Columbus, Pittsburgh and Washington will be comparable to or even lower than existing rail fares" Crimmins said "with substantial savings in time."

Substantial savings in time will be made by passengers from Cumberland, it was pointed out. For instance, TWA's service would save 2½ hours over the fastest air-rail or rail service to Washington, more than 6 hours to Detroit or Chicago, at fares comparable to or lower than present rail fares.

Legion Sons To Install Officers Tonight

The Sons of American Legion Squadron No. 13 will install newly elected officers tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, with Phil Fleming, post commander, officiating.

New officers include George Huff, captain; Richard Hughes, first lieutenant; John Weisenmiller, second lieutenant; William Bolinger, adjutant; Donald Lippold, chaplain; Roland Showers, Jr., historian, and Hubert Humbertson, sergeant-at-arms.

Following installation ceremonies a dinner will be served.

Local Man Fined In Assault Case

Lorian C. Smith, 4 West Oldtown road, was fined $5 and costs yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of assaulting his housekeeper, Mrs. Florence Bennear.

Court attaches said the altercation started Saturday and ended Sunday. Smith said the woman hit him on the head with a hammer and that he remained unconscious until the next day. The reported assault occurred when he regained his senses. Attaches said Mrs. Bennear denied the accusations.

V-6 Enlistees To Be Sworn In

Lieut. (j. g.) C. M. Baumann, officer in charge of V-6 navy enlistments for the State of Maryland, will be in Cumberland today to swear 20 local men into the V-6 inactive naval reserve, according to CBM Bradford Smith, of the local recruiting office. The men will be sworn in at the recruiting office between 1 and 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Yeoman John Dennis, who was stationed in Cumberland from October 1945 to February 1946, has been here the past few days assisting the local recruiters in filling out applications for V-6 enlistments.

Among those who will be sworn in today are Raymond E. Leidinger, 5 Ridgeway terrace; James J. Lohr, 217 Glenn street; Robert R. Gormer, 813 Columbia street; Eugene M. Flinn, Route 5; Leroy M. Keefer, 123 Dexter place; James E. Dyer, 1321 Virginia avenue; Herman G. Brant, 215 Arch street; Walter C. Price, 1008 Ella avenue; and Aubrey V. Webb, 2 Utah avenue; all of Cumberland.

Others enlisting are Charles O. Crabtree, Green Spring, W. Va.; Bernard W. Minshall, Keyser; Alfred P. Via, Frostburg; Paul M. Catherman, Frostburg; Oliver E. Twigg, Bowling Green; Albert J. Mikus, Keedysville; Joseph E. Beerman, Frostburg; Joseph H. Morton, Lonaconing; Lewis B. Easton, Westernport; Chester L. Smith, Barton; and Arthur H. Slocum, Keyser.

"Disciple" Gives Silent Mission Here

A barefooted man clad in blue overalls and holding a crucifix above his head yesterday attracted considerable attention at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic streets where he "was giving a silent mission on peace and a return to Christianity."

The man, who gave John Burns as his name, said he lives in Terra Alta, W. Va., and declared he has been conducting such "missions" for the past two years in many eastern cities.

Yesterday he attracted attention standing on the curb as Cumberlanders en route to the races stopped briefly to observe the bearded man holding the crucifix above his head. He said he seldom speaks to people but trusts to the crucifix to "return mankind to religion."

Burns, who said he is associated with the "Church of the Precious Blood," declared he works on the railroad, and uses his spare time to "try and convert people."

He was neither asking for nor accepting offerings from passers by, but declared that he frequently lends assistance to others when he finds them in need. He said he pays particular attention to children and makes every effort to provide clothing for those he thinks are in need.

According to the self appointed disciple, he recently completed work on a bumper agriculture crop at his home in Terra Alta and will spend the next few months on city streets attempting to "lead the world back to peace and religion."

Havre de Grace Man Is Struck By Car

Dr. Eric M. Gredinger, 41, Havre de Grace, was treated in Allegany Hospital last night about 11:30 o'clock for slight injuries suffered, he told attaches, when he was struck by a car driven by James Gardner, Potomac Park, on Baltimore street. Attaches said the Havre de Grace veterinarian was released after being treated for brush burns of the arm and left side.

Mrs. Bessie Burkhart, 58, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital last night at 9:45 o'clock after, attaches were told, she ran a piece of steel into the palm of her right hand. She was able to leave the hospital after the cut was sutured.

Crash Victim Improves

Kenneth Toohey, 23, Cresaptown, who was critically injured when his car plunged over a 40-foot embankment at Detrick place, Ridgeley, last Wednesday, was reported in a "good" condition in Memorial Hospital last night. Toohey, who suffered a possible fractured skull and other injuries, did not fully regain consciousness until Tuesday night, attaches reported.

Hearing Slated Today

Council Invited To Join Upper Potomac Board; Decision Withheld

Frostburg city officials have been invited to become members of the Upper Potomac River Board to increase support of the Savage River Dam project in the interest of clearing up pollution of the Potomac River, according to Mark W. Roe, chairman.

Roe discussed the problem with Mayor Marshall Skidmore and two of the four members of the Frostburg City Council at a special council meeting in Frostburg last night, and invited their support.

The council, at the suggestion of William Jenkins, Jr., city attorney, decided to take the invitation under advisement pending the return of Arthur Thomas and W. Kenneth Crowe, the two absent members, from their vacations.

May Meet Again

Mayor Skidmore said that he may ask Roe to return to Frostburg early next month for continued discussion of the problem, after Thomas and Crowe have returned.

The Board of County Commissioners has already accepted an invitation to become members of the river board, which consists of representatives of the City of Cumberland, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, the Celanese Corporation of America, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the Potomac Edison Company.

An expanded membership program was decided upon several months ago to provide wide representation and support in this area in an effort to speed the completion of the dam. The Savage River project is included in the omnibus flood control bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, but actual allocation of funds has not been made.

Will Visit Other Towns

Roe said he plans to make similar visits to community officials in Lonaconing, Barton, Westernport and Luke, and Piedmont and Keyser, W. Va., to invite them to join the Upper Potomac River Board.

Army engineers will submit their estimate of the funds needed for the project to the Bureau of the Budget about September 15, and the latter will study the estimate and then send its recommendation to Congress.

State OPA Gives Warning Against Sugar Transfers

The State OPA announced yesterday that under existing regulations, hotels, restaurants and lunchrooms may not transfer sugar or sugar ration evidence to an industrial user to make products to be used in a hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom.

It has been discovered that some hotels, restaurants, lunchrooms are transferring to established manufacturers sugar and sugar evidence to have this sugar processed into fountain syrups and concentrates which is transferred back to them by the manufacturer for use in their fountains. This procedure is in violation of rationing regulations and must be discontinued at once, OPA officials stated.

A hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom owner who received sugar allotments must use that sugar for the purpose for which it was granted, that is, for the service of food or in the case of refreshment sugar, for the manufacture of fountain syrup and concentrates.

In no instance is the institutional user permitted to have any industrial user manufacture these syrups and concentrates for a hotel, restaurant, or a lunchroom. Any arrangement of this type between the industrial user and the owner of the hotel, restaurant, or lunchroom is in violation, it was stated.

Celanese Sues Firm To Continue Contract

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Seeking a temporary injunction against the American Aniline Products, Incorporated, the Celanese Corporation of America has filed a petition in Supreme Court to force the fulfillment of a contract to supply dye.

According to the petition, the two companies have been doing business since June 12, 1924, and the contract has been maintained and continued since that date.

The petition also seeks to restrain the defendants from halting production under the contract or the production of the dyestuffs mentioned in the contract. The Celanese seeks further to enjoin respondents from using and employing trade secrets or formulae allegedly supplied by the petitioners.

The only entry in rabbits was made by Charles Smith, this city, who exhibited approximately 30 animals of various types and received $32 in prize money.

All judging was done by H. C. Weber, Hagerstown, who bases selections on the care, type and preparation of the poultry, pigeons and pet animals.

The local exhibit is in charge of C. A. Smith and includes the following committeemen:

Charles Smith, C. W. Light, William Stevenson, Charles S. Doyle and Robert Kliffner.

World War I Vets To Meet Here Sunday

Veterans of Company D, 311th Machine Gun Battalion, 79th Division, of World War I will hold their 24th annual reunion Sunday in Constitution Park, Victor E. Shaffer, president, announced yesterday.

The outing will be known as the "Victory Reunion," Shaffer said, and will be for members and their families. The Sunday gathering will mark the fourth time the meeting has been held in Cumberland since 1931. The first organization meeting was held in Philadelphia in 1925, Shaffer said.

A feature of the all-day outing and basket picnic will be a display of pictures belonging to the late Capt. Robson D. Brown. Most of the scenes show the company in training at Camp Meade, during World War I, Shaffer said.

Donald R. Scharf, this city, is assisting Shaffer with plans for Sunday's meeting. Other area men who are members include Andrew J. Smith, Samuel O. Davis, Raymond Reynolds, Claude O. Twigg and Charles Lippold, all of Cumberland, William E. Shroyer, Mt. Savage, and Ralph Casteel, Keyser.

City police said yesterday they were told Powell C. Robinson, 19, 203 Race street, who was injured when the motorcycle he was operating collided with a car driven by Charles L. Barnes, 512 Fort Hill avenue, at the entrance of Constitution Park August 11, is getting along fine in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of a severely crushed right leg.

Police said the investigation of the accident is being continued and added that Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney and Detective Edwin R. Lilya will question Robinson for further details concerning the circumstances of the crash.

Akron Man Asks Police To Locate Jake Twigg

Police yesterday were asked by M. C. Brown, 659 South Main street, Akron, Ohio, for information concerning the whereabouts of Jake Twigg, a former resident of this city.

Brown told Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman that Twigg worked in a steel mill in Marietta, Ohio, about 1907, and was married in this city a short time after he left Ohio. He said Twigg was about five feet, nine inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and has brown eyes and sandy hair.

Twelve Tons Collected

Twelve more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday, the third day of the monthly campaign, boosting the total for the first three days to 25 tons. Today the collection will cover all sections between Baltimore street and avenue and Oldtown road.

Police Describe Suicide Attempts In City Jail Cell

Local Woman Tries To Strangle Self Four Times, Officers Say

A Thomas street woman who police said tried four times to strangle herself in her cell in the city jail yesterday afternoon because she "was tired of living and was going to commit suicide" was released early last night in the custody of her father, police reported.

Desk Sgt. John E. Sherry said the woman was booked as Naomi Myers, 23 Thomas street, when she was arrested yesterday morning at 12:25 o'clock after police were notified of a disturbance at her home.

Police said she was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to serve 10 days in the city jail in default of a $10 fine.

Sgt. Sherry said the first suicide attempt was thwarted by Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney and Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse, who found the woman unconscious in her cell after another occupant of the cell raised an alarm.

Describes First Try

Police said the woman had torn off a piece of the mattress cover, wrapped and knotted it around her neck and pulled the knot tight. Sgt. Sherry said he was told the officers had to use artificial respiration on the woman who, they reported, was blue in the face from the self applied garroting.

Two shoe strings were used, police said, in the second attempt which was discovered by Officer Arthur Kennell about 5:05 p. m.

Fifteen minutes later, Sgt. Sherry said, the woman tried to strangle herself by tightening a strip she tore from her skirt. Police said her condition was serious and that her face had turned blue when Officer Kennell again discovered the attempt.

The last attempt was at 5:30 p. m. and was similar to the third except that her condition when found was worst of all, police reported, adding that the woman was revived only after some minutes of artificial respiration.

Police said they tried to talk the prisoner out of the suicide notion but said she answered she was tired of living and was going to commit suicide.

Is Taken To Home

Police said the woman's father was notified after the fourth attempt and agreed to pay the $10 fine and assume custody of his daughter.

Sgt. Sherry said the woman is better known as "Tiny" and said she is best recalled in police circles as the fleet footed woman who walked out of police court several months ago after she declined to pay a fine.

Officers said the woman bit Officer Downey on the wrist yesterday morning while he and Officers John G. Powers and Walter L. Hull were taking her to jail.

Red Cross Seeks Nurses To Fight Poliomyelitis

Help Is Needed In Midwestern And Southeastern Districts

The local Red Cross office has been asked to recruit nurses for service in combatting poliomyelitis in Southeastern and Midwestern areas, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter, said yesterday.

Although the spread of infantile paralysis has not reached epidemic proportions there is still a critical need for nurses in the stricken areas, notably Minneapolis and Denver.

Through a plan developed in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Red Cross has expanded its recruitment program and will recruit nurses for an area when the usual community channels are insufficient, even though the epidemic stage has not been reached. It is, however, not a permanent placement bureau.

Nurses will merely be recruited by the Red Cross but will be employed directly by the hospital or agency to which they are assigned. They will be paid private duty rates prevalent in the community in which they are working plus an additional fee for working in isolation, if that is customary. Travelling expenses and maintenance will be provided for nurses recruited from outside the afflicted area. They will be asked to stay at least 30 days and probably not more than 90. In no case will they be under obligation to remain longer than the emergency period.

Registered nurses who are interested in volunteering may apply at Red Cross office. Mrs. Howard Tolson, a teacher at Memorial Hospital, is the nursing recruitment chairman for this district.

Optimist Club To Name New Officers Today

Election of officers for the initial year of the Cumberland Optimist Club will be held at a meeting of the club today at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA, according to Maj. Roy F. Seymour, extension counselor.

The new officers will be formally installed at a "Charter Night" dinner which the club will hold Friday, September 27, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The installing officer will be John T. McRae, Portsmouth, Va., district governor. Representatives of the other 14 clubs of the district and their wives are expected to be present.

Hagerstown, which is sponsoring the local club, will send a large delegation and will present the Optimist bell and gavel to the new organization.

Presidents of other Cumberland service clubs and their wives will be honor guests at the dinner.
